

VISITING DOCTOR
LAUDS BYNG CAMPFormer St. John Man Compares Local and Massachusetts Institutions

In the Lady Byng summer camp for undernourished children at Fair Vale St. John had something of which it should be most proud and something which was of the greatest economic value, so Dr. W. Dacre Walker, of Andover, Mass., son of Dr. Thomas Walker, of this city, said yesterday after he had visited the camp and spent a delightful hour with the children on the beach inspecting the camp arrangements.

Dr. Walker was specially interested in the camp as a similar project had been established this year in Middleton, Essex County, Mass., and five children from Andover have been sent to that camp, their expenses being paid by the people of Andover from funds raised by the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals.

It costs $10 a week to maintain these children from Andover, but the camp will last for eight weeks. Taking purely the money side of the question it will cost $400 for the children to spend the summer in camp and if for that sum one child has been saved from developing tuberculosis the expense has been but trifling, in Dr. Walker's opinion. He wished the people would realize the tremendous saving of money as well as the health and happiness which these camps accomplished.

Prevention Work.

Dr. Walker said that there were about 45 children at the Middleton camp and they lived in tents having a central building for a dining room. The site at Middleton did not begin to compare with that at Fair Vale which he thought was absolutely ideal.

The summer camp project, he said, was the big factor in tuberculosis control at the present time and summer camps or preventoria were being established throughout Massachusetts. A thorough examination was made of all the children in the schools and those that were 10 per cent. under weight were next examined by specially trained experts and those with a tendency to tuberculosis were sent to the summer camps, or preventoria. Practically all of the preventoria were conducted in connection with the local tuberculosis sanatorium.

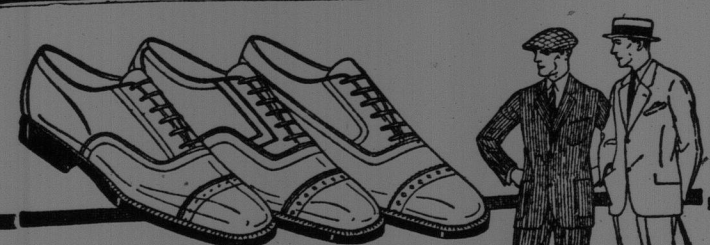

Impressed by Low Cost.

Dr. Walker was particularly impressed by the fact that there has been so much practical interest taken in the Lady Byng camp and said that those who had given towards its support or given the equipment or provisions were doing a work that was the most important health work of today. He understood that the cost of the Lady Byng camp was only $5 a week for each child, just half the cost of the Middleton camp. He was much impressed by the low cost of the Fair Vale camp.

He thought it would be a great thing if more people would visit the camp and see for themselves how happy the children were and how admirably the camp was managed. He had the warmest praise for those in charge and said that they had already accomplished what was being laid down in a year programme in the State of Massachusetts.

THREATENING BLAZE
SOON EXTINGUISHED

The fire department was called out about 12.40 o'clock this morning by an alarm from box 18 on the corner of Carmarthen and Union streets and on arrival found a brick blaze working up the side and through a window to the roof of the warehouse owned by John P. Lynch, dealer in tillage implements, wagons, sleighs, pressed hay and other farm articles. The approach to the warehouse is through an alley at 270 Union street and it is thought that the fire started on the rear outside of the warehouse facing on the Old Burying ground through the careless throwing of a lighted cigar or cigarette by some person passing along the walk. After working up the side of the building the fire worked over the top of the window and was burning between the beams and the ceiling of the building. It was quickly extinguished by a good stream of water.

PATIENT IMPROVES

Arthur is the latest Junior Red Cross patient and he is going to be one of the best. He came to the General Public Hospital a few days ago, an infantile paralysis case, and he has made such very good progress in the few days that his doctors and nurses are sure he will be a complete recovery. He is nine years and ten months old and is a plucky little patient even if he does have to have his foot in a plaster cast. If he had received treatment years ago he need not have been so serious a case and probably had the right measures been taken his case could have been prevented in the first instance. It is believed, however, the Junior Red Cross is going to provide for him the treatment that, it is hoped, will make him a healthy, normal boy and give him every chance in making his way in the world. The Juniors have been especially fond for such cases and have already provided care for about half a dozen children, bringing hope and joy into lives which otherwise would have been dreary days of sickness or might have been cut off untimely.

MANY VISITORS TO
THE FORESTRY CARMoving Pictures and Exhibits Shown in Hampton
—In Rothesay Today

The Canadian Forestry Association's exhibition car arrived at Hampton yesterday afternoon and had many interested visitors for the moving picture demonstration given last night. It will leave Hampton at 9.15 this morning and will be on view in Rothesay today. The car came to St. John on Saturday and will remain until Monday, leaving on Monday for St. George. It had come from Chipman, The Hamptons. There were 100 different exhibits and models shown.

In the Forestry Association's Exhibition car was one panoramic lay-out which could not fail to make an impression upon the beholder. It showed the steady running stream, well kept bridges, prosperous farms and other evidences of well-being in a country with its proper proportion of land in growing forest. Immediately adjoining was shown the same area after a forest fire had swept through, the stream dry, with spots where food had gullied away its banks, the bridge broken down, the farms gone except for a few crumbling ruins, the hillsides bare save for blackened stumps and ramplakes.

From the Motherland will come over 400 of her most outstanding sons, the United States is sending as many more for lecture room and laboratory, while each Province of Canada is to be fully represented. Since it has been announced that the majority of the addresses are to be couched in non-technical terms, it is expected that several thousand Canadians will become members of the
