NOTE AND COMMENT.

In a middle western state town the other day a man was found unconscious on the river bank with $17,000 in his pocket. To say the least of it, that chap was very inconsiderate and should be prosecuted as a menace to public honesty in these hard times.

In spite of the financial stringency a slick stranger with a forged letter of introduction was able to fleece several Ontario banks out of thousands of dollars. The business man or the farmer, with nothing but good security to offer, has no such luck.

A Lexington, Kentucky, man bet his physician he would live three months after the medical man had told him the end would come inside of three weeks. He lived long enough to collect the bet and a few days later the doc got it back in medical fees. You can't beat the man with the little, narrow grip under his arm.

We were a little surprised a few days ago to find $50 lying on the road beside the hedge at the corner of one of our prominent farmer's home, and the more so to find that it had lain there several months unmolested, but beginning to look much the worse for the exposure. The money was in the shape of a corn planter that will have to be replaced by a new one before many years unless cared for better than that.—Exchange.

Sixty-eight civic clerks in the employ of the city of Montreal had their salaries for the month of July seized for debt. This is a slight indication of affairs in the large cities which are filled with farmers' sons who were too nice to follow the calling of "poor old dad" because it was not a white shirt stand up collar job, and consequently they are making so little in comparison to their wants that their expenses are leaving their salaries farther and farther behind. The farm is a mighty good place to stay these days even for a young fellow who is a lot cleverer than "poor old dad."

The system of endorsing is all wrong, and should be utterly abolished. It has been the financial ruin of more men, than perhaps, all other causes. "Book-keeping," a journal devoted to merchants, clerks and business men, advises our young men especially to study the matter carefully in its bearings, and adopt some settled policy to govern their conduct so as to be ready to answer the man who asks them to sign his note. What responsibility does one assume when he endorses a note? Simply this: He is held for the payment of the amount in full, principal and interest, if the maker of the note through misfortune, mismanagement or rascality fails to pay it. Notice, the endorser assumes all this responsibility, with no voice in the management of the business and no share in the profits of the transaction, if it proves profitable; but with a certainty of loss if for any of the reasons stated, the principal fails to pay the note.

The Return of the Duchess

The decision of H.R.H. the Duchess of Connaught once more to undertake the trip to Canada to assist her husband in carrying out the duties of Governor-General of the Dominion is a tribute as much to the fascination of Canada as it is to her own indomitable pluck. Her experiences in Canada were marred by recurrent attacks of a most dangerous illness, and the prominent part she took in the social life of the Dominion must often have been at the cost of much fatigue. At home in England she would have all the comforts of a luxurious mansion on an ancestral estate, and all the enjoyment of the society of lifelong friends and relatives. Yet such is her affection for Canada and the Canadian people that not content with insisting that the Duke of Connaught shall serve out his term of office in Canada, she herself, rising from what some feared would have been her death bed, has resolved to return to Canada and resume the position which she previously adorned as chateleine at Rideau Hall. The people of Canada will welcome her with open arms. This token of affection for Canada and its people cannot but result in deepening the regard which Canadians have for the British crown and its representatives. The Duke and Duchess are expected to arrive in Canada on the 24th of October.

Millionaire Solves Puzzle of Pleasing Wife

"If I had only $1 to spend on my wife I would spend it like an artist," says L. C. Dillman, the Seattle millionaire.

"There is no joy in the future, but all of it is to-day. No matter how little a man has, part of it should be spent in making life pleasant for his wife and himself. There is too much of this living in the future."

These are rules Dillman has formulated for husbands as the result of his experience.

Keep all promises made before and at the time of marriage.

Divide the newspaper and everything else.

Keep a joint bank account.

Go to your club no oftener than once a week.

Have no dogs or pets of any kind.

Call her up on the telephone two or three times a day.

When away from home write or telegraph every day.

Take her with you on business and pleasure trips as much as possible.

Be more polite to her than to any woman that you meet.

Remember that she likes flowers, candy and books just as much after marriage as before.

Don't appear before her in your birthday suit.

Make it a business to be comfortable whenever she is happy.

Don't criticize her dress.

Be a gentleman to all women, but a husband to only one.

"This watch will last a lifetime," remarked the jeweller, as he handed the watch to customer. "Nonsense," retorted the other. "Can't I see for myself that its hours are numbered."

Government Crop Report

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—A bulletin issued to-day by the Census and Statistics Office of the Department of Trade and Commerce reports the condition of crops and live stock at the end of August, and gives preliminary estimates of the yield of spring wheat, rye, oats and barley as compiled from the reports of correspondents upon the appearance of these crops.

The weather conditions were favourable for ripening and harvesting the grain crops. In Ontario it was nearly all harvested by the end of the month, while in the Prairie provinces harvesting operations were about two-thirds completed, and it was expected that threshing would be general by September 10. In the Maritime Provinces the harvest is more backward, being only general about the end of the month. The average condition of spring wheat is 88.43 per cent. of the standard of a full crop, which is represented by 100; oats 87.85; barley 87.07; rye 80.49; peas 80.71; beans 78.67; buckwheat 77.81; mixed grains 89.04; flax 85.06; corn 79.78.

The general condition of live stock is very satisfactory, being expressed in percentages of a standard of 100 representing a healthy and thrifty state, as 94.27 for horses, 91.37 for milch cows, for other cattle 93.54, for sheep 90.41 and for swine 94.83.

Newspaper Laws

1.—A postmaster is required to give notice by letter. Returning the newspaper does not answer the law, when a subscriber does not take his newspaper out of the office and state the reason for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2.—If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until payment is made.

3.—Any person who takes a paper out of the post office, whether directed to his name or not, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

4.—If a subscriber orders his paper stopped and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5.—The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the postoffice or removing, leaving them uncollected for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

How To Make a Live Town

It is better to help the town and accomplish one good thing than to point out a dozen poor ones.

When you write a letter tell how the town looks. It is as important as the stamp. A good way to drive the children away from home is to tell them what a poor town this is.

Don't leave all the work of development in this town for others to do. The proper use of a hammer is to drive home a nail or a truth.

Individual boosting of the town is good, but concerted boosting gets results.

If you don't see this town's advantages, how do you expect a stranger to do so?

The village band makes sweet music, but it isn't in it with the village carpenter.

If you can't get behind a movement for the town's good, at least don't get in front of it.
