Orangeville, Ont., May 20, 1884. Beart Disease, Bronchitts, &c. To the Medical and Surgical Association:

Dr. McDonell,—Allow me to pen a few words to the Association and yourself. I know nothing I may say can in any way measure my debt of g attude for health restored, but may possibly show a little of my appreciation. After years of sichness and its attendant miscries, my husband persuaded me to consult your Association. Not, however, before, we had tried every available method in the way of nedical attendance and advice, both here and elsewhere, only to be assured by all that my case was hopcless.

Four months ago, when you spoke hepefully and encouragingly to me, I listened for politeness, but without a spark of faith. Eminent and clever men had told me so often to take life as qui thy as pesible and be prepared to meet the inevitable, that the voice of one against many was hardly to be noticed. For months I had not laid down properly to rest for fear of suffication. Food of any kind was hateful to me, and my body a package of pain from head to foot. Life held no charms for me, and I was only too willing to try and let it pass away as quictly as I could under such discouraging circumstances. It is needless to name all the allments that possessed me, you know them already so well. Inflammathy rheumatism and chronic bronchitis are now things of the past with me. My heart gives ne less trouble every day, and the internal miseries which all women seem to inherit, and of which I had so large a share, have no

Gentlemen.—It is with feelings of great thankfulness that I write this to show you how sincerely grateful I am to you for what you have done for me in rectoring me to perfect health. When first my poor mother brought me to your office little did she or myself think that under your treatment. I would so soon improve in health, but I did, and under God and your skill I can safely say that now that dreadful disease which threatened to cut me off at an early age is completely removed. For a length of time I was under the care of the best doctors in this city, but they did me no good at all. But even in a few weeks after I commenced your treatment, to my great surprise and delight I began to get better. I am now strong and never enjoyed life or knew what it was to be well before. I hope that all those afflicted as I was, will be wise enough to go under your care.

Yours very respectfully,
