

scribes the countries visited in a very instructive way. Her pen pictures of Canadian scenery are picturesque, and her impressions of the people, and the historical, geographical and religious notes are lively and entertaining.

The October Magazines.

The Chautauquan has interesting educational articles as usual. The Republic of Mexico, by Arthur Inkersley, B.A., LL.B., is begun; there is an illustrated article on Hindu Carvings, by Lyman Horace Weeks; Literature as a Resource is discussed by Hamilton Wright Mabie.

In the Popular Science Monthly for this month Prof. James Sully devotes a chapter in his Studies of Childhood to Untruth and Truth, showing that there is something less dreadful than original sin to account for "children's lies." The October Atlantic is rich in good fiction. Among other striking contributions is one entitled "The Genius of Japanese Civilization." The four weekly issues of Littell's Living Age for September are replete with the choicest gleanings of the British reviews and magazines. With the October number the Century closes its twenty-fifth year and fiftieth volume, and in celebration of this event special pains is being taken with the November number, which will have some notable features.
