Canadian Woman Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Manitoba.—"I can not speak too highly of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was a nervous wreck and I just had to force myself to do my work. Life was a misery and work was a burden. Even the sound of my own children playing made me feel as if I must scream if they did not get away from me. I could not even speak right to my husband. The doctor said that he could do nothing for me owing to my condition, but told me to expect another miscarriage. My husband's grandmother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I started it right away and everyone noticed what a different woman I was in a short time. I went and engaged my doctor and he did not know me, I was so well. I was able to do my work once more and it was a pleasure, not a burden. Now I have a "fine bouncing baby" to use the doctor's own words. I am able to nurse her and enjoy doing my work. I can not help recommending such a medicine, and anyone seeing me before I took it and seeing me now, can see what it does for me. What it has done for me it can do for anyone in the same condition. I am only too pleased for you to use my testimonial."—Mrs. EMILY DAVIS 721 McGee St., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

SIX IN FAMILY DIE OF ACCIDENTAL POISONING

C. W. Tuttle, of Cambridge, Mass., Formerly of Cumberland County, N. S., and Five Others Ate Canned Greens—All Victims Buried at One Time.

Amherst, N. S., Mar. 23.—Word has been received here of the death in Cambridge, Mass., by accidental poisoning of C. W. Tuttle, a native of Cumberland County, and five members of his family. Mrs. Tuttle was a Miss Harrison, of Wentworth. The following is from a Cambridge newspaper: With the death of C. W. Tuttle at 5.30 Thursday morning the death roll reached six in the Tuttle family. The dead are: Hazel Tuttle, twenty-five, a Cambridge school teacher. Harriet Tuttle, fourteen, in whose honor the dinner was given. Bryan Tuttle, twenty-six, world war veteran. Edward Tuttle, twenty-eight. Charles W. Tuttle, sixty, a carpenter and father of the boys and girls. Randall Tuttle, twenty.

Canned greens that had developed "botulism," a bacterial disease, is blamed for the wholesale poisoning. The fatal vegetable was eaten at dinner, and the first victim was one of Cambridge's popular teachers, Miss Hazel Tuttle, who died Monday evening.

She was followed in rapid succession by her little sister, Harriet, Byron, who had spent two years in Europe, was the next to go, then followed Edward, who had poor health at times, then Randall, a fine young man of twenty, and last the father, Charles W. Tuttle.

Four physicians worked day and night to try and help the unfortunate family, but to no avail. There were eleven children in the Tuttle family, and five of them are gone in one fell blow.

A conservative estimate of 1,000 people were in attendance at the funeral services of the six members of the Tuttle family, held in the beautiful new high school building.

LOCAL DEATH ROLL

REV. F. S. HARTLEY Natick, Mass., March 22—Rev. F. S. Hartley, pastor of the First Baptist Church since November, 1920, died from apoplexy this morning. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Katherine Snow, of Rochester, N. H., and Miss A. H. Hartley. He lived in St. John before coming here from Yarmouth, N. S.

He also held pastorate in South Portland, Me.; Waterville, Me.; Oakland City, Ind., and Rochester, N. H. The body will probably be taken to St. John.

Rev. Mr. Hartley was born in West St. John forty-six years ago, and was educated in this city, at Acadia and at Bates' College, Lewiston, Me. He was a son of the late Rev. Dr. George A. Hartley, for forty-four years pastor of the Charlotte Street Baptist Church, West, and Mrs. Catherine A. Hartley, of Melrose, Mass., daughter of the late Dr. W. Clark, West St. John. Miss Gertrude Hartley, Melrose, is a sister; Albert Hartley, Portland, Me., is a brother, and Rev. Fred C. Hartley, Hamilton, Me., and Mrs. Annie Lindsay, Lynn, Mass., are respectively half-brother and half-sister. Dr. C. Clark, West St. John, is an uncle, and Mrs. L. O. Beattie, also of the west side, is an aunt.

Relatives residing here were greatly surprised to learn of the sudden death of Rev. Mr. Hartley, and said that they had not heard that he had been suffering from any illness. They advised that the family of the late Rev. Dr. Hartley moved to Maine after the death of the pastor of the Charlotte Street Baptist Church and that city in recent years.

MILLEDDGE GAVAZA Annapolis, N.S., March 22—This morning Milledge Gavaza died at the age of seventy-two years. During the winter he has been in failing health, but up to a few weeks ago he was able to be out. He suffered from a weak heart, which led to a general breakdown that hastened the end. He was the last of the Gavaza family, one of the old and respected families of Annapolis Royal. A number of years ago his father, T. A. Gavaza, carried on a large general business. For the last twenty years Milledge has been in the employ of Charles Dugdale & Son. In religion he was an Anglican, and a vestryman of St. Luke's Church for many years. He was devoted to his religion and faithful to his church. His funeral was held last Thursday at two o'clock, from St. Luke's Church. The interment will be in the old Garrison cemetery.

