

$30,000
A book in small sums, $200 to $500 preferred, at discount on first mortgage Toronto houses and no commission charged to borrower.
H. H. Williams, 10 Victoria Street

TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR

TEN PAGES—THURSDAY MORNING JUNE 1 1905—TEN PAGES

CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK
MY SPECIALTY
DR. H. A. GALLOWAY
OFFICE HOURS
DENTIST
8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.
7:15 P.M. to 8:15 P.M.
24 Queen St. W., Toronto
ON MON., WED. AND FRI.
Phone M. 701.
ONE CENT

KING ALFONSO A TARGET OF PARIS'S BOMB THROWER

After a Night of Enthusiastic
Applause of Welcome, Missile
Is Hurler at Carriage in Which King and President Ride.

STRIKES SOLDIER, LIVES SAVED
POLICE MAKE THREE ARRESTS

Paris, June 1.—As the King of Spain, accompanied by President Loubet, drove away from a gala performance at the opera after midnight, an anarchist hurled a bomb in the direction of the royal carriage. The projectile struck a soldier belonging to the Cuirassiers escort on the shoulder and then fell to the ground and exploded without injuring his majesty or the president, who continued their drive to the Palais D'Orsay. Several soldiers of the escort were thrown from their horses and injured, while fragments of the bomb struck several persons in the crowd.

King Alfonso and President Loubet had been cheered along the entire route to the opera by enthusiastic crowds.

The gala performance comprised "Samson and Delilah" and "Malatesta" by the King of Spain and President Loubet. The building was surrounded by a brilliant staff, and followed by the Cuirassiers corps and the national police, the house, which was composed of the theatre of French society, arose and cheered, while the orchestra played the Spanish and French national anthems.

The performance went without a hitch. His majesty chattered gaily with President Loubet during the intermissions, and at the close of the performance the Cuirassiers again played the national hymns of the two countries, and the king and president arose to leave.

The space around the opera house was cleared for 200 yards, but the bomb was hurled from a distance of 100 yards, while awaiting the passage of the royal and presidential parties. The bomb was hurled from a distance of 100 yards, while awaiting the passage of the royal and presidential parties.

At the moment of the explosion, cries from the crowd were heard, and a scene of intense excitement began. The king and president were thrown from their horses, and their carriage proceeded on its way.

The bomb had been thrown with great force and passed over the royal carriage and struck the shoulder of a soldier belonging to the Cuirassiers escort on the shoulder and then fell to the ground and exploded without injuring his majesty or the president, who continued their drive to the Palais D'Orsay.

Immediately following the explosion, an individual was seen to dash into the crowd, but men seized him before he could escape, and turned him over to the police. He is believed to have been the author of the outrage.

Many other arrests were effected. The first person arrested was a man about 20 years old, having a criminal record. It is not known whether his wound will be the result of the explosion or by the violent action of the crowd. He refused to talk.

A woman informed the police that she saw the man under a neighbor's eaves, talking to two men just before the explosion. He had something critical to say to the king and president, and she saw him lighting what she now considers to be a fuse, but did not take much notice of him.

Other persons arrested on suspicion of being accomplices in the deed refused to give information. The night excited crowds retained outside the corridors of the opera, and where officers of the national police were searching for fragments of the bomb. At 2 o'clock this morning the prefect of police interrogated those arrested, who described themselves as follows:

Louis Pinaud, 22, a tailor; Marcel Hueton, aged 22, a glass blower; Ferdinand Boler, aged 21, a florist. It is not known whether they belong to the group which organized the outrage. They will be put through a rigorous interrogation. Meanwhile, they are held at the disposition of the police.

KING ALFONSO OF SPAIN,
EMPEROR IS DETERMINED THAT WAR SHALL GO ON

Important Conferences Held But Results a Secret—Press Savagely Attacks Bureaucracy.

Little hope for the Russians can be found in the last dispatches regarding the naval battle off Tsushima. Only four of the vessels of the Japanese fleet are known to have reached Vladivostok, the cruiser Albatross and the torpedo boat destroyers Gossy, Brava and Toraishiki.

The full extent of the Russian casualties in men and officers drowned, wounded or captured is not yet known. The Japanese losses, as reported from Tokyo, are only three torpedo boats sunk, three officers killed and about 200 men killed or disabled. Not one of the big fighting ships of the Japanese navy was lost. It is now definitely known that Vice-Admiral Rojstvensky is captured. He is seriously wounded, it is stated from Tokyo, will recover.

Interest now turns to the situation in Russia as the result of the disaster. The emperor Wednesday summoned to the palace at Tsarskoe Selo all the members of the imperial family and later called into extraordinary council all the ministers of state, and all his ministers of state, and a series of conferences took place as to the course to be pursued. The result of these conferences is not known.

