NOTE AND COMMENT

The bulk of the young men residing in urban centres and coming within the application of the amended Military Service Act are now reporting throughout Canada and in another 10 days many thousands will be in khaki. Making allowance for those who will be exempted on the few grounds, such as physical disability or where the rest of the sons of the family are overseas, it is estimated that about 35,000 will be secured from the ages of 20 to 22 inclusive. The call to those of 19 to register is a preliminary measure. the time when they will be summon-ed being indefinite. There is more of it in Ontario, where the farmers are holding out for the exemption of their sons.

wise, with their full name spelled accurately on the typewriter, to which they might add the personal touch of the written signature, no matter how characteristically illegible it might be. This rule of a typewritten signature also might be applied to all the volunteer helpers who are forced to a large correspondency on war issues, and it might be applied generally in the business world at large for the benefit of all who have to read and rely to letters which contain everything else, even the useless and elaborate official and "It was ever the custom of brave and gallant knights, upon meeting, to raise their vizors and look each other squarely and fearlessly in the eye. On the road or in the arena before the tilting-match, clicking up of the vizor was an indispensable courtesy. This custom has come down to us in the form of the salute. We no longer wear vizors covering our faces, but we raise our hands to the vizors of our caps and look squarely and fearlessly at the person saluted. The salute is a sign manual of a proud fellowship in arms, and not the subservient acknowledgement of a superior officer. Our military regulations require all officers and soldiers' to salute each other upon meeting and, it is courteous for the junior in rank to salute first. Courtesy is an indispensable quality of pride. No one can be discourteous and be proud of it.'

At Pool of Bethesda

An English reservist, who was living near Sudbury, Ont., before the war writes to his old neighbors from the pool of Bethesda, Palestine: tasted the water-not too clean !and in order to do it had to descend lots of steps, as the well is deep down in the ground. At the entrance one may, if one wishes, read in seventy-seven different languages the account of the healing described in the fifth chapter of John-a quite sufficient choice, one would imagine, but "Taffy' thought differently, and not finding his mother-tongue represented, promptly wrote it all out in Welsh from his own Testament. So now there are seventy-eight different versions for visitors to chose from.

When the British troops reached Italy they were nicknamed "The Baby Army." The Italians were so surprised at the smart apparance of the new comers-differing so materially as it did from the picture presented by the home troops whom they passed-that, in the belief that they had come straight from England, they were called "The Ba-As a matter of fact the by Army." British soldiers were war-worn veerans from the Ypres salient.

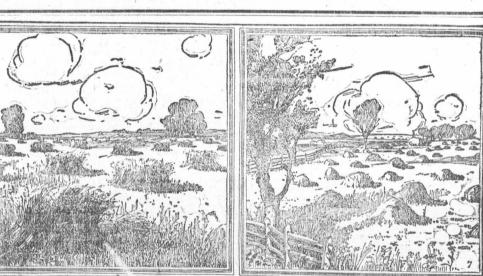

Trado Barriers. As part of the "formula for peace," Courtenay de Kalb, writing in the eurrent issue of "The Atlantic Mag-azine," would have careful consideration given to trade restrictions tarifis, schemes for commercial war, and so forth, with a view to eliminat-ing such artificial barriers. For such he considers them. Part of the scheme for a league to enforce peace would, in his opinion, "introduce the principle of natural trade by tak-ing steps to eliminate the fostering devices on which national aggrandize-mant denends. It might not he nosdevices on which national tograndize-ment depends. It might not be pos-sible to reach every scheme for arti-ficial trade-development which will lift its head, but the tariff can be stripped off and the granting of ship subsidies and bounties and all the cruder forms of industrial parentai-tem. This would at least go for toism. This would at least, go far to-ward the organization of the sister-hoad of nations on the true competition basis of relative inherent skill, knowledge and ability. In that di-rection lies the open road to peace and progress. The world may not delude itself; it must take that high-way or accept the principle of the trade-war which goes hand in hand with Mars."

Shellfish.

Among the oldest life forms on the globe is the shellfish, known as the lingula, a specimen of which was taken from Manila Bay several years ago. The genus, according to scien-tists, has remained practically un-altered for more than 100,000,000 where in the strand for the extraordinary changes of climate and environment since the world began most forms of life with which science is familiar have been transformed or have alto-gether disappeared since the geologic ages. "That the genus lingula," says the Journal of Heredix "should have ages. "That the genus lingula," says the Journal of Heredity, "should have survived for all these ages, and un-dergone virtually no change, is strik-ing evidence of the fact that the germ plasm, which under some conditions, as in the case of the horse and the dog, is capable of extraordinary variation. tion, is under other conditions re-markably constant."

One of the commonest complaints of infants is worms, and the most effective application for them is Mother Graves Worm Exterminator. m

Married a Johnny

Many a young woman who deserves a good man for a life companion, has jumped in at a tender age and married a Johnny, and gone through life embarrassed the rest of her days. Johnny is all right as an ice cream boy and as a slot machine with which to get chewing gum and bon bons, but when it comes to measuring up in after years with the men who do things, and whose wifes make up the budget of satisfied ones, he is down and out before the race starts. Girls, if you must marry, and you must, if you would be happy, be sure and marry a man, or at least what is going to be a man.

Keep on going ahead; let others look for footprints. People who cast reflections usually stand in their own light. Night is not dark to the good; nor is day bright to the wicked. Hardly any man is clever know how important he isn't. enough to

AN OIL OF MERIT.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is not a jumble of medic-inal substances thrown togetner and pushed by advertising, but the results of the careful investigation of the curative qualities of certain oils as applied to the human body. It is a rare combination and it won and kept public favor from the first. A trial of it will carry conviction to any who doubt its power to repair and heal.

The Ford Saves the Hay and Oats the Horses Eat

T HAS been estimated that five acres of land are required to maintain one horse for a year, and that the same five acres would produce nearly enough food for two people. If 50,000 Canadian farmers each replaced one horse with a Ford, 250,000 acres would be added to the Nation's source of food supply and enough extra food made available to feed 100,000 people.

Just think what a great service this means to the country at the present time and the benefit to the farmers from the sale of food produced on this acreage.

A Ford car also saves the farmer a week or more of valuable time each year, which can be used for further productive work. The Ford travels three times as fast as a horse and rig—costs less to run and keep, and is far easier to take care of. With labor so scarce and high priced, time means money, so do not delay in getting your Ford.
