

MIGHTY LITTLE GOOD

Accomplished by the Mission to Washington.

No Mention of Reciprocity in Trade.

Arrangements to Regulate Wrecking and the Settling of Boundary Lines.

OTTAWA, March 7.—The papers relative to the reciprocity mission to Washington were laid on the table of the House yesterday. Of the four matters about which something was really done, reciprocity, wrecking, the Alaska boundary, the Bay of Fundy and the protection of fish life by close seasons and other means, none are of prime importance save the reciprocity in wrecking. The Canadian proposal to secure the admission of Canadian fish into the United States in return for such privileges free as are now granted to a license fee to American fishermen under the modus vivendi does not appear to have been entertained by Mr. Blaine. If the question of reciprocity is treated in an informal conversation, and must have been nipped in the bud by Mr. Blaine. The following purports to be the substance of the propositions made by the Canadian delegation.

THE ALASKA BOUNDARY.
It is proposed that a reference to some impartial authority be made by Great Britain and the United States for the purpose of ascertaining and deciding finally the true boundary line between the two countries. Also that a commission of four experts be appointed to report to the Governments of Great Britain and the United States as to the best mode of delimiting the boundary as established by the award to be made under the foregoing article.

PROTECTION OF FISH.
It is proposed that a commission of two experts be appointed, one by the Government of Great Britain and the other by the Government of the United States, to consider and report as to the restrictions and regulations which should be adopted on the following subjects:

1. The prevention of poaching in the territorial waters of the United States and Canada respectively, and also in waters outside the territorial limits of either country.
2. The prevention of other destructive modes of fishing in inland waters contiguous to the United States and Canada.
3. The prevention of the polluting and obstructing of such contiguous waters to the detriment of the fisheries and navigation.
4. The close seasons which should be enforced on the waters of the United States by the inhabitants of both countries, and
5. On the subject of restocking and replenishing such waters with fish and the means by which fish life might be there preserved and increased.

RECIPROCITY IN WRECKING.
It is proposed that United States vessels and wrecking appliances may render aid and assistance to American and other vessels and property wrecked, disabled or distressed in the waters of Canada contiguous to the United States and that Canadian vessels and wrecking appliances may render aid and assistance to Canadian and other vessels and property wrecked, disabled or distressed in the waters of the United States contiguous to the Dominion of Canada; also that aid and assistance shall include all necessary towing and that nothing in the coasting or customs laws of either country shall apply to such aid and assistance.

THE ATLANTIC FISHERIES.
It is proposed that all duties shall be removed from fish of all kinds (except fish preserved in oil), and from fish oil, whale oil, seal oil, and other products of fish being the produce of fisheries carried on by fishermen of the United States and Canada, as well as from the catches, barrels, cans and other usual and necessary coverings containing all or any of the products above named, and that while the aforesaid articles are allowed to be brought into the United States without duty by British subjects, the privilege of entering the ports, bays and harbors of the coast of Canada shall be accorded to United States fishing vessels by small annual licenses free of charge for the following:

1. The purchase of provisions, bait, etc., seines, lines and all other supplies and outfits.
2. Transshipment of catch for transport by any means of conveyance.
3. The like privilege to be given to fishing vessels of Canada on the Atlantic coast of the United States while the aforesaid articles are allowed to be brought into Canada without duty by American citizens.

RECIPROCITY IN WRECKING.
The reply of the United States Secretary of State to the foregoing propositions was received a few days later.

ALASKA BOUNDARY.
It is agreed that a joint survey be made of the territory adjacent to the boundary line of the United States of America and the Dominion of Canada between the territory of Alaska and the Province of British Columbia and the Northwest Territory of Canada from the latitude of 54.40 north to the point where said boundary line encounters the 141st degree of west longitude, with a view to the ascertainment of the facts and data necessary to the permanent delimitation of said boundary line in accordance with the spirit and intent of existing treaties.

Commissioners to be appointed by the Governments shall meet within two months after appropriations shall have been made and shall proceed as soon as practicable thereafter to the active discharge of their joint duties. The commissioners shall complete the survey and submit a final report thereof within two years from the date of their first meeting.

The commissioners shall so far as they may be able to agree, make a joint report to each of the two Governments, and they shall also report either jointly or severally to each Government on any points on which they may be unable to agree.

The two Governments agree that as soon as practicable after the report of the commissioners shall have been received they will proceed to consider and permanently establish the boundary line in question.

FISH PRESERVATION.
It is proposed that a commission of two experts shall be appointed, one by the Government of the United States and one by the Government of Great Britain, to consider and report as to the restrictions and regulations, which should be adopted on the following subjects:

1. The prevention of destructive methods of fishing in the territorial contiguous waters of the United States and Canada respectively, and also in the waters outside the territorial limits of either country.
2. The prevention of other destructive

AMONG THE PATRONS.

The Number of Grand Jurors Reduced from 24 to 13.

But No Reduction in Letter Postage Will Be Made.

(Edited by a Patron.)
The Dominion Government announced on Wednesday that the letter postage would not during this season of Parliament be reduced from 3 to 2 cents per ounce.

On Wednesday the Provincial Legislature passed Mr. Hardy's bill reducing the number of grand jurors from 24 to 13. The Patrons lead and politicians follow; no doubt about this if farmers can be induced always to vote and act unitedly in matters affecting their interests.

Every association should have a seal. Important correspondence is constantly passing between Patrons, and meddling enemies have only to represent themselves to be Patron correspondents to obtain almost any information they want. There is, as yet, too much business transacted loosely, and too few letters written with the stamp of officialism upon them.

The finest set of circulars we have yet seen came to us this week from County Secretary Thomas S. Henderson, Rockton, of Wentworth county. The first is a note circular giving a list of the 42 associations in the county, with the names and addresses of their secretaries. The second is a letter circular (twice the size of note) and contains (1) a list of the county officers and their addresses; (2) a list of the firms with whom contracts for trading have been made by the County Association and by the Grand Association; and (3) a synopsis of the work transacted at the Grand Association meeting in Toronto. The county officers are: A. Ironside, Rockton, president; D. Dwyer, West Flamboro, vice; T. S. Henderson, Rockton, secretary; George I. Hunt, Copetown, treasurer; Geo. Shaver, Westover, sentinel; Wm. Menzies, Kirkwall, and Morgan Shaver, Westover, auditors; and John Boyle, Lyndon, E. Vansickle, Lyndon, and J. E. Calder, Carleton Place, executive committee. The cost of these circulars is $1.00 per set, and the County Association an hundred fold in the increased facilities given to the associations. The need of the organization is light, and printers' ink will supply that need every time the remedy is applied.

OXFORD.
At the annual meeting of the Western Congregational Church in Toronto, the pastor, Rev. Theo. J. Parr, presided, and reports from the various departments of the church's work were presented. It was shown that during the year the membership roll had been extended by the addition of 90 members, while the congregation had largely increased in numbers. "German Syrup"

A Cough and Croup Medicine.

For children a medicine should be absolutely reliable. A mother must be able to pin her faith to it as to her Bible. It must contain nothing violent, uncertain, or dangerous. It must be standard in material and manufacture. It must be plain and simple to administer; easy and pleasant to take. The child must like it. It must be prompt in action, giving immediate relief, as children's troubles come quick, grow fast, and end fatally or otherwise in a very short time. It must not only relieve quick but bring them around quick, as children chafe and fret and spoil their constitutions under long confinement. It must do its work in moderate doses. A large quantity of medicine in a child is not desirable. It must not interfere with the child's spirits, appetite or general health. These things suit old as well as young folks, and make Boschee's German Syrup the favorite family medicine.
