Suffered Terribly for 15 Years Until He Tried "Fruit-a-tives"

D. A. WHITE, Esq.
21 WALLACE AVE., TORONTO,
Dec. 22nd, 1913.

"Having been a great sufferer from Asthma for a period of fifteen years (sometimes having to sit up at night for weeks at a time) I began the use of 'Fruit-a-tives'. These wonderful tablets relieved me of Indigestion, and through the continued use of same, I am no longer distressed with that terrible disease, Asthma, thanks to 'Fruit-a-tives' which are worth their weight in gold to anyone suffering as I did. I would heartily recommend them to all sufferers from Asthma, which I believe is caused or aggravated by Indigestion".

Several of the farmers of Romney have been quite interested lately in the actions of their hogs, which have been allowed to run in the fields where the grain has been harvested in order that they may pick up what grain they can. The hogs, however, had apparently found something they enjoyed more than grain, for they would leave good food in order to go searching in the grass by the fences near out fields. While it was difficult to see what the hogs were picking up so eagerly, it is thought that they were feasting on the army worm, which curls up under the grass during the day. If this is what they are after, the army worm, which has caused such destruction, may be put to some use in fattening hogs.

Drives Asthma Like Magic. The immediate help from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy seems like magic. Nevertheless it is only a natural remedy used in a natural way. The smoke or vapor, reaching the most remote passage of the affected tubes, brushes aside the trouble and opens a way for fresh air to enter. It is sold by dealers throughout the land.

Last spring the tobacco growers of Essex, Kent and Elgin were agitating for the formation of a Co-operative Co. to handle tobacco. At a meeting at Blenheim last week, of those most vitally interested, it was decided to make application at once for letters incorporating the Ontario Tobacco Growers' Association, which will have 1,300 members and control 100,000 acres of good tobacco producing land.

Baby Girl Who Is Being Taught Not to Be Afraid.

COURAGE A FINE QUALITY.

Olive Whitman, Daughter of a Noted Lawyer, Schooled in Fearlessness. Hardworking Animals—Many Things to Interest Children.

Not long ago Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, wife of the district attorney of New York city, flew a thousand feet above the Hudson river in a flying boat. These boats can go on water or in the air, as the driver wishes. When Mrs. Whitman entered the machine she put on a life preserver, because one never knows whether there may be an accident or not. At any rate, she sat beside the driver, and after skimming along the Hudson river for a short distance the machine flew into the air at a speed of seventy miles an hour. After reaching a height of a thousand feet the driver brought his machine back to the surface of the water. Volplaning is the term used by aeronauts.

When Mrs. Whitman alighted from the machine she said she had experienced no fear. "I used to be afraid of the water," she said, "but I overcame that fear. I dislike to have fear of any kind, and I am teaching my little girl not to have a fear too."

Mrs. Whitman is a prominent charity worker in New York city, where she was born. Before she was married she was Miss Olive Hitchcock. Her only daughter's name is also Olive, and when the little girl grows up, if she responds to her mother's teaching, she will be brave like her mother. It is a good thing for children to cultivate courage and to be fearful only of doing wrong.

Hardworking Animals.

There are varieties of wasps which are paper makers; spiders are tireless spinners, and even worms are weavers. Ants work nearly all the time and have a well looked after system of labor, which they follow closely.

Certain species of ants found in East India are farmers in a small way. They raise mushrooms for the purpose of feeding their young.

Bees are among the most expert builders of all time. Their hives are so constructed as to lose as little space as possible.

The ant lions are remarkable architects. Their funnel shaped traps are exactly correct in conformation and could not be surpassed if made by the most skillful architect and with the aid of complicated instruments.

The beaver is combination architect, engineer and woodcutter. He builds houses and dams his water course with a cleverness that would be creditable to an intelligent man.

Boy Scouts of Spain.

Eleven thousand scouts in Spain carry on a very similar program to that of the Boy Scouts of America. The handbook of the boys bears the name Estatutos de la Asociacion Catolica de Scouts de Espana. Madrid, the capital, has 3,000 scouts. The spreading of scouting in that country is another instance that Spain is waking up and getting ready to take her place again among the nations which in recent years have outstripped her in education. There is no doubt that scouting is spreading like wildfire all over the world, and it is confidently expected that it will be an entering wedge in many countries for new ideals of citizenship and boy training.—Scouting.

Wonders of the World.

