MANY WANT TO COME HERE FROM OLD COUNTRY

Sir George McL. Brown
Speaks of Conditions in England

Other Prominent People Arrived in Quebec Yesterday on S. S. Melita—St. John Lady Home and Two Others Sail for Motherland.

Quebec, Oct. 7.—The Canadian Pacific 14,000 tons steamship Melita, from Antwerp, Southampton and Cherbourg, in command of Captain G. Hamilton, docked at Quebec yesterday morning at four o'clock with 600 passengers, including 323 cabin and 266 third class, 1,500 bags of mail, 136 parcels of express for Quebec and general miscellaneous cargo. The third class passengers, an excellent aggregation, were landed at seven o'clock for immigration inspection and C. P. R. representatives sent them to their western destinations on a special train at ten o'clock. The Melita with her cabin passengers left for Montreal at eight o'clock. Among the cabin passengers were Mrs. P. Larkin, wife of the Canadian High Commissioner to England; Sir George McL. Brown, European traffic manager of the C. P. R. in London; Colonel J. Obed Smith, Canadian superintendent of immigration in London; Surgeon Rear Admiral C. M. Beadnell, of Portsmouth, Eng., who is on his way to Washington to represent the British navy and army at the U. S. military and naval congress in Washington, Oct. 12 to 14, and who is accompanied by Mrs. Beadnell; Hon. Mrs. Shaworth King, wife of Brig-General W. B. King of London, Ont.

Among the returned Canadians was Miss L. Austin of St. John.

Colonel J. Obed Smith said he had been sent for by the minister of immigration, no doubt to confer on the question of immigration. He said immigration was a matter of demand and supply. The Canadian government did not want to encourage new settlers who would come over here to crowd an overstocked community which was suffering from people out of employment and was therefore careful of the immigrants who left their country. Speaking for his office in Great Britain, he said they were perfectly organized and all they waited for was for the Canadian department of immigration to give the order when the Canadian organization in Great Britain would get to work immediately to provide the supply of new settlers in demand.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Fanjoy-Clark.
A wedding of much interest to many friends in the province was solemnized at the Baptist church at Centreville on Wednesday, Oct. 4, when Miss Dorothy Clark, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Clark, of Centreville, was united in marriage to Edward Fanjoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fanjoy, of Boston, formerly of St. John. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and there was a large gathering of friends and relatives to witness the ceremony. Rev. Mr. Bell, the pastor of the Centreville Baptist church, was assisted by Rev. Mr. B. B. B. of Presque Isle, in performing the ceremony. The bride looked charming in her wedding gown, and wore a veil and orange blossoms. Her sister, Miss Phyllis Clark, was bridesmaid and was very prettily dressed in orange and white. The bride carried a shower bouquet of white roses and the bridesmaid's bouquet was of pink roses. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Frank Fanjoy, brother of the groom, was groomsmen. During the ceremony Miss Reid sang a solo effectively. A buffet luncheon was served following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Fanjoy left by automobile immediately afterwards on their wedding tour to the United States. The bride's traveling dress was of blue tulle with a hat of the same shade as the embroidery, and she wore a mink tie. Mr. and Mrs. Fanjoy have the good wishes of a host of friends. Many out of town guests were present at the wedding, among them Mrs. S. J. Rowley, of St. John, a sister of the groom.

HOMICIDE COURT BEGINS ITS WORK

Hereafter Cases of Murder
Will be Publicly Investigated in New York.

New York, Oct. 5.—New York's first Homicide Court was opened this week in what was formerly Police Court at 800 Mulberry street, where hereafter all cases of manslaughter or murder not taken directly to the Grand Jury will be referred to the District Attorney's Homicide Bureau. Chief Magistrate William McAdoo, Joab A. Banton, district attorney, and Magistrate Frederick B. House, speaking at the opening exercises, pointed out that the new court would provide a means of publicly investigating killings of all kinds, similar to that which disappeared with the abolition of the old coroner's office.

The first case to come up in the new court was that of Isadore Renet, driver of a fruit wagon, who was charged by Policemen Robert Burns with having run over and killed Getzel Sahin in East Houston street two weeks ago. Magistrate House held Renet in $1,000 bail and adjourned the hearing until Friday in order that witnesses might be summoned.