It is believed, however, that the emperor is determined to continue the war. The government is determined to continue the war. The government is determined to continue the war.

Admiral Volsky is supposed to have perished.

"BATTLE OF SEA OF JAPAN"

Togo Christens His Engagement—Prisoner Escaped 2000.

Tokyo, May 31.—(U.S.P. Del.)—In Transiently captured Togo, telegraphing today, says:

"The naval battle fought from the 27th to the 29th of May, in the vicinity of Okino Island, and extending to the vicinity of Orling Island, is called the naval battle of the Sea of Japan."

Admiral Togo also reports that Vice-Admiral Rojstvensky was captured with Admiral Rojstvensky. The Russian prisoners, Admiral Togo says, will be executed.

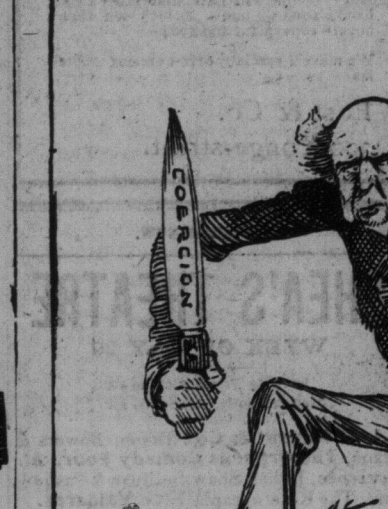

It is now certain that Admiral Rojstvensky is a prisoner of the Japanese. He is wounded in the forehead, legs and back, but will recover. Vice-Admiral Rojstvensky is supposed to have perished.

The reported sinking of the cruiser Jintochi has not been confirmed, and the name of the cruiser is not known. It is suspected that the reported sinking of the cruiser Jintochi has not been confirmed, and the name of the cruiser is not known.

Montreal Conference Closed.

Ottawa, May 31.—The first draft of the constitution of the Dominion of Canada was presented to the conference of the Dominion of Canada yesterday.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Dominion of Canada yesterday, the vacancy created by the death of the late president, George Goodenough, was filled by the election of W. H. Beatty as president.

WILL HE DROP IT?

Concorrist (who would kill the Liberal goose that laid the golden eggs): Call him off, somebody!

Call him off!

NO COERCION LIBERALS MAY HAVE A MAN OF THEIR OWN

Do Not Like Silent Attitude of Mr. Smith and Desertion By Wholesale Predicted.

Woodstock, May 31.—(S.P. Del.)—The political situation in North Oxford is most comforting for the Conservative candidate, and preparations are being made for a lively campaign.

This riding usually presents insurmountable difficulties for a Conservative candidate, and in previous elections no one ever considered for a moment that there was a chance of beating a Liberal. The Sutherland majority was in the neighborhood of 2000, but in the recent provincial election the majority of Col. Munro was out to about 500.

The present contest does not appear to be so uneven. Even the old Liberal candidate, Mr. Smith, is a strong contender in favor of provincial rights. Just how far the Liberals will go in their campaign, it is not apparent yet. But scores of prominent Liberals do not dispute their opposition to the bill.

The Liberal candidate, George Smith, has not yet announced himself on the question. At the convention yesterday T. W. Nesbitt, his opponent for the nomination, came out flat-footed for the government, but Mr. Smith was silent. To-day his silence is unbroken.

It is believed that Mr. Smith's attitude from the public there will be an independent Liberal candidate in the contest. The Conservative candidate, George Smith, is a strong contender in favor of provincial rights.

At the convention yesterday T. W. Nesbitt, his opponent for the nomination, came out flat-footed for the government, but Mr. Smith was silent. To-day his silence is unbroken.

Continued on Page 2.

J. HERBERT MASON RETIRES.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Dominion of Canada yesterday, the vacancy created by the death of the late president, George Goodenough, was filled by the election of W. H. Beatty as president.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Dominion of Canada yesterday, the vacancy created by the death of the late president, George Goodenough, was filled by the election of W. H. Beatty as president.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Dominion of Canada yesterday, the vacancy created by the death of the late president, George Goodenough, was filled by the election of W. H. Beatty as president.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Dominion of Canada yesterday, the vacancy created by the death of the late president, George Goodenough, was filled by the election of W. H. Beatty as president.

FIELDING FOR SPOILS SYSTEM

LIBERALS FOR ALL VACANCIES YEA, EVEN UNTO LABORING MEN

Arch. Campbell Files to Support by Saying It's Tit for Tat for York Co. License Inspector Changes.

Ottawa, May 31.—(Special.)—Condemnation of votes for public works in Quebec led to a discussion in the commonsense today of the spoils system generally. Jean Baptiste Morin pointed out that upon the public work in question it was made a strict rule that only those who had been employed by the government should be considered for the position.