The seven wonders of ancient times were the pyramids of Egypt, the lighthouse known as the Pharos of Egypt, the hanging gardens of Babylon, the temple of Diana at Ephesus, the statue of Jupiter by Phidias, the mausoleum of Artemisia and the Colossus of Rhodes. Seven wonders of the modern world have been given as the wireless telegraph, the telephone, the aeroplane, radium, antiseptics, spectrum analysis and X rays.

A Wonder Country. Three little children running away. Hush, don't tell, don't tell! Hand in hand to a lovely land, Off where the fairies dwell.

Oh, what fun, for the land is large, Shaded with candy trees, There you can play the liveliest day, There you can do as you please! Come in the early morning time, Come in the dusky eve, Come with the throng and hurry along To the land of Make Believe.

REED'S WITTY THRUST.

It Silenced For the Time the "Great Objector," Holman.

There are many stories of the caustic wit of Thomas B. Reed, the famous speaker of the house of representatives. One of his most amusing thrusts was delivered at William S. Holman, a member of congress from Indiana. It was perhaps the keenest witticism ever uttered in debate on the floor of the house.

Holman was a constant objector to the expenditure of money by congress and had honestly earned the title of "Watchdog of the Treasury." One day, when the committee was perfunctorily putting through a number of bills for the erection of government buildings in various cities, Holman was constantly on his feet, objecting to their consideration. But when Indiana was reached and the committee began to propose appropriations for buildings in the towns of that state Holman's objections came with much less spirit and finally ceased altogether. When at length a bill was offered that carried a generous appropriation for a building in Holman's own town, he rose and expressed hearty approval. Hardly had he taken his seat when Mr. Reed was on his feet. "Mr. Speaker," he shouted; and then, in gently sentimental tones, he recited Byron's familiar lines:

"Tis sweet to hear the watchdog's honest bark,
Bay deep mouthed welcome as we draw near home!"

And the "great objector" forgot to object any more that day!—Youth's Companion.

THEY PLAYED MARBLES.

One Street Game in Which Lincoln Took a Hand.

An elderly gentleman now residing in Washington tells this story about Abraham Lincoln:

"I was about ten years of age and given violently to the game of marbles. One cold March day my companions and I were playing on the sidewalk before my father's shop when I slipped on a piece of ice and fell, cutting my chin. The other boys seized as many of my marbles as they could and made off. Wild with anger, I started after them, calling them names and threatening to annihilate them, and so on. Suddenly a hand on my collar stopped me, and a deep voice said: 'We've got enough ill feeling going on in this country these days without you boys catching it!'

"A big man swung me around and wiped my wounded chin and then went on: 'I saw what they did, son. Have you any algeas left? Good! I'll put up three chiny algeas, and we'll see who'll win.'

"He drew from his pocket three marbles. 'I got them from my boy Tad,' he explained, and then I knew who he was.

"There on the street I played marbles with the president for five minutes, and he let me win. Here are the marbles—a precious possession!"—Exchange.

Fed the Brute.

Sir Charles Tupper in his book, "Recollections of Sixty Years," recalls an experience of his daughter in Canada during the Riel rebellion in the northwest. She was in the region of trouble, and on a day when she happened to be alone in her home "in walked a strapping Indian, all war paint and feathers. She thought the best thing she could do was to feed him. She cooked everything in the house—potatoes, meat and bread. When all was consumed—and these Indians will eat at a meal enough to lost for three weeks—he had grown to a very large size. As he could not speak a word of English or French, he evinced his gratitude by patting his protuberant stomach, with a guttural "Ha, ha, ha," and left.

Plague of the Black Death. That terrible plague the black death, originating somewhere in the east, passed by way of Armenia into Asia and thence to Egypt and north Africa. Reaching Sicily in 1346, it spread over Italy, France and nearly all of the countries of Europe, including the British isles. The mortality was appalling, some 25,000,000 of people dying from the dread epidemic. The nature of the great pestilence has been a matter of much controversy, but it is generally conceded that it was closely related to what is known today as the "bubonic plague."—New York Ameri-

The prescription which Dr. R. V. Pierce used most successfully—in diseases of women—which has stood the test of nearly half a century—is

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Take this in liquid or tablet form as a tonic.

Mrs. Kate D. Richardson, of Beazley, Essex Co., Va., says, "I esteem it a pleasure to testify to the wonderful curative qualities of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. For some years I suffered greatly with weakness. I was treated by several physicians but gradually grew worse. One of my friends told me of the good results of your 'Favorite Prescription.' I went to the drug store and got a bottle, and after taking it, with the 'Pleasant Pellets,' I commenced to get better. I never knew what happiness was, for I was always sick and complaining and made others as well as myself unhappy. So you see what a debt I owe you!"
