As the annual output of separated and skimmed milk in Sweden is estimated at over 158,000,000 gallons, the supply of the powder from that country alone, if it proves a commercial success, will be very large. Although separated milk is almost devoid of fat, its ontary value is considerable in the form of powder, a large quantity of it can be transported in a small mpass. It is stated that the powder will keep good for an indefinitely long period.-London Standard.
