THE SUN. New York, 1882. The Best Assorted Stock of

THE SUN for 1882 will make its fifteenth annual revolution under the present maragement, shining, as always, for all, big and little, mean and gracious, contented and unhappy. Republican and Democratic, depraved and virtuous, intelligent and obtase. The Sun's light is for mankind and womankend of every sort; but its genial warmth is for the good, while it pours het discomfort on the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

The Sun of 1888 was a newspaper of a new kind. It discarded many of the forms, and a multitude of the superfluous words and phrases of ancieut journalism. It undertook to report in a fresh, succinct, unconventional way all the news of the world, emitting no event of human interest, unconventional way all the news of the world, emitting no event of human interest, and commenting upon affairs with the fearlessness of absolute independence, and commenting upon affairs with the fearlessness of The Sun. It effected a permanent change in the style of American newspapers. Every important journal established in this country in the dozen sold out now.

years past has been modelled after The Sun. Every important journal already existing has been moduled and bettered by the force of The Sun's example. The Sun of 1882 will be the same out spoken, truth-telling, and interesting newspaper.

By a liberal use of the means which ar By a liberal use of the means which an abundant prosperity affords, we shall make it cetter than ever before. We shall print all the news, putting it into readable shape, and measuring its importance, not by the traditional yardstick, but by its real-tinterest to the people. Distance from Printing House Square is not the first consideration with The Sun. Whenever anything happens worth reporting we get the particulars, whether it happens in Brooklyn or in Bokhara.

IME SUN. Wenever anything happens with the porting we get the particulars, whether it happens in Brooklyn or in Bokhara.

In politics we have decided opinions; and are accustomed to express them in language that can be understood. We say what we think about men and events. That habit is the only secret of The Sun's politial course.

The Weekly Sun gathers into eight pages the best matter of the seven daily issues. An Agricultural Department of unequalled merit; full market reports, and a liberal proportion of literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence complete The Weekly Sun, and make it the best newspaper for the farmer's household that was ever printed.

Who does not know and read and like The Sunday Sun, each number of which is a Golconda of interesting literature, with the best poetry of the day, prose every line worth reading, news, humormatter enough to fill a good-sized book, and infinitely more varied and entertaining than any book, big or little?

If our idea of what a newspaper should be pleases you, send for The Sun.

Our terms are as follows:

For the daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenthy eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, 55 cents a month, or $6.50 and eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents per month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of The Sun is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, pastage paid.

And ate it with a zest.
'A harder task it is," he said, "Than following up these steers, Or mending fences, far, for me To feel my seventy years.

You ask me why I feel so young, I'm sure, friends, 1 can't tell. But think it is my good wife's fault Who's kept me up so well; For women such as she are scarce In this poor vale of tears;

She's given me love, and strength, For more than forty years. And then, my boys have all done wel As far as they have gone, And that thing warms an old man's blood

And helps him up and on. My girls have never caused a pang, Or raised up anxious fears; Then wonder not that I feel young And hale at seventy years. Why don't my good boys do my work And let me sit and rest?

Ah, friends, that wouldn't do for me; I like my own way best. They have their duty, I have mine, And till the end appears. mean to smell the spil, my friends." Said the man of seventy years.

The Shropshire Sheep. The development of great industries in iron and coal in the districts of Shropshire, at the beginning of the century, gave rise to a large and increased demand for mutton. To meet this demand the farmers of uantity of IMPORTED BOOTS and that part of the country turned their that part of the country turned their attention to the raising of mutton sheep. The Farmer's Seventy Years

The original sheep was horned, black or brown-faced hardy and free from disease, producing 44 to 56 pounds of mutton to a carcase, and a fleece of two pounds of moderately fine wool. The present Shropshires are without borns, the legs and face dark or spotted with grey, the neck thick, the head well shaped, cars neat, breast broad, back straight, barrel round, and the legs strong. They are easy keepers, hardy, fatten quickly, and at the age of two years give 100 to 120 pounds of excellent flesh. The fleece is longer, heavier, averaging 7 pounds, and more glossy than that of the Southdown. The Shropshire is a valuable sheep for American farmers.—Dr. Byron D. Halsted, in American Agriculturist for November.

Food for Fowls.

it keeps fowis warm and healthy, and as is the case with butchers eggs, but the latter will not be of the finest flavor. The best egg-producing food is claimed by some to be five parts of bran with one of mid-lings, which in the morning should be wet with scalding water, or far better, with skim-milk, say about four quarts of the mixture, taking pains to have it rather dry, though all damp. If the fowls don't incline to eat at first, sprinkle a little Indian meal over the top. Be careful not to mix more than they will concume during the day, and at night give them their shelled corn or wheat soreenings well scattlered, so that all will get some. Perhane the milk all will get some. Perhaps the milk, scraps of meat, bread, etc., often fed to a pig, would be more profitable employed in egg production.
