Narrow Escape from Drowning.

Messrs. Jas. Young and Frank Elsworth went out on the Cape Spear grounds this morning fishing when they were overtaken by a gale of S.W. wind with a high sea. They sailed to a point of Cuckholds Cove when they intended to lower the sails and row up shore in the smooth water. Before they could do so a squall hit the boat and she filled and sank with the fish on board and both were left struggling in the water. Young grasped an oar which floated up and then grasped Elsworth by the coat and fortunately their frail support kept their heads above water. A man named Fox saw the accident from his boat, pulled to the scene just as both men who were greatly exhausted and on the point of sinking. They were rescued and brought to Quidi Vidi where they were well treated by the people. In reaching a gaff for him Elsworth was badly cut over the eye by Fox. Elsstill very ill. The loss of boat, fish and gear is a serious one for the men who barely escaped with their

THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

Oh, hasten, my daughter, and bring me my swatter, the flies they are prancing all over my head! They're buzzzing and soaring and drilling and boring, and O how I wish that all insects were dead! AFTER
Before the hot weather had run me together and melted innards and brought forth the flies, I did some tall talking; I said it was shocking to murder such insects, dad blither their eyes! I said it was silly to hit with a billy a poor little fly that should camp on your brow; but such talk was twaddlin' and foolish and maudlin; the flies didn't bite then as they're biting now! So bring me my swatter, my beautiful daughter, Matilda Louisa Jane Gwendolin Rose; be speedy, dog-gone it—don't wait for a bonnet—a fly at this minute is chewing my nose! It's easy, this dealing in morals when feeling no stings from the insects, no itching or pain; but when they get busy I'll sure knock 'em dizzy, Matilda Gwenrosalin Copyricht. 1911, by

THE ILLUMINATIONS.

St. John's has always been noted for the neatness with which it cele-brates events of National and Empirewide importance, and on the occasion of the celebration of the Coronation of our beloved Sovereigns King George and Queen Mary it lived up to its best traditions. All Thursday the city, harbour front and shipping at the wharves or in the stream were em-blazoned with bunting, the churches, halls, public buildings, stores and private residences were beautifully decorated and draped and the scene was one which must engrave itself on the memory of the thousands who beheld it. At night the city was aglow with light, and to attempt a description in detail would more than over tax the columns of the People's Pa-per. A feature which greatly impresed the lieges was the number of decorated and illuminated autos and taxicabs, while lines of brilliant electric bulbs bordered the tops of the street cars which were thronged till a late hour with loyal and patriotic sight seeres. The whole populace wore the national colours red, white and blue and a most praiseworthy fact was to be noted in the almost complete absence of drunkenness or disorder of any kind. Nor was there an accident of a serious kind to be chronicled despite the big displays of fireworks and the constant detonations of explosives in the shape o giant crackers, torpedoes, skyrockets etc., with which the event was in part celebrated. As regards the illumina-tions the buildings in which most attention was turned were the Colonial Campbell (C.C.C.) Time, Building and the railway station of the Reid Nfld. Co.. The whole front of the former was outlined in brilliant electrical points of fire, the windows, pillars and capitals showing prominently forth. The Union Jack in its conventional colours blazed forth over the upper portion of the facade, while below shone in motto, "one flag, one Empire, one Throne," in a border of 1/2 Mile Race—1st, Spry (C.J.B.); red. On the pillars were blazoned 2nd, Cullen (C.C.C.) Time, 2 mins. besides a beautiful crown in letters of brilliant red, Great Britain, Canada, India, The Indies, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and Newfoundland, on either side the crown blazed the initials "G. and M.," while at the base was brilliantly displayed "God Save the King." In Bannerman Park near a fine display of fireworks which Throwing Cricket Ball—1st, Hayter Lasted from 8 till 11 p.m. was under C.L.B.); 2nd Parsons (N.H.). Distasted from 8 till 11 p.m. was under the supervision of Mr. P. Hanley assisted by men from H. M. S. Brilliant. C. There were 5,200 bulbs alight on the structure. The Reid Nfld. Co.'s building was a beautiful sight indeed. Never before was anything so elaborate attempted by the Company. The whole outline of the building was traced in sparkling electric bulbs, the windows, doorways, clock, dome and the various architectural features being done in the same, while the rails surmounting the roof were of red in-candescent lights, and the flag pole caped all traced out in electricity with a large arc light on top. A beautiful crown was shown above the main entrance with the initials G. and M. on either side and the legend

For twenty minutes the device sprinkled away, while watchmen raced about looking for stop-cocks. The sprinkler was gauged to go into action at 143 degrees or higher, while the temperature on the street level reached a maximum of only 101 degrees.