New York, March 23.—Peter C. Larkin, Canada's new high commissioner to England, sailed to-day on the Empress of Britain for Liverpool.

BRITISH BARONET HAS STRONG FAITH IN THE DOMINION

Sir Frederick Baker, Lady Baker and Others on Trip Through Maritime Provinces.

St. John, N. B., March 22—Sir Frederick Baker, Bart., of London and Ellen Castle, Scotland, is touring the Maritime Provinces in the private car Boston.

Sir Frederick, who is accompanied by Lady Baker, Mr. Philipps and Mr. Irvine, also of London, arrived at New York the latter part of February. He is on a tour of inspection of his large pulp and paper manufacturing plants located at Chippewa, Ont.; Chicoutimi, Que. and Sissiboo Falls, N. S.

Sir Frederick says that conditions in the British Isles are improving rapidly and that it will only be a short time until everything reaches normal again.

Asked as to his opinion on the general situation as he found it in Canada, Sir Frederick sounded a very optimistic note, saying that the present outlook was very encouraging indeed and that he believed conditions would continue to improve steadily. As to the paper market in particular, he stated that all his mills were working to capacity in order to fill standing contracts.

Sir Frederick, who by the way, is a personal friend of Lord Beaverbrook, has, like that gentleman, very strong faith in the future wealth of Canada's unbounded natural resources.

ONE IN EVERY TWENTY IS DEPENDENT ON FISHERIES

Vast Resources Potentially Able to Maintain Much Larger Portion of the Population—Heavy Investment of Capital and Control is in Canadian Hands.

Approximately one hundred thousand people are engaged in the catching and processing of fish in Canada, and at least fifty thousand more are occupied in fish merchandising. It is difficult to say how many more receive their means of livelihood indirectly from the industry, but it would not be an exaggeration to place the total, wholly or partly dependent on the fisheries for a living, at 400,000. On the basis of an eight million population this would mean that one in every twenty receives his or her maintenance from the industry—that is, five per cent. of our total population.

This fact is quite astonishing in itself, but when it is considered that our fishery resources have only been lightly scratched, the tremendous possibilities of the situation are obvious. Could we but find an outlet for all the fish we may produce, there would be room for the employment of many times that number and millions might trace their livelihood to the humble fish.

Of the one hundred thousand engaged in primary and secondary fishery operations, fully forty-five thousand are in Nova Scotia, and close to thirty thousand in British Columbia. While the Pacific province leads in the value of production, the industry is more vital to the province of Nova Scotia and seems to present greater possibilities. The salmon has been the mainstay of the western province, because of its wonderful food qualities and the high price it commands in the markets of the world. In the matter of quantity caught the humble cod of the Atlantic outstrips the British Columbia salmon which last year was also exceeded by the modest herring. Nova Scotia and British Columbia are the rivals for supremacy, but each of the other provinces contributes to the output of commercial fishes. Generally speaking, our interior waters contribute about one-tenth of the total output. In this connection it is of interest to point out that within our Dominion we have one-half of the fresh water of the globe, so the possibilities of fresh-water fishing have not been reached by any means. The progress of man is extending northward and to-day we are securing supplies of whitefish, trout, etc., from the basin of the Mackenzie River. As transportation develops copious supplies farther northward will be accessible.

Another way of fixing the value of the industry is the capital invested. It is estimated between fifty and sixty millions, of which one half is in primary operations—that is, vessels, boats, nets and fishing gear—and the balance is invested in canning and curing establishments ashore. There is an erroneous impression in certain sections that our fishing industry is controlled by foreign capital. Statistics furnish no justification for this view, although it would not be a bad thing if we could induce some millions of outside capital to contribute to the boosting of the industry. In 1920 there were eighty-six fish canning and curing concerns in Canada organized as joint stock companies. Bonds, stocks and other securities of these aggregated $25,931,631, of which $15,169,305 was held in Canada; $7,641,641 in the United States, and $3,120,635 in Great Britain.

To secure some idea of the various methods employed in fishing and the comparative importance of the different branches, the following is of interest: In 1919, 35,905 sail, row and gasoline boats were engaged, valued at $7,011,120. Sailing and gasoline vessels numbering 1,091 were valued at $5,243,795, and steam vessels, numbering 172 were valued at $1,449,355. Ten steam trawlers were in the service, valued at $1,075,000. The first item—sail, row and gasoline boats—represents the equipment of the in-shore fisheries, while the others are equipment for offshore. The former employed 55,410 men, while only 8,708 fished offshore. So it will be seen that our fishing inshore is the most valuable. In fact nearly three-quarters of our fish taken in Atlantic waters is secured within twelve miles of shore.
