

To the
N.C.O's and men
106th "Nova Scotia Rifles"

This book is forwarded to you at your home addresses by the Regimental Institutes of this Unit, with the sanction of the Commanding Officer, Lieut.-Col. R. Innes, as a small token of the Battalion's appreciation of your hearty co-operation and good services in developing and maintaining the enviable reputation of the 106th "Nova Scotia Rifles."

While the exigencies of the Service did not permit us going to the firing line as a unit, the Commanding Officer and your other Officers have every confidence in your individual ability and determination to firmly establish on the field of battle your old Battalion motto of "NONE SO RELIABLE."

Your family and friends as well as yourself should indeed be proud of the fact that you were once a member of a Battalion that was always ready to do, and did, its duty, irrespective of its fate as a unit.

"Pax Vobiscum"
