appeal for Help in Church Building 1

Bergalitz and Hunter, Country and Hunter, Coun Crossley and Hunter, the well-known evangelists, have issued an appeal to churchloving people all over the Dominion for help to secure church homes for the Presbyterians, Methodists and Baptists of Windsor, N.S., whose churches were destroyed in the fatal fire of Sunday, Oct. 17.

The circular states: "The noble people of Windsor are taking fresh heart, and are planning, as far as possible, to rebu'ld their homes and business places, and they have also decided to attempt to rebuild the churches, but under the circumstances the pastors and people feel themselves inadequate to assume this additional expense. Just think of it: 103 Baptist, 97 Methodist and 75 Presbyterian families were rendered homeless and many of them penniless. As we have been priviliged to hold union evangelistic meetings for 14 years with the liethodist, Presbyterian and Baptist Churches from coast to coast, and as we conducted union meetings in these churches of Windsor a few months ago, it is most suitable that we should make an appeal to the members and friends of these churches. Here we have a most fitting opportunity to carry out the injunction; Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ."

A Touching Scene.

There was a very touching scene at No. 3 Police Station this evening, at the inquest into the death of Charles Pedlar, the youth who hung himself on Sunday. The deceased's parents and sister testified as to his bad temper and his actions before the awful deed was committed. The witnesses were cross examined at length by jurors, who seemed to be devoid of human feeling. The father said he would have been more tolerant with the lad had he known that the boy had an incurable disease. He did not learn this till after death, although he knew he had a private disease some months ago. The jury's verilet was to the effect that deceased took his life while suffering from temporary insanity.

Mrs. Anne Hickson, an inmate of the Aged Women's Home, had an adventure yesterday. She got out of the institution and wandered into Rosedale Ravine. Getting tired, she turned north and boarded a Rosedale car. A lady paid her fare for her, and Mrs. Hickson got off at the corntrest of Queen and Church-streets, where her friend, seeing that something was wrong, took her into Mitchell & McLean's drug store. Mrs. Hickson could not tell who she was or where she came from, so the police were notified. They communicated with the Aged Women's Home, and that institution claimed the wanderer. Mrs. Hickson is 80 years of age, and it was a lucky chance which guided her footsteps south to the car track. Wandered from the Home.

A pleasing incident took place last evening in St. Stephen's School house, when Mr. Barlow Cumberland presented the Royal Canadian Humane Association's bronze medal to Charles Wray for conspicuous bravery in rescuing Robert J. Courtice spoke on behalf of the employes of the Methodist Book Room, where the young man is employed. Mr. H. P. Dwight, chairman of the beard of the Humane Society, delivered an address setting forth the objects of the society and complimented the gallant lad for his brace conduct.
