Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier so Appeared When Greeting Friends--The Reception To-day.

This morning from ten to eleven o'clock Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier held a public reception at the resi-dence of Ald. Geo. Stephens, William Lady Laurier was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Geo. Stephens and Mrs. W. A. Thrasher, while Sir Wilfrid was body-guarded by Hon. David Mills, Judge Bell, Rev. Dr. Battisby and W. A. Thrasher. Ald. Stephens introducd the visitors.

The stream of callers was a steady one and embraced all classes and po-

Mr. Fielding Went off on the Wrong Railroad.

The Meeting at Merlin a Total Failure and That at Tilbury Somewhat of a Fizzle.

The mysterious disappearance of Hon. Mr. Fielding, finance minister, While the Liberal reception committee were impatiently cooling their heels on the Grand Trunk platform, waiting to take the bon. gentleman to Merkin, he was speeding over the C. P. R. to Tilbury. It came about in this way. Two eminent politicians met at the depot in Toronto, One was Wm. McGregor, the late member for Noreth Essex and the other was

So Bill and Mac took the same train without a second thought as to who it would inconvenience. They reached Tilbury early in the afternoon, and spent the day in cheking bands Tilbury early in the aftermoon, and spent the day in shaking hands around. In the meantime the electors who had gathered for the mass meeting at Marlin waited in vain for the man who never came, and went home in disgret. home in disgust

If the meeting at Merlin was a to-tal failure, to be exactly accurate that at Tilbury, in the evening was a gigantic fizzle when compared with what was expected. It is well known that Tilbury is a Liberal stronghold, But it seems there is great dissatisfac-tion out there, and as one of the pro-minent Liberal officials told The Planet, it was hoped that Mr. Field-ing would enthuse the erring ones back into line. Here is the special re-port we have received of the enthus-ing process: If the meeting at Merlin was a to-litical persuasions. There were many ladies among the number and all received equally cordial greeting. The Premier and Lady Laurier are admirably adapted to the graces and genial hospitalities of the drawing room, and the reception was a very successful one. The distinguished visitors left on the noon train west.

In a brief interview with The Planet, the Premier expressed himself as

In a brief interview, with The Planet the Premier expressed himself as delighted with the cordial and enthusiastic reception accorded him in this district.

"You have a grand country here," he said, "and a splendid community. The visit of Lady Laurier and myself has been very pleasurable to us both in every way. This is Lady Laurier's first visit to Chatham, but I trust it will not be her last."

Speaking of the campaign Sir Wilfrid said that the prospects were most encouraging. "Our greeting in Ontario has been most generous," he added, "and we have much reason to be grateful to the good people of your province. At the ronclusion of our Ontario trip we will return to Quebec to conclude the campaign there, after which we will return to Ottawa to await the poll returns."

Among the many who were callers on the Premier were J. B. Rankin, Q. C., M. Wilson, Q. C., Chief of Police Young, Fred Stone, G. P. Scholfield, Alex. McDougall, Capt. Patteson, Edwin Bell, J. G. Kerr, Jas. Weir, W. G. Merritt, Geo. Langford, Fred Thompson, F. Marx, Jas. Holmes, R. G. Flem-

that Mr. Fielding actually drove over there from Tilbury in the afternoon and found that not more than 25 peo-ple could be mustered. He declined to speak to such an audience, and return-ed to Tilbury as soon as possible. It was thereupon decided to let it be un-derstood that the Merlin meeting failed owing to the finance minister's absence.

DIED SUDDENLY. Mrs. Rodney Horn, of the 6th Con., Raleigh, died very suddenly yester-day afternoon. She was alone in the house with her three-year-old boy. When Mr. Horn went out to work at ever, but when he returned she was lying across the bed, dead, while the child was asleep in another room. Plain Figure Prices

There is no good honest business reason why a merchant should not mark his goods in plain figures. It pleases certain people wonderfully to take something off the price, and in order to give this pleasure and not interfere with their profit some merchants mark their goods in hieroglyphics and adjust the price to suit the customer. If goods are right and prices are right, there's no need to be afraid of daylight information. We believe the only straightforward honest business method is plain figures, one plain price, the same to everybody. You can read your own price on every piece of goods in this store.
