

THE WORLD'S HOME MAGAZINE FOR WOMEN EDITED BY LAURA E. McCULLY, B. A.

Genius.

By Frederick Truesdell.
Oh, some there are with beauty bright,
And they are lust of eyes,
And some who blind us with the mind
Our spirit's dearest prize;
But genius is the great white light
Nor mind nor beauty buys.

And some will play a wanton air
To catch the vagrant soul;
Some find it sweet with dancing feet
To foot it toward the goal;
But he who hears the whirling spheres
Can ne'er again be whole.

Oh, he who hears the whirling spheres
Where'er his steps have trod,
Has reached the end of human trend;
With wings his feet are shod.
For he has seen, beyond the screen,
Into the face of God.

Good Housekeeping prints, as usual, some excellent recipes for practical use. Among the everyday dishes appear the following recipes:
Sour Cream Pie.
To the yolks of two eggs add three fourths cup of chopped raisins, three fourths cup of sugar, one cup of sour cream, one-half teaspoon of cinnamon and one-half teaspoon of cloves. Bake with one crust, using the whites for a meringue.

Luncheon Ham.
Fill a medium sized baking dish with alternate layers of stale bread and cold chopped ham. Cover with two cups milk mixed with three well beaten eggs, salt to taste, and bake one-half hour.
Baked Eggs.
Butter well a platter, and add a thin grating of cheese. Break on this a dozen eggs, sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover with a grating of cheese and bake in a quick oven.

French Corn Muffins.
Cream one-half cup of sugar with one-half cup of butter, add one-half cup sweet milk, and three cups of flour and one-half cup of corn meal sifted with three teaspoons of baking powder.

Rice Pudding.
Put a half cup of rice in a cup and one-half of water and let it swell on the stove; then pour the water off and put in one pint of milk, and let it cook to a jelly. Beat the yolks of two eggs with five tablespoons of sugar, stir into the rice with one cup of raisins, vanilla, salt, and when done beat the whites of the eggs with two cups of sugar, and pour over the top, set in the oven to brown.

Correspondence.

"Will you please publish a recipe for chili sauce, and how to keep pies from sinking in the bottom, and oblige."
—Heggie Culham.

For the pies, beat up the white of an egg and spread over the bottom crust of the pie. This is the best I know, but even then sometimes watery fruit will cause a pie to sink.
For the chili sauce use the following recipe. It will make about two gallons: Scald ripe tomatoes, peel, boil with heaping teaspoonful of spice, add one of brown pepper if desired, and as much cayenne pepper as would lie on a five-cent piece. Add a tablespoonful of salt, boil till free of all taints, for perhaps three hours. Add three cups of brown sugar and two ounces of vinegar. Boil ten minutes and jar.

The Genius at Large.

Threading pensively her way among the crowds that throng the busiest corner in this city, the "woman who wrote for the press" fell into reflections in the classical manner first, if we are correctly informed, introduced by the peripatetic school of Socrates and since kept in fashion by the tramp and the journalist.

What is genius? Wherein does it consist? "What is genius? Wherein does it consist? It is the acknowledged exponent of the germ of true greatness in the ordinary." The latter question was the first to be answered.

Entering the most recent hotel of this progressive town, the writer called up Mr. King: "I am a woman who wrote for the press," she said, "and I am a woman who wrote for the press." "Yes, it was without doubt the roar of an authentic lion which answered that weak and hesitating summons. Language is to this Bard of Bigger Britain as mere words to the ordinary run of men. And it flowed freely from the receiver to the (modified) effect that 'newspaper people had been repeatedly given to understand that my wife if not going to interview anybody!'"

"To say that Mr. King seemed cross would be to do him an injustice. In the spasm of his artistic indignation the tones of his voice achieved a vigor which, like his verses, almost shocked the hearer by reason of 2120—Infant's Sleeping Robe.

A loose, comfortable gown for night wear is among the first requisites for the infant. This little gown is made in white French flannel, or cotton flannel of outing cloth, and will be found most satisfactory.

