

Best Four Out of Seven Between Tecs and Hams To Decide Mint Pennant

RESIDENT HALLIGAN of the Mint league, in conference with President Heard here yesterday afternoon, and with telephonic confirmation from President Billy Carroll of the Hamilton club, arranged for the little world series. The first three games will be played here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and then the combatants will be transferred to Hamilton for the balance of the week. The series is for the best game out of seven games, and if a seventh game is necessary the venue for it will be decided by the toss of a coin.

As an individual player last year, Baker was named the club's fan saw the transformation Baker was able to work on a ball club that was discouraged and was fast losing fight and all semblance of hope. As a manager, he has had more opportunity to transmit his own indomitable spirit to his team, and, in addition, has demanded the respect that all successful managers must get, and with it a quality of loyalty which few managers

The Bakermens led the Hams in club hitting, and practically every member of the club right now is hitting at top form.

There is little to choose between the teams in this respect. Hamilton probably has a slight edge on the infield for spectacular play.

But if consistency to a last-ditch struggle will be the spirit which animates the London club which should swing the balance in favor of the locals.

At dinner the other night at which Manager Baker was host to his team, this spirit was well caught, and it is said this was the ball field. Not a man but paid sincere tribute to the qualities of Baker's leadership, or faith in Baker's leadership in raising the club would defeat the Hamilton clan.

Players scored more like the "never-say-die" spirit of a group of collegians than they did those of a group of professional baseballmen, many of whom had gone through the hardening process of disappointments and injustices in the disarrangement of the teaming, and are firmly convinced that there is no Santa Claus as baseball. The ball team has shown its mettle from the start of the season, when it ran into a series of setbacks, and then determined to run into a record. From time to time they've fought themselves out of immense dumps, and in the process of hustie and never give up, which has placed them where they are. Wetzel has an efficient, smart ball club, but it is doubtful if the Clippers can muster the cohesive force of Baker's younger club nor the spirit inspired by liking, loyalty and respect which the "Big Apple" leadership is backed up.		<table border="1"> <tr> <td>Cincinnati</td> <td>64</td> <td>63</td> </tr> <tr> <td>Boston</td> <td>64</td> <td>73</td> </tr> <tr> <td>St. Louis</td> <td>64</td> <td>76</td> </tr> <tr> <td>Boston</td> <td>61</td> <td>75</td> </tr> <tr> <td>Philadelphia</td> <td>61</td> <td>75</td> </tr> </table>	Cincinnati	64	63	Boston	64	73	St. Louis	64	76	Boston	61	75	Philadelphia	61	75

It was expected that the case of Ivan Miller, the former Hamilton pro pitcher, would also attract some of the attention of the A. A. U. of C. authorities at their annual meeting, set for Thursday, but the latest information from amateur headquarters is that the Hamilton lad will not be expunged entirely from the Ontario branch of the union. The Ontario Baseball Amateur Association sent on recommendation to the A. A. U. of C., Ontario branch, that Miller be reinstated, but it was not back. It is indicated that the case will not even be touched on when the dominion body sits. Probably when the association has played out of baseball entirely this year, the amateur officials will feel that it is better to let Miller go than to gather in 1926. It was hoped that he would be given a clean bill of health, but the Ontario branch could pitch for a proposed Hamilton inter-city league club next season, but this application is still a wish.

Leslie Nunamaker, manager of the Saginaw Area, states that the clubs on the Michigan side of the M-O loop are figuring on operating next year as a class C league. If the Canadian clubs are not interested, the old Michigan league may be revived. "Nunny" believes that a class C circuit would pay. He points out that the effort to change the rules to the reduction of the salary limit and a bank-up race would make money for all concerned.

Kitchener Colts and London Temsuehms, who were scheduled at Temsuehms Park this afternoon, transferred to yesterday's game of the London Temsuehms and the Colts again added to their record for defeats by losing to another 7-6. The Colts' record is now 1-10. The fact that they are compiling as a team that has lost more games by a team that runs more than they do is a team that has operated in the Mint. The same yesterday went eleven innings. More fans were watching the game than has ever been the case here where the two teams have had a protracted stay, and the winning team has won the game fairly bristling with long distance hitting. Bill Coogans won his 26th victory of the season by getting out of the yard of tying Carleton's record by driving a home run into the park. Sanderson was out of the yard on a home run, the former coming with nobody on, and Cross chasing Stimpson around with