To curb Drivers and Gamblers.
Describing the court as "a clearing house for all kinds of fatal accidents and deaths," Magistrate McAdoo said that its existence would be justified if it handled street killings only due to careless and reckless driving. He expressed the hope that some reckless driver guilty of causing the loss of life would be brought to justice through the new court, so that the public would understand that neither wealth nor influence could interfere with the city's campaign to protect human life on the street.

"This court," he said, "will reach two of our greatest evils—the selfish, reckless driver, who is no better than a murderer, and the pistol carrier, the gunman, who terrorizes the community."

The chief magistrate declared gunting to be the curse of the country and predicted that Congress would eventually abolish the manufacture as well as the carrying of small arms.

District Attorney Banton pointed out that the court would not only prosecute careless drivers, but would protect innocent drivers where the carelessness was on the part of the pedestrian. Sixty per cent. of the cases showed carelessness on the pedestrian's part, he said.

"There is no prejudice against the automobile as such," declared Magistrate House, "but there are 3,500,000 persons walking the streets every day as against 300,000 in cars. The three and a half million walkers are entitled to consideration."

The new court was opened with a blessing by the Rev. Robert F. Keegan, representing Archbishop Hayes, while the Rev. Dr. Henry Labrecque pronounced the benediction. Dr. Charles R. Norris, chief medical examiner, Dr. Otto Scholze of the district attorney's office also spoke.

THE ESKIMO AND OUR COURTS

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—(By Canadian Press.)—Eskimo philosophy, failing to comprehend the justice of a punishment for crimes, is likely to put an end to the time at least, to the bringing of natives to the Far North out to civilization for trial for murder. The Eskimo, especially when he or one of his fellows, has admitted killing a white man, finds it extremely difficult to understand why the red-coated mounted policeman, representative of the White Man's law, should not shoot him on sight, but instead should bring him out to civilization where a big white chief, dressed like a woman, sits on a bench and hears another white chief say, on the Eskimo's behalf, that though he killed the white man in question he should not be punished. Several natives having been brought out to civilization for trial, given good treatment and then returned to their own people rather than when they left, the Eskimo mind has been unable to understand this situation when all of the murderers' friends had given them up for dead, in some cases the men having confessed to the murders of white men.

Because of this confusion in the minds of the natives, it is likely that the alleged Eskimo murders now being held at Herschel Island will be tried there, by a specially constituted court which will leave Edmonton next spring for the purpose. In the meantime the Eskimos are being given their preliminary trials before Inspector Wood, of the R. C. M. P., who is in charge there.

One of the alleged murderers to be tried by the special court next spring is Alkomiak, who confessed to the murder of Corporal Doak and Otto Binder of the natives' Bay Co. According to the statement of Alkomiak to Inspector Wood he had been arrested by Doak for his share in other murders, and had determined that rather than be brought out to civilization he would end his life. He therefore shot Doak while the latter was lying asleep, with the idea "that Doak would get mad, seize his revolver and shoot him (the Eskimo) dead."

After shooting Doak, the report states, the native waited outside the police buildings for some time for Doak to come out and shoot him. Then when he saw the Hudson's Bay man approaching the police quarters the native shot Binder, and with the help of a native woman placed his body in the buildings and started for a seal camp, where other Mounted Policemen were located. Before reaching there he was persuaded by other Eskimos to give himself again into custody and did so.

A multiple killing affair is also reported by Inspector Wood at Kent Peninsula, when natives Hialagagus, Ipkukwak, Harmak and his wife, Pugnana and a child named Okolittana were killed and Hialagagus was wounded by Pugnana and Tatamagna. Pugnana, referred to as the chief, was subsequently killed by Alkomiak with the assistance of Tatamagna, according to the natives' story, because he wanted to kill more natives. Alkomiak and Tatamagna were arrested and brought to three River detachment, where the rascal committed the murder of the corporal and his wife. The killing of the child was looked upon by the other natives as an act of kindness, according to the report received, on the grounds that both the per-