Mr. Fielding had laid down his policy, and urging retaliation in Ontario, he said that in 1900 he asked Sir Perley read the affidavit of men who had been discharged from work on a government pier at Carleton two days before the election just because they attended a political meeting. Mr. Fielding said that the government's principle was not to interfere with a man's right to vote as he pleased. Many of those in the House of Commons were appointed by Conservatives, but he would never dream of interfering with their right to vote as they pleased. Nor would he allow anyone else to interfere. But if a vacancy occurred it would be filled by a Liberal, and even if laborers were wanted on public works, the government would give them the job.

Mr. Taylor said this was not business. What he asked, would be thought of a manufacturer who would employ political partisans? He had men working steadily in his own factory who not only voted, but worked against him at elections, yet he never thought of discharging them. Mr. Morin observed that in 1900 he asked Sir William Mulock to establish a postoffice in a thriving village when it would accommodate 500 people. The postmaster-general refused, but later on he established a couple of postoffices where there were no voters. The postmaster-general refused, but later on he established a couple of postoffices where there were no voters.

Mr. Fielding could sympathize with the member for Dorchester. Only he had asked Sir William Mulock to establish a postoffice in Nova Scotia, and was told that the member for Dorchester was not a Liberal. Mr. Fielding said that he would not be a Liberal.

Mr. Finlay of Peterboro wanted to know what Whitney was doing to the Liberal party. Mr. Barry replied that if Mr. Whitney did as the Liberals did, the Liberal party would be in a better position.

DEATHS.

BRIGALL—On Monday, May 29th, at her late home, 34 Concord-avenue, Toronto, Caroline A. Laing, beloved wife of Joseph J. Brigall, civil clerk passenger department, Canadian Pacific Railway, aged 77 years 5 months and 5 days.

BOWLES—At Bethany, Ont., on Tuesday, May 26th, 1905, Muriel Mary Evans, second daughter of the Rev. P. P. and Mrs. Bowles, of Winnipeg, aged 11 years and 11 months.

BICKNELL—At 37 Cluny-avenue, Toronto, on Wednesday, May 31st, 1905, Clara, beloved wife of James Bicknell, K.C., aged 74 years.

HAWTHORN—On May 30th, at her late residence, 179 River-street, Mary Knox Golden, widow of the late Thomas Hawthorn, aged 74 years.

McANDREW—On May 30th, at 54 Elm-avenue, John McAndrew, late of Argyleville, Scotland, in his 84th year. Funeral private; interment at Restview.

HARRIS—On Tuesday, May 30th, at her late residence, No. 1288 Dundas-street, Nellie Atchison, beloved wife of E. B. Harris, aged 68 years.

McANDREW—On May 30th, at 54 Elm-avenue, John McAndrew, late of Argyleville, Scotland, in his 84th year. Funeral private; interment at Restview.

McANDREW—On May 30th, at 54 Elm-avenue, John McAndrew, late of Argyleville, Scotland, in his 84th year. Funeral private; interment at Restview.

FOUND TRYING TO PASS AS SON OF B. E. WALKER

BOY ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

SAYS LAWYER WAS HIS GUEST TO HUNT EVIDENCE OF FRAUD

Dave Russell Mentions Name of Donald McMaster, K.C., in Connection With Two Big Suits.

St. John, N.B., May 31.—David Russell of Montreal, owner of The St. John Telegraph and The Times, sends a despatch to these newspapers over his own signature giving interesting facts regarding his suit against A. R. Macdonnell, the capitalist, for $25,000, and Macdonnell's suit against him for a similar amount, and dealing also with Donald McMaster, K.C. He says in part:

"In reference to the news item appearing in last night's Montreal Star under big headlines, 'Big lawsuit over financial deal,' between A. Macdonnell and myself, the facts are as follows: On or about the 5th day of March last, Donald McMaster asked me if it were possible for him to spend a few quiet days at Clarendon Springs so that he could carefully examine the papers in the Gaynor and Greene case. I told him that the hotel was not open, and that I would have to have him as my guest at the cottage there, which I keep open all the year, and which he expressed his thanks. The following day Mr. MacMaster phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there. Mr. MacMaster demanded that unless I at once paid Mr. Macdonnell $25,000 for his stock he would issue a writ. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

Mr. MacMaster again phoned me asking if I had any objections to his coming ahead, as I had not the slightest intention of taking back Mr. Russell's stock, which he had bought. I told him that I did not own the Clarendon Springs property, and that there was no deed recorded there.

HORACE VINNING, Hospital Orderly, Takes Dose of Rough on Rats in Bank Manager's House When Latter Refuses to Pay for Coupe.

