BROOKLYN HEIGHTS.

It is on the crown of Brooklyn Heights, where they terminate abruptly by the street that leads to the water. The ground declines rapidly to the South and West, exposing the panorama of the Bay and City of New York, from Staten Island across to New Jersey, and high up the East River. A beautiful grove of forest trees are waving over the inclosure, being the same which our fathers planted, and which the reverence and good taste of their children have combined to preserve. The evening shades were deepened by clouds which overcast the sky flinging the "dim religious light" around, as if to make us feel that we were worshipping in nature's vast cathedral. So unusual a location in the midst of a populous city, started exclamations of surprise and admiration, city, started exclamations of surprise and admiration while the congregation were gathering about the corner-

This Church is to be built from the offerings of the Ingregation of Emmanuel Church, which have been laid on the altar at the offertory, and are now deposited in Bank. It is to cost, exclusive of the tower and land, about 35,000 dollars; the tower is 45 feet diagonally across across, and will rise 166 feet above the water. We sincerely hope, and devoutly trust that means will be furnish ed to carry up this grand structure immediately. It will be a landmark to the navigator, a commanding and ne dessary feature in the architecture of the Church, and an ornament to Brooklyn, standing in the very forefront of the city.—Extracted from the N. A Liverpool paper of 20th ult. states that during the last ten days the weather had been almost uninteruptedly fine, and insured expectations of an abundant harvest of grain, through-the British Islands, and all Europe. The heavy decline which took place at the beginning of the month, was checked. Since the 13th, the market has again given way, the prospects of receiving still larger supplies from the United States and the Mediterranean, added to the fine weather which prevails in al quarters, depressed the market, which presents every aspect of quarters, depressed the market, which presents every aspect of a downward movement. The potato crop is represented to be free from danger, and this has contributed not a little to influence prices during the last week. However, the market has been much firmer, the prices of the 13th ult. became current, and were maintained throughout the week, and yesterday i Mark Lane a further advance took place. MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY, — we, her Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Commons of Canada, in Provincial Parliament assembled, approach your Excellency with profound respect, and humbly beg leave to assure your Excellency that in no period of our history have the Commons of Canada applied themselves more assiduously to the arduous duties which have devolved upon them, as the representatives of her Migraty's lovel and affections as a superior of the Migraty's lovel and affections as a superior of the Migraty's lovel and affections as a superior of the Migraty's lovel and affections as a superior of the Migraty's lovel and affections as a superior of the Migraty's lovel and affections as a superior of the Migraty's lovel and affection of the Migraty and American of the Migra f her Majesty's loyal and affectionate people, than during the resent session, while it has been their earnest endeavour to pport the honour and dignity of the Crown, upon which deends the greatness and prosperity of the country.

The session now about to close has been characterised by the

duction of many important measures well calculated to develope private enterprise, in extending the railway communi-ations of the province, and facilitating the mining operations on the shores of lake Superior.

We trust that much benefit will arise from the facilities thus promised to be afforded to our internal trade and commerce, and from the development of the mineral treasures and resources of the province, and we have devoted much time and labour to the legislation requisite to promote and encourage those impor-

To meet the altered state of our commercial relations with the mother country, we have found it indispensable to pass a new bill materially altering the existing regulation of the customs in this province. In making these changes, due regard has been given to the adopting such modifications of the customs' tariff and regulations as we hope will ensure great benefit to the trader and consumer, by the removal of an unequal pressure, and a vexatious enforcement of the law; and to give, where it was possible, fresh stimulus to individual enter-Prise and industry.

It has been my duty thus briefly to state to your Excellency some of the most important measures of the session. We be-lieve these to be well calculated to increase the prosperity of the country, and to promote the happiness and welfare of all classes of her Majesty's subjects in this valuable and important portion of her vast dominions.

The bill which it is now my duty to present to your Excellency is intituled "An Act to appropriate the sums therein mentioned to defray certain expenses of the civil government for the year 1847, and certain other expenses not otherwise vided for," to which, with all humility, we pray your Excelency to give the royal assent.

His Excellency then read the speech from the throne, and nediately after took his departure for Monklands. After which his Excellency the Governor General was leased to close the Third Session of the Second Provincial men of the House of Assembly: In relieving you, for the present, from your assistance in this place, I have to thank you for the zeal and assiduity, in the discharge of your important duties, which have enabled you, during the course of a session of comparatively short duration, to consider and perfect many measures which promise to be of reat advantage to the community. I sincerely trust that the alterations which you have made in the Provincial Tariff, and the additional facilities afforded to trade by the extension of the Bonding and Warehousing privi-leges, will be productive of benefit to the Colony, and to the notion of its commercial and agricultural interests.

I have observed with satisfaction the attention which you have bestowed on the several projects which have been brought before you for developing the mineral resources of the Province, nd improving its means of internal communication. I trust that the measures which you have passed for the mendment of several provisions of the Criminal code—for the protection of Mercantile interests—for rendering the School Act of Upper Canada more effective-and for placing the Mu-icipal institutions of Lower Canada on an improved footing. will be attended with beneficial results.

The prevalence of disease among the Immigrants who have arrived from Europe, this season, has occasioned me much con-cern. I have not failed to bring the subject under the notice of her Majesty's Secretary of State, and to represent the necessity of adopting measures to place immigration to this Colony under more efficient regulations. His Excellency was pleased to reserve the following Bills or the further signification of Her Majesty's pleasure thereon, iz:—

Interest with the nave of the reservation of far more importance, has been almost lost sight of. The despatch of Earl Grey we noticed in our last. However objectionable some of the propositions may be, it is obviously the production of a person who has thought over the matter, but who is yet not sufficiently acquainted with its practical details. We blame our Legislative bodies for not entering earlier into the matter, as now another winter must pass over before any attempt on their part can be made to obtain and arrange the information necessary to have this great object properly carried out: we look on this as the great neglect of

The University Bills have afforded a marked and melancholy illustration of a want of timely decision. The ministry stated at first that they did not intend to bring forward any measure on the subject; next, in reply to a question, they required a week, before giving an answer; and at last, when Mr. Receiver-General ushered the ministerial bantling into the world, it astonished every one. flect that establishing post offices in various parts of the country, to wait until the demand will actually pay the expenses, is very short-sighted policy. Establish the post office while there is only a slight requirement for it, with cheap postage, and it will soon amply pay for itself. We conceive that a postage of one penny for fifty miles, and a half-penny for every additional fifty miles, would be abundant. We recommend our fellow citizens to follow the example of Montreal, and meialize the government on this important matter The Assessment Act and the Common School Act, with pprehend, be found acceptable.
