W.C.T.U. COLUMN

This department is conducted by the local Union, and is under the charge of an Editor appointed by them. This Editor assumes the responsibility for the statements and articles which appear in this column.

In a recent magazine article, Mrs. Schoff writes of the organization of the National Congress of Mothers, and says:

"The mother of today has a broader outlook on life than the mothers of past centuries. Educational opportunities, interest in public affairs, and study of the cause present-day conditions have made many mothers realize as never before the far-reaching effect that home and mother exert on the life, home and moral standards of the world. Women who appreciate relative values recently began to ask questions whether their own lack of knowledge as mothers was in part responsible for many blighted lives, and for many of the evils in the world today. They saw many of the little children journeying earthward with no welcome from father or mother. They saw little children in reformatories, prisons and jails all through the land, imbibing the lessons in crime which are an inevitable part of such surroundings: orphan asylums full of little children, starving for mother-love, the babies dying for want of it, and they saw childless homes which could be enriched if only a little child could be in each of them; a school system becoming more arbitrary year by year in its requirements; they saw the child's brain crammed with knowledge that it was not ready to assimilate, while the hand was untrained. They saw the children at a tender age going by thousands into trades and workshops, working under conditions prejudicial to life and health. They saw boys and girls graduating from school and college with no preparation for home-making. They saw the flower of the nation's manhood blighted by the social evil; yet the mothers shut their eyes to the dangers that menaced their boys and girls and rarely gave them the protection which knowledge of sex hygiene and God's law of life would afford. They realized the corruption in business and politics, and that the boy who grows up without training in honesty and regard for the rights of others becomes the corrupt business man or corrupt politician. They saw hospitals and prisons full, and began to ask: 'How far are we mothers responsible for this?' 'Are we not the children's keepers?' 'Why should I expect my child to live and be healthy when I know nothing affecting his physical and moral needs?' 'Wherein have we failed where all these things exist?' Mothers of today are awakening to a consciousness of the fact that the education which the world most needs is that which fits them to be mothers in the highest sense of the word. It was this realization which impelled one mother to call together the mothers of America and to organize them for more earnest, scientific study of child development. So was born the National Congress of Mothers. But the benefits, privileges and blessings of such organized effort come nearer home to the mothers of the country wherever the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has found its way, for this world-wide organization, with its 'Do-Everything' policy for the uplifting of humanity, seeing childhood's need of an educated motherhood, introduced among its departments of work that of Mothers' Meetings, which has for its aim the instruction of those who have the care of children, in all that relates to the best interest of the child physically, mentally, and spiritually. It is a department of paramount importance for 'to form well in early life prevents the necessity for reform in later life.' To the thinking woman it seems strange that this 'phase of our questions should ever need discussion. Yet we are confronted with the fact that while thousands

"I ATTRIBUTE MY CURE SOLELY And Entirely To Taking 'Fruit-a-lives'"

HULL, QUE., DEC. 24th, 1909
 "For the past twelve years, I had painful attacks of Dyspepsia. I could not digest my food and everything caused the most agonizing pain in my stomach. I also had a fearful attack of Constipation and at times, I had no movement of the bowels for two weeks. Three doctors attended me for two years and gave me all kinds of medicine but did me no good. My weight came to only 80 pounds and everyone thought I was going to die. Finally, I had the good fortune to try 'Fruit-a-lives' and as soon as I began to take them, I felt better. I persisted in the treatment and to my great joy, I steadily improved. Now I feel very well, weigh 115 pounds, and this is more than I ever weighed even before my illness. I attribute my cure solely and entirely to 'Fruit-a-lives' and can never praise them too much for saving my life. To all who suffer from Dyspepsia and Constipation, I recommend 'Fruit-a-lives' as a miraculous remedy."

 When three men were charged with betting at Cannon's it was stated that they bet on the numbers of motor-cars as the cars passed along the road. The defendants were ordered to pay the costs of the case. "The Fish for the People"
 "God gave the fish for the people," was the defence which the mother of a Welsh girl put forward at the Holywell Sessions, when her daughter, Jane Davies, was charged by the Dee Fishery Board with setting stake nets in the estuary of the Dee near Bagillt. Veteran's Bearded Pension
 An aged, feeble veteran named David Davidson, of Belfast, Ireland, late of the Royal Irish Regiment, was awarded a special campaign pension of 18 cents a day. It is thirty-one years since he left the colors after serving twelve years, during which he saw active service. Whale in the Forth
 While a party of North Berwick fishermen were engaged fishing off the Craig, a whale of the Greenland or finback species between 25 feet and 30 feet long, was seen making its way through the water on the south side of the Craig. It is a long time since a whale has been seen so near the land.

of mothers are organized for better chances and better opportunities for children, yet a larger percentage of them are standing idly by, apparently possessing the icy indifference which characterized the answer of Cain when asked concerning his brother's whereabouts. And the heart of the awakened mother is sickened as she looks about at the wrecks of young life, made so, perhaps, because, without the protection of the mother's wise training, they were led astray through ignorance. Let the mother who shall read these thoughts join the forces of organized motherhood, train her child for the time when he shall go out from home influences, strengthen him against the "undertow" which lays hold of his feet, and save him now from the danger of being swept "away forever" from all hope and safety.

ERNEST GALLANT

Mr. Ernest Gallant, I.R.C. brake man, of Moncton, but formerly of Campbellton, died in the city hospital Monday morning. Mr. Gallant, who was 27 years of age, was taken suddenly ill Saturday morning with acute Bright's disease, and was removed from his hotel to the hospital, where he died. He was to have left for the home of his parents in Campbellton on Saturday afternoon's Ocean Limited, but he became ill about noon and his sickness rapidly became so serious that the ambulance was called and he was taken to the city hospital for treatment. His mother came down from Campbellton and was with him to the end. Although all that medical skill could suggest was done, he passed away early Monday morning. His other relatives were telegraphed for, but had not arrived here at the time of his death.

Mr. Gallant has been in the employ of the I.C.R. for a number of years as a brakeman on the northern division. He made his headquarters in Moncton and consequently he met a great many people and easily gained their friendship by his genial nature. The remains were taken to Campbellton for burial.
