THE CAMBRIDGE-HARVARD RACE

Both Crews are Very Fit and an Exciting Contest is Looked for on the Thames Today.

According to despatches, both the Cambridge and Harvard crews are in the pink of condition for their race today.

Referring to the big event, a despatcher from Putney, England, says: There is still very little betting, although the Harvard men are willing to give It to Io. The Englishmen are again a little more confident, for they think they have in the Cambridge rew one of the best university eights they have ever turned out. Guy Nickalls, one of the Cambridge graduates, who has been with the crews constantly since they began work, bet Captain Filley a pound ($50$) that the new Cambridge shell weighed less than Harvard's. To decide the bet the two boats were taken from the water and weighed.

According to despatches, both the Cambridge and Harvard crews are in the pink of condition 2,000 people saw Moosepath and about 2,000 people saw Moosepath and

There is no doubt that Cambridge looks good or that the men are well together, but Harvard has much more life and dash, and the stroke seems less exhausting than that of Cambridge.

Harvard hopes to wear out the Cambridge stroke and pull up in the last mile.

The course will not be staked off for the crews as at New London. Each crew must look out for itself and get into crew must look out for itself and get into the other's water at its peril.

RULES FOR RACE CHANGED. LONDON, Sept. 6. — An important change has been made in the Cambridge-Harvard University boat race rules, signed last night by Captain Goldsmith for Cambridge and Captain Filley for Harward, and by Referee R. C. Lehmann, to the effect that if at any point in the race there should be a serious accident to either boat not due to the fault of any individual and materially affecting the result, the umpire is empowered to restart the race, the same or any other day after consultations with Captains Goldsmith and Filley.

after consultations with Captains Goldsmith and Filley.

Similarly the race may be re-started if either boat should be interfered with by a steamer, barge or other obstacle.

All the morning newspapers today give attention to these sportsmanlike conditions, the Daily Telegraph voicing the consensus of opinion in the declaration that "the spirit of fair race and no favor never was better exemplified."

Two Harbor Races Today.

A large crowd attended St. Andrew's rink last evening when the LaRey children gave another exhibition of their skill on the rollers. The boys' haif mile race was won by Black, of Amherst; time, 1.65½. Black took between W. J. Coates and Hilton Belyea, the Carleton oarsman, for the harbor championship. The course will be one and a half miles with turn, from off the North wharf to a buy off the Baliast wharf and return. This should be a great race.

Following this race there will be a power boat race for boats under the management of the R. K. Y. C. The race will start from Buoy and back, going twice around.

Cambridge starts better than Harvard, and it is very likely that it will lead at the start. Harvard expects to row a stern race most of the way, as she did at New London in '05. But the time trials have shown Harvard very fast and able to go over the full course, and be strong at the finish. Cambridge is always badly used up at the finish and so far has made no up at the finish and so far has made no remarkable time.

The ladies' championship golf series for the maritime provinces ended yesterday in victory for Miss Mabel Thomson, who is again the maritime champion and who is also Canadian champion. The presentation of prizes took place in the club house after Juncheon, which was served by the ladies' committee. The next meet will be in Windsor (N. S.) to which place the members have been cordially invited.

On Thursday afternoon the finals for the Consolation cup in the tournament were played. Six were entered in this competition but it was finally narrowed down to Miss Robertson, of Rothesay, and Miss C. T. Smith. The play on Thursday afternoon resulted in a victory for Miss Robertson. The afternoon tea Thursday, which was in charge of Mrs. Stratton, Miss Furlong and Miss Warner, was an exceptionally bright function. The attendance was very large and all enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

Yesterday afternoon, besides the championship cup, the handicap medal play of eighteen holes took place. The play resulted as follows: 1st prize, Mrs. Chandler, Moncton; 2nd, Miss Tiffin, Moncton.

After tea, which was in charge of Mrs. Franklin Stetson, Mrs. J. Douglas Hazen, Mrs. E. A. Smith, Mrs. Herbert Schofield and Mrs. George K. McLeod, Mrs. George McAvity, vice-president of the maritime association, presented the prizes.

The championship cup with the gold medal which accompanies it went to Miss Mr. Robertson won first prize in the driving competition to Miss M. Robertson won first prize with Miss M. Barker, second. Miss Mary Robertson, of Rothesay, won the consolation cup, and Mrs. Chandler, of Moncton, won the first prize in the middle handicap with Miss Tiffin, of the same place, for second. All players thought a most enjoyable week of golf had been spent here. The afternoon teas, at which the attendance was always large and representative, were especially enjoyed. The ladies' championship golf series for e maritime provinces ended yesterday in

is about the most sensible wardrobe-investment a man can make-provided he chooses Hewson Tweed. Hewson Tweeds are of the purest, best wool and make up into suits that look well from first to last-and that last is a long way off from the day the suit is delivered. Of such firm, soft, beautiful texture, they have always the right hang. There's not the dragging out of shape, the bagging of elbows and knees, or the slouchness about the coat, which is incidental to cheap, shoddy clothes. Shabbiness and Hewson Tweeds don't move in the same circle of things-no matter how worn the Hewson Tweeds get—there's no room for shabbiness in pure wool, woven in the way Hewson Tweeds are made.

There's always an "air"—a tone of quality—about these pure-wool, all-wool fabrics, that means much to the man who realises how appearances count in business.

Before ordering that new suit, ask your dealer to give you samples of Hewson Tweeds. If he doesn't keep them, send to us, mentioning dealer's name, and we'll take pleasure in mailing you samples.

Make a note of the trademark, and see that it is on the goods—for the sake of economy and good looks in clothing.
