That unusual and beautiful effects in decorations and objects of art may be obtained by the use of simple materials is an established fact, and now we hear of one of the latest achievements in the art of modeling flowers. It has been discovered in Paris in an ments in the art of modeling flowers. It has been discovered in Paris in an exhibition of flowers and insects modeled from breadcrumb—a unique idea, truly. It was originated and carried out to a marked degree of success by Miss Susanne Meyer, a young Frenchwoman, whose devotion to the work has brought it particularly to the height of perfection. Her latest triumph is the recognition of her work by the French Government, which has just decided to place it in one of the national galleries.

The method of working breadcrumb requires the sculptor's usual skill and patience. Anyone taking it up as a hobby or as serious work must not be discouraged by a few failures in the A pattern of this illustration will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

of modeling may be started, with the natural object at hand for a guide; whether it be an orchid, a rose, a spray of honeysuckle, or some favorite flower, the sculptor must first copy the stalk satisfactorily as to form, leaving the final coloring until the end of the modeling operations, when she may turn her attention to the leaves and flowers. In making these, an ordinary rolling-pin will be found very useful. The breadcrumb should be rolled out until it is of the requisite thickness. From this the leaves or petals may be roughly cut out with a pen-knife, one by one, and finished with the aid of the fingers—that is, by patting, work-by one, and finished with the aid of the fingers—that is, by patting, working, pressing and rubbing the bread-crumb. Thus by slow degrees the flower is built. Undue haste is fatal, for in the early stages of the work there is danger of a complete collapse. Breadcrumb will harden generally in two or three days, and then the final coloring, the shaping and the finishing can be given. A touch of color here and there, put on with a brush, and in exactly the same way as tho painting a picture, will give a realistic touch to the subject. For instance, the glossiness that is found on the stalk of a natural rose can be imparted by a gennatural rose can be imparted by a gentle rubbing with the fingers, or by a slight coating of pure gum arabic. Vice-President Fairbanks passed the right consistency, with the result that the flowers will crack after only a few days' existence. There will be no danger of this if the balls are of the right consistency. Either stale or fresh breadcrumb may be used, and the work should be done in a room of moderate temperature; sudden changes from hot to cold, and vice versa, should be avoided.

Vice-President Fairbanks passed thru Toronto yesterday morning in a special car en route to Quebec. He was accompanied by Mrs. Fairbank Major Mott, secretary, and two aides decamp. He was available for interviewers.

One of the best gymnastic and acrooatic exhibitions which have been seen to the so-called weaker sex. In one act a woman, suspended from a trapeze by her knees, holds another trapeze by her teeth upon which her partner performs a number of difficult tricks. The other act, which is performed by four sisters, is also an exhibition of great strength on the part of the elder sister who, while hanging head downward in the air, holds a bar upon which three of the other girls perform at the same time. The younger sisters are exceedingly pretty and graceful and go thru some thrilling and dangerous evolutions in midair, such as hanging by the toes, heels, back of the neck and chin. The large crowd of spectators expressed their amazement and pleasure by continued applause while the performance was going on.

FIRE PANIC IN SCHOOL.

Many Children Trampled in Crush at Pittsburg Building.

Pittsburg Building.

PITTSBURG, July 21.—Fire in the Holmes Public School caused a panic to-day among 150 children attending the vacation term. The large building rapidly filled with smoke and the children, scattering and almost suffocated, rushed from the structure in great disorder. Many were thrown down and trampled, but none was seriously hurt. Adding much to the confusion was the action of parents of children living near by who congregated in the main doorway and excitedly called the names of their children.

Principal David Brown and several women teachers barely escaped being overcome. Firemen were quickly summoned and the fire extinguished with a trivial loss. Burning waste paper in the basement caused the fire.

Unique Rabbit Hunting Along Lake Frie By Karl Friedrek Schmidt.

The painstaking yet erratic ferret has been thrown out of his job of rabbit-hunting thru the introduction of a novel idea in that sport by an auctic finer located in Delhi, a town in Scuthern Ontario.

By the modern method, Br'er Rabbit is scared out of his subterranean apartments when the hunter roars in terrible tones thru a short length of rubber hose thrust deep into the rabit burrow. Believing that his home is being invaded by sixty feroclous dogs, fourteen elephants and a circus parade, the terrified rabbit hurriedly gathers his family into a coming-out party who rush into the deadiy zone of youths outside with guns, clubs and dogs.

Previous to the Delhi system of rabbit assassination, the sinuous ferret is auctioneer to New York and saw the thrilling into New York and
