Investigate Them.

The charge in the Herald recently against Hon. M. P. Gibbs and an unnamed lawyer, in which accusation is made that in both cases attempts have been made on behalf of young men to evade the provisions of the Military Service Act, should not be passed over lightly. In war time it is a serious, may a treasonable offence, to endeavour to impair or impede the workings of any act dealing with military service, and it is plainly the duty of the authorities to investigate the conduct which is ascribed by the Herald to members of the legal profession. It is not at all a matter to be turned into a newspaper controversy. Either the alleged acts were committed or they were not. To ascertain as to the duty of the Military Tribunal, and if it is found that there has been violation, the penalties of the Act should be imposed upon the offenders thereof. There has been too much maliciousness displayed by certain newspapers in this city in dubbing political opponents pro-Germans. If there are any Hun sympathisers in our midst, any person who knows them is guilty of concealment of treason in failing to give their names to the police. Flippant use of the offensive epithet is not in good taste, either journalistically or conversationally. Evidence should be produced in proof, and the best evidence in this case would be the submission of a list of the names of all suspects to the officers of the law. Veiled insinuations are not in themselves, sufficient to warrant an enquiry and it is distinctly cowardly to hide behind privileges. We assert that the charges made by the Herald, repeatedly, the past few days, should be thoroughly and impartially investigated, and if they are proven just, punishment should be meted to the offenders. The gravity of the time demand this.

Military Ward.

A new ward, containing thirty beds, known as the "Military Ward," has been instituted at the General Hospital. In this ward returned soldiers and those on the strength of the regiment will be treated. The beds are all filled at present, the patients being mostly returned wounded soldiers who are undergoing various treatments, principally surgical operations for the removal of shrapnel and shell splinters and bits of bone. These subjects were but partly treated on the other side owing to conditions, and are now in the Military Ward for final examination. Some of the men being cared for at present were in the 1st July, 1918 drive. As these men, and the Ward is more or less full all the time, can neither walk nor motor, it is suggested that owners of motor cars place them at the disposal of the men, at least once a week, in order that those who have fought our bat-ties may enjoy an outing and a change of air. The hospital authorities will appreciate any kindness of this nature that may be shown to the soldiers, and none the less will the veterans themselves appreciate aid which has been performed and borne of a desire to make life pleasant for our boys in khaki. Motor owners desirous of giving the men a weekly run are requested to communicate with Dr. Keegan, Hospital Superintendent.

Notes and Comments

Only two more days in which to buy Victory Bonds. Make the purchases a record.

What's in a name? A rose by any other name may smell as sweet, but our American cousins are not enamored over being styled Usians. What's the use anyway?

The Germans will have an interesting and exciting time hunting through the English dictionaries to find out just what Mr. Lloyd George meant when he said "We want no huggemugger peace."

"General Von Bernhardi," says the Kansas City Star, "whose book on Germany and the next War first gave away Germany's plans for world domination, has just been picked by the British. That wasn't planned in the book."

"In our Civil War," comments the Los Angeles Times, "there was one marked instance of a total disaster in the methods of prisoners of war in the treatment of prisoners. At Andersonville prison Federal captives were starved, maltreated and murdered. The man directly responsible for this was a Captain Wirz, a German born and bred. After peace was declared he was tried and hanged."

Nothing that was ever invented can get out of date so quickly as a woman's hat.

"This weather surely worries one, it follows no set law." And though we know the day is done, The night may be quite raw.

Flower Day

We would remind all who would help the French Red Cross at this time of great need, to send in all the flowers they can give to-morrow to Mrs. Charles Harvey, Musgrave Terrace, Gower Street. Quantities will be needed for Flower Day, on Saturday, so you cannot send too many.

Libel Actions Against Advocate

Yesterday afternoon writs against the Advocate for alleged defamation which appeared in its editorial columns on Saturday last were taken out of the Supreme Court. The words complained of are those accusing the controllers of the Star, or some of them, of being pro-Germans. The damages asked are as follows: Daily Star Publishing Co., Ltd., $10,000; Hon. R. A. Squires, Solicitor, $10,000; H. M. Modell, Editor, $5,000; D. R. Thistle, Business Manager, $5,000. The Solicitors acting on behalf of the plaintiffs are Messrs. Howley and Fox.

Newfoundland Quarterly.

We thank the publisher of the Newfoundland Quarterly for a copy of the summer Number, which is perhaps the most interesting of all the issues of this periodical. The letter press and illustrations maintain, if they do not exceed, the standard set by the proprietor. The articles are well written, the reproduced photographs clear and distinct, and altogether the publication will be a valuable acquisition to the literary productions of Newfoundland. The present issue is a picture gallery in itself, and we bespeak for it the usual large sale.

Personal.

Dr. N. S. Fraser and family left yesterday to spend a few weeks at Glenwood.

Rev. P. W. Browne who was visiting the city has returned to Maryknoll, N.Y.

Hon. R. A. Squires, K.C., leaves for Charlottetown, P. E. I., by to-day's express to attend the session of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America, which opens on Tuesday next.

