How easy it is to spoil a day,
By the force of a thought we do not check
Little by little we mould the clay,
And little flaws may the vessel wreck,
The careless waste of a white-winged hour, That held the blessing we long had sought The sudden failure of wealth or power, And lo! the day with ill is wrought.

How easy it is to spoil a life-And many are spoiled ere well begun— Its home-light darkened by sin and strife, Or downward course of a cherished one; by the robs the form of its grace; And undermines till breath gives away; By the peeviah temper, the frewning face, The hopes that go, and the cores that stays

A day is too long to be spent in vain, Some good should come as the hours go by Some tangled mase may be made more plain, And life is too short to spoil like this,

If only a projude it may be sweet,

Let us bind together our thread of bliss,

Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the enfeebled system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restor-ing the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood. Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Saranparilla, which I did, and I am now as healthy and strong as ever.— Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn. I have used Aver's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrotula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M.
