ST. JOHN'S MAN'S TRIP AROUND THE WORLD

Harry Dearborn Has Spent the Last Two Years

IN DISTANT CLIMES Interesting Chat With a Local Globe Trotter, Who in His Travels Has Cirled the Earth--He Tells of Strange People.

Harry N. Dearborn, who left St. John about two years ago, has returned to his native burg again after a trip around the world. Mr. Dearborn left here in November, 1903, having for his main object, a change of climate and scene. He found both, and is looking fine after his extensive travels. He has had many interesting experiences, far more in fact than there is space to chronicle, but an outline of his trip will no doubt be of interest to his many friends here.

Leaving St. John he went to Toronto where he visited his sister, who was living there at that time. From there he went to California, where he stayed for some months, stopping for a few days or weeks in almost every town of interest from San Francisco to the southernmost point of Southern California. The longest stay while there, however, was in Redlands, which, he says, is an ideal spot, though it is usually pretty warm, some days the thermometer registering 116 in the shade, and it would be even warmer up in the hills.

He took passage in a bark from San Francisco to the Hawaiian Islands, and owing to adverse winds and calms, it took twenty-seven days to make the trip, whereas sixteen days was the usual time. He spent some time in Honolulu, the capital of Hawaii, and describes the place as almost a paradise. The climate is great, there is no cold weather but continual summer, with all kinds of tropical fruits all the year round. He missed quite a number of the Hawaiian Islands, which is quite easy to learn, he says, on account of their being only thirteen letters in their alphabet.

From Hawaii he went to Japan, and stopped at Kobe, Nagasaki, Yokohama and Tokio, the capital. He says that Japan was entirely different from what he had heard. The new arrival there that Port Arthur had surrendered, the fact from all the surrounding islands assembled in Honolulu and a monster parade, of about sixty thousand gathered with lanterns and fre crackers and marched through the city shouting, "Banzai, banzai," (victory, victory). This was marked contrast to the calm demeanor of the Japs in their own country.

China was the next country visited and here Mr. Dearborn made stops in Shanghai, Hong Kong and Canton. The latter city he describes as the diamond city in the world. A very short stay sufficed for him to see Canton. They have no sewerage system or sanitary arrangements of any kind. Among the wares displayed in the market there, were cats, dogs and birds' nests. These are eaten by the natives, the birds' nests being considered a luxury. They are the nests of several species of birds.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT EXPRESSES DISAPPROVAL

He Will Not Stand for Fads and Fancies of New York's 400 To It

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—President Roosevelt in no uncertain words has distinctly set his stamp of disapproval on the publication in Fads and Fancies of any reference to himself, and incidentally his fads or fancies appear in the publication it will be without his consent, although he admits that he is powerless to prevent it. The matter is now plainly before Colonel Mann, editor of Town Topics, and there can be no question of blame in the article appearing. Colonel Mann has stated that the president gave his consent to the publication, and the latter made it plain that there had been a misunderstanding.

Then in the explanations that followed it was made public that Mrs. Wade Hampton had acted as the intermediary, and the latter deploring the misunderstanding, recently wrote to the president at Oyster Bay. Mrs. Hampton said in part in her recent letter:

"You were so kind and so lovely to me that not for a moment did I suppose I was abusing your confidence."

There was a prompt and characteristic answer from the president and the following is the actual wording of the letter:

On Wednesday evening a grand ball will be given in the rink for the sole pleasure of the visiting knights and their friends. Besides the hosts of Pythians from abroad, the St. Croix Valley Association will arrive from Boston on Monday morning on a special train over the Washington County railway, these visitors will make "an old home week" in the vicinity. A large number are coming to that "there will be something doing" on the St. Croix next week.

IT WOULDN'T MAKE A DIFFERENCE Russia Would Probably Fare Just as Well on Monday as Any Other Day.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 4.—The operation of Tuesday as the day for the opening of the Russian season has been a relief to the minds of many Russians, who had been waiting for the Monday, which to the Moscovites is a day of "no account."

There were, eight deaths in the city during the past week, quite a decrease to the 140 of the previous week. They included the following cases: Phthisis, 2; heart disease, 2; pneumonia, 1; diarrhoea, 1; old age, 1; and cholera infantum, 1.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT. In an apparent endeavor to emphasize his disapproval, in the letter which is typewritten, the president in his own handwriting pictures the "fads" in the next to the last line, and the final words, "these things will appear," are written in ink by him.

MANUAL TRAINING AND EDUCATIONAL FIBRE

The Most Colossal Improvement of Recent Years in Secondary Education--Clear Exposition by Dr. Geo. U. Hay--Rev. A. B. Cohoe Speaks from Experience.

REV. A. B. COHOE

Has Personally Proved the Value of Manual Training

Rev. A. B. Cohoe was interviewed by a Times representative and said: "I attended a manual training school in Woodstock, Ontario, for a year and a half, beginning when I was about eleven years old. This is one of the first of the kind that was established in Ontario."

"I took up carpenter work in the line of cabinet making and wood turning in a small way. They took up forge work to a considerable extent, using twenty-five or thirty forgings. They also taught pattern making."

"From a technical point of view manual training is of considerable value, because it makes a man handy and is thus of practical value to him."

OUR SOLDIERS IN THE HUB

Canadian Regiment Arrived There This Morning En Route to Providence.

BOSTON, Aug. 5.—The 43rd Canadian Regiment, Duke of Cornwall's own Rifles, arrived in this city today, from Ottawa, en route to Providence, R. I., where the regiment will participate in the celebration of British day. The statue object of the day is the introduction of manual training schools, not only because they will give a people a more handy and skilful in trade, but because they will give citizens with widely different occupations a habit of observation, a knowledge of the difference between accuracy and vagueness, and as the nature's complexity and into the inadequacy of all abstract verbal accounts of Russell Sage Actually Took a Holiday on His 89th Birthday--How Dare He?

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Russell Sage would be eighty-ninth birthday today and celebrated it by remaining away from any business, home in Long Island. It is said to be the first time that the aged financier has voluntarily absent himself from his office on his birthday.

THE HALF HOLIDAY

Principal Attraction for This Afternoon is the Big Ball Game.

Among the half holiday attractions for today the baseball match on the Victoria grounds between the St. John's and Portland clubs which is scheduled to start at three p. m. seems to be taking up the most attention of the town. This game was one of the best ever seen here and today's promises to be equally as good.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

From his pillow and wondering why the seven o'clock whistle was blowing for it at eight o'clock.

Thus the respectivity of the mind of the subject must be taken into consideration when seeking to learn at what hour the seven o'clock whistle blows.

A WEIGHTY PROBLEM

"When does the seven o'clock whistle blow?"

This question has roused a controversy of some proportions, and has been referred to the Times new reporter for settlement.

As is well known there are many whistles in St. John which announce the beginning of the day's work. There are thin penetrating whistles, big booming whistles, and whistles of various tones between these extremes.