The gown is wide casing is sewed around the lower edges of the garment, thru which is run a white satin ribbon. This allows the gown to be drawn together in the shape of a bag, completely protecting the feet from all cold. A similar casing finishes the neck and sleeves. If lining gown is to be used as a slip, it should be made of jacronet or lawn, with the hem, neck and sleeves feather-stitched in white silk, and the gown is finished with a wide white ribbon. The pattern is in one size, and requires 2-1/2 yards of 36-inch material. Price of pattern, 10 cents.

meetings held during the year was 3009, with an aggregate attendance of 70,161. The discussions which take place at these meetings are of a very varied and practical character, and much valuable information is given. Monthly meetings are now being held even in the Rainy River, Thunder Bay and Temiskaming districts. Addresses are delivered and demonstrations made by scientifically-trained institute workers, and at no distant date regular sessions of four or five days devoted to study of domestic science are anticipated, leading eventually to a large attendance at the Macdonald Institute for further study.

Local Council of Women Meets

The Toronto Local Council of Women will hold a public meeting to-day (Monday) at 8 p.m., in the Canadian Institute, 198 College-street. A most interesting program has been arranged, embracing accounts of various aspects of the annual meeting in Vancouver. Lady Edgar, president of the National Council of Women, will speak upon the scheme for supervised playgrounds. Miss FitzGibbon will discuss immigration in its relation to the domestic problem and the reports of affiliated societies, resolutions, entertainments, etc., will be dealt with by other ladies, who were present at the meeting. All who are interested in the work which the women of Canada are doing are heartily invited to attend.

Personal.

An interesting event took place in the Church of St. George the Martyr on Saturday afternoon last when the marriage was solemnized of Miss Henrietta Hamilton Moore, daughter of Mr. Hamilton Moore, and Mr. Richard Allport Balnes, son of the late Mr. Egerton Balnes and Mrs. Balnes. Rev. Canon Cayley officiated, while Mr. Phillips presided at the organ. The church was prettily decorated with autumn leaves, and the chancel banked in yellow and white carnations, the same being used for the pew decorations. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Herbert Moore, wore a gown of white satin with lace train and tulle veil with wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses. Her two bridesmaids were Miss Seaborne and Miss Amy Balnes. Both wore Japanese silk with lace and white plumes, and carried yellow chrysanthemum bouquets. The maid of honor, Miss Muriel Cronyn, was gowned in dainty marquisette, with Irish lace. The bridesmaids were Miss Seaborne and Miss Amy Balnes. The marriage of Miss Lillie McConvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. McConvey, formerly of Dundas-street, to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nevin, of Ottawa, was solemnized at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning in St. Stanislaus Church, east of the city. The bride was given away by her father, and wore a brown panama tailored suit, and a becoming veil. The groom wore a brown suit, with plumes, and carried a large shower of bridal roses and carnations. Miss Maude McConvey, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, wearing a brown tailored suit, and hat to match. Mr. Wm. McConvey, brother of the bride, was best man, and Mr. W. J. Donlon, of Coatsworth acted as usher. The gift to the bride was a pearl ring. A reception was held at the bride's parents' home in Chestnut, which was artistically decorated for the occasion.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Morton, Longford Mills, Ont., when their second daughter, Helen Hamilton, was united in marriage to Mr. William Wendel Holmes of London, eldest son of Mr. Rev. John Holmes, Dorchester, Ont. The Rev. J. H. White of Upperville performed the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her father, was unattended, and wore a traveling suit of navy blue Panama cloth with hat to match and white lace blouse. Only the immediate relatives and friends were present. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Holmes left on the 3.40 train for London.

A pretty wedding took place at St. Paul's Church, Newmarket, on Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 4 o'clock, when Miss Florence Rosamond became the bride of Mr. C. E. Haigh of Mt. Albert. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Marion Armstrong of the Toronto, groom being supported by his brother, Mr. Ethan Haigh. The service was choral, the Rev. J. Blackler officiating. After the service the bride and groom were entertained at a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Morton, Longford Mills, Ont.