Drowning Fatality.

The Deputy Minister of Justice received the following message this morning from Lamaline: "Four men are supposed to be drowned from here on way from St. Pierre in motor skiff on Tuesday; parts of skiff picked up on shore. Names of men are: Michael Coady, single; Alex. King, single; Richard Bonnell and Young son. Bonnell has a large family. Fishermen searched for bodies yesterday without success. C. C. PITT-MAN."

Passing of Rev. Canon Colley.

We regret to chronicle the passing of the Rev. Canon Francis Worthington Colley, whose death occurred at 7 o'clock this morning at the Parsonsage, Kelligrews. Deceased suffered for the past two years from a serious internal complaint and with the object of recovering his health, took a trip to New York last year where he consulted specialists and underwent special treatment. Shortly after returning home he entered the General Hospital, this city, where everything possible was done for his comfort but it was plainly evident that recovery was impossible. The late Canon Colley was in his 58th year and was born in the Church of England Rectory at St. John's. Following a brilliant career in his native country he entered St. Augustine's College, Canterbury in 1879 to study for the ministry. Four years later he returned to Newfoundland and was made a Deacon, and went to Trinity to replace the Rev. Mr. Foster who with his young bride lost his life on the ill-fated steamer Lion. From Trinity he was appointed to the mission of Salmon Cove and in 1885 he was ordained Priest, and in the same year volunteered for mission work on the Labrador where he laboured incessantly for two years. His next appointment was as Curate to the Rev. J. J. Curling, of Bay of Islands, till 1889 and on the retirement from the diocese of Rev. Mr. Curling he was appointed Incumbent of the Mission. In 1891 he accepted the incumbency of the large mission of Carbonear where he labored for about 21 years. In 1912 he went to England where he remained one year on deputation work for the S. P. G., and on returning to Newfoundland was appointed to the Mission of Foxtrap.

The late Canon W. F. Colley was a son of the late venerable Canon E. Colley, of Topsail, and was created a Canon of the Church of England Cathedral on July 9th, 1911, and given the Stall of St. Patrick, in succession to the late Canon Dunsfield. The funeral takes place at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon at Topsail. To the bereaved relatives and friends the Telegram offers sincere sympathy.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, July 25, '18. Do not forget that we have now replenished our stock out Sunset Soap Dye to the full, and that we have all the popular colors, including greens, blues, reds, yellow and black. Sunset Soap Dyes have stepped promptly into popularity and are likely to remain popular, as they have certain distinct advantages over ordinary package dyes—they may be used, for instance, to dye all kinds of fabrics, they are much cleaner in use, and a preliminary washing of the goods is necessary, as Sunset Soap Dyes wash as well as dye at the same time. Price 15c. a pkg.

Motor Accident.

To-day, at 1 o'clock, Dr. Cowperthwaite while turning up to Cavendish Square from Forest Road in his motor car, was injured as a result of the car of Miss Reid striking his. Fortunately he was not injured, no bones being broken, and beyond a bad shaking up he was soon as well as ever.

Narrow Escape.

Yesterday afternoon while on a ship at Harvey's wharf, a young man named Kean, son of Sgt. Kean, of the East End Fire Hall, fell into the hold, a depth of 16 feet. Fortunately he was not injured, no bones being broken, and beyond a bad shaking up he was soon as well as ever.

Salt is too scarce!

London.—A British air officer writing from the western front says that the Germans have this spring brought camouflage to a state of artistic perfection that is almost incredible. "The most expert and highly experienced airmen are often deceived except when flying low," he writes. "As a first step, the German military authorities sought suggestions from the most distinguished German artists in color. As a next step every available man was turned on to the business of carrying out the artists' ideas. "Miles of canvas painted to look like roads were constructed, under which regiments could march without being seen. Paper aeroplanes were improvised, and aerodromes, woods, factories and villages of a purely fictitious character were set up merely to distract observers and to cover the movements of troops and guns. Nothing on so vast a scale has ever been attempted before."

Corn-colored foulard trimmed with cream yellow lace makes a gown for any occasion.
Darnstitch embroidery makes a very simple muslin frock into something of real elegance.

Lack of Housing Accommodation.

(Vancouver Daily News.)
From every industrial centre in Canada there are coming complaints as to lack of housing accommodation. The scarcity of labor, the cost of material and the uncertainty as to the future, seem to have largely driven private capital out of the business of house building.

Will the government have to add this to the many lines of activity it is being gradually driven to undertake? a limited dividend.

The indications point that way. And for that matter, why not?

In past years there have been companies which built large numbers of houses and sold them on the installment plan. Is there any reason in the nature of things why a municipality cannot do likewise?

Ontario has appointed a Provincial Housing Commission to study the problem, and there are hints that its report will recommend a wide application of the system of permitting municipalities to guarantee the bonds of companies which will agree to construct modern houses on the basis of a limited dividend.

The Royal Summer day tells of the strings of the one of the most offered.