With no asset but his clothes, hiring a coupe at the King Edward Hotel, driving about the city all day, representing himself as a son of Byron E. Walker, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, taken to the police station because he had no money, finally taking a dose of rough on rats in the billiard room of Mr. Walker's big residence on St. George-street, and now lying at the point of death in the Emergency Hospital—these are the features of what may prove to be the last adventures of Horace Vinning, reporter at the General Hospital.

It was yesterday morning that Vinning came to a well-known cab stand in the city and asked for a victoria. His name, he said, was Walker and he was the son of Byron E. Walker of 59 St. George-street. The lad was well dressed, and had a most prepossessing appearance, and the vehicle was soon forthcoming. From that time on, his day was a dream of opulence.

He loitered back in the carriage and gazed at the liveried coachman driving the fine team of bays, then he gazed about him at the crowds on foot. He had some money, for he dined well, but when he came to the end of his day the cab hire loomed up big before him. On Bloor-street he alighted, and entering a drug store made a purchase, then returned to his cab. Arriving at the King Edward Hotel, he tried to hold the cabman off with promises to pay, and references to his father.

But it was no use, and Vinning was haled before the sergeant at the police station. There he broke down and confessed. He was not Mr. Walker's son, he said, but his valet. If he would only take him to Mr. Walker's place at 59 St. George-street he would secure their money for them.

To Mr. Walker's house he was taken, and on arrival he was asked to interview Mr. Walker privately. He entered the billiard room, and there he met the cabman and his companions knew Vinning was writing in the columns of poisoning from rough on rats. The boy had tried to commit suicide.

The ambulance was called for, and Vinning was hurried to the Emergency. Powerful restoratives were applied, but he did not recover. He was taken to the hospital, and the boy's condition was critical.

Vinning, it will be remembered, was charged about a year ago in the police court with having stolen some money from an Italian patient in the Emergency Hospital. He was acquitted on the charge, and was re-engaged as orderly at the General Hospital.

He is a bright, good-looking little chap of about 19 years of age, and his relatives live in the old country, from which country he came some years ago.

THE LEADING TOBACCO.

Has the largest sale of any private brand. Sold all over Canada. Smokes best, positively not turns the tongue. Sold at a popular price. 1 lb. tin, 1-2 lb. tin, 50c, 1-4 lb. package, 25c. Send for price list. Get it from your tobacconist, or direct from Clubb & Sons, 40 King West.

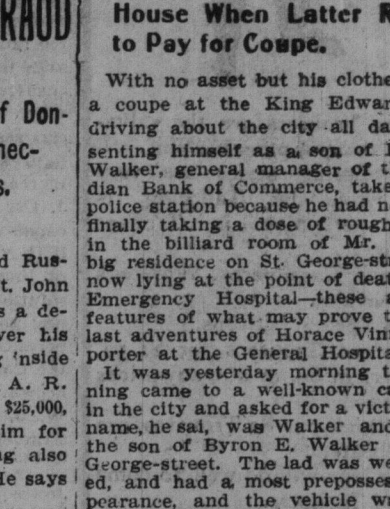

THE WEATHER.

Meteorological Office, Toronto, May 31.—(8 p.m.)—The weather to-day has been fine and decidedly warm from Lake Superior westward to Erie and Ontario and moderately warm from Toronto to the maritime provinces.

Probabilities.

Lower Lakes and Georgian Bay—Southwesterly winds; sea and moderately warm.

Suits or Overcoats pressed 60c. McRachren's, 83 Bay St. Phone M. 2876

CANADA'S Handsomest Paper

THE SUNDAY WORK

Next Sunday's Issue will be unique in Canadian Illustrated Journalism.

More than Half a Thousand Portraits of Young Canadians.

There is no Newspaper in Canada like it.

Besides Printing the most Beautiful Pictures It is the only newspaper that gives the RESULTS OF ALL SPORTS ON SATURDAY

Thirty Hours ahead of all its competitors.

Read the TORONTO SUNDAY WORLD.

5 cents a copy. $2.00 a year.

Union Blue Label Cigars are best.

Bank Clerks.

Rank clerks and others who suffer from tired and aching feet from standing all day should use "Maple Leaf" Canned Salmon. It is the only canned salmon that is absolutely safe for eating, and is sold in 25c per bottle; all druggists.

Bank Clerks.

Rank clerks and others who suffer from tired and aching feet from standing all day should use "Maple Leaf" Canned Salmon. It is the only canned salmon that is absolutely safe for eating, and is sold in 25c per bottle; all druggists.

Bank Clerks.

Rank clerks and others who suffer from tired and aching feet from standing all day should use "Maple Leaf" Canned Salmon. It is the only canned salmon that is absolutely safe for eating, and is sold in 25c per bottle; all druggists.

Bank Clerks.