Children's and Misses' Tub Dresses

Such pretty styles, and how reasonable the prices. If you went to Wash Goods Counter you would pay almost as much for the materials. Then your trouble or cost of making, selecting your styles and patterns, waiting for your sewing-girl or dressmaker, and perhaps, out of patience, you open up the sewing machine and tackle it single-handed, and declare, after you have finished, that not for twice the price would you attempt it again. This is the experience of the majority who are unable to get in early and have their children's dresses made up during January and February, as it is next to impossible at this time in the season, unless your engagements are made months ahead.
