an Canada Take the Risk of Her Nickel Policy?

it Toronto Telegram, Jan. 12.
It monopoly of nickel is in the a clever and powerful combithat this country has come to an end of that this country has come to an end of government that has ever ng in power, either at Ottaon, the Whitney government and I the form of oxides.

The list a great deal of truth in what The Telegram says. The nickel trust is erful at Ottawa and in the Queen's Park. And we are told that the Hon. Cochrane is the connecting link between the nickel people and the two govis. It may be that Mr. Cochrane is actuated by loyalty to his district, to doubly country, and to an industry that has given much employment to his cents. But we may be paying too dear for that work. We are endangering the for a local consideration! ints. But we may be interested in the for a local consideration!

What is it Sir Edward Grey is fighting over with the Americans but the right prevent American copper and CANADIAN NICKEL getting to Germany? Germy is buying copper from the United States and she is getting nickel in the same v, and it will be the most discreditable thing that ever came to Canada if a pment of her nickel is found in a vessel sailing from the States to a neutral port

Mr. Cochrane, no matter what his devotion may be to nickel and Sudbury, has a right to force us into that position or to put the Conservative party in so miliating a position as to be dependent on a United States company of adventurers for the upholding of the honor of Canada in a matter so vital. Nor should a man like Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, counsel for the International Nickel Company, however great his attainments, be more influential than that of thousands and thousands Canadians in shaping the nickel policy of the governments at Ottawa and Torto. And we think all the less of that policy because it has the approval of The second Ciloba!

Stricken while drinking tea in the lexandra room of the King Edward lotel, William Horsley Rowley, J.P., Hotel, William Horsley Rowley, J.P., one of Canada's well-known business men, and president of the E. B. Eddy Company of Hull, Que., died suddenly of heart disease yesterday afternoon. With no warning whatever, Mr. Rowley collapsed while sitting at a table and expired a few minutes after being arried out of the room. No con ion was caused as the impr was at once summoned, but nothing ould be done to save Mr. Rowley

Thru his connection as president of the E. B. Eddy Company, and as vice-president and afterwards president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Associa-tion, Mr. Rowley was very well-known "Beauty lives with kindness": Mme. Lina Cavalieri, who is tending wounded in Paris. to business men all over the co kind in the British Empire. he overcame obstacles that seemed well-nigh insurmountable. Day after day, and far into the night he labored, and saved the company from the position in which it was placed as a result of the great fire. Little by little the difficulties vanished, but not until then did he rest from his task.

During last summer he took a well-earned rest, when he visited England and the continent, with all lines of communication severed behind him.

A Prominent Layman.

Mr. Rowley was one of the most prominent laymen of the Anglican Church in Canada, being a delegate to many conventions including the Pan-Anglican Congress in London, England, in 1908. He was a member of leading clubs of Ottawa and Montreal, as well as the York, Albany and National Clubs of Toronto.

It was in 1910 that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association made Mr. Rowley its president, after he had been vice-president in the preceding year. He was a delegate to the Commercial Congress of the Empire in Sydney, Australia, in 1909. Always in favor of British connection and of imperial federation, he urged a conservation of Canada's natural resources. Thruout his life he was a staunch Conservative, and was a bitter opponent of the reciprocity pact of 1911. In 1876, Mr. Rowley married Theresa Ann Grace Richardson, a daughter of Johnstone Richardson of Windsor, Ont., who died in March, 1906. In 1911 he married Elise Wildman Ritchie, a daughter of the late Chief Justice Mr. Rowley leaves one son who was born in 1912.

While arrangements about the funeral have not yet been completed, the body was taken to Ottawa this morning by a special car and will be buried from his home, Stadacona Hotel, Worfield.
