

Impressive Ceremonies At The Cathedral

BISHOP LEBLANC RECEIVES ADDRESS AND CHECK FROM PEOPLE

Amount of $3,100 Will be Applied to School Building Fund—Solemn Benediction Follows.

Impressive service marked the reception given last night by the clergy and laity of the diocese to His Lordship LeBlanc on the occasion of his return from Rome. The reception took place at the cathedral, which was filled to capacity. Members of the fourth-degree assembly, Knights of Columbus, met a guard of honor while His Lordship, escorted by the priests and laymen, entered the palace to the church. Upon his entry to the sanctuary, the address of welcome was read by Rev. J. J. Walsh, and the presentation of a check for $3,100 made on behalf of the congregations of the city and suburban parishes by Rev. J. J. Walsh, V. G. O. The bishop announced that with the permission of the people he had applied the check to the school building fund. The bishop then officiated at solemn benediction, assisted by Rev. J. J. Ryan, Rev. J. J. Walsh, and Rev. J. J. Walsh, V. G. O.

Just before the procession the chimes of the cathedral rang out in praise of the "Ave Maria" and the "Ave Maria" of the boys' choir, led by Rev. A. P. A. sang several hymns and they were accompanied by the organist, A. S. Goddard. Rev. J. J. Walsh, V. G. O. then read the address to the bishop and presented it to him while the check was sent by Rev. J. J. Walsh, V. G. O. The bishop then officiated at solemn benediction, assisted by Rev. J. J. Ryan, Rev. J. J. Walsh, and Rev. J. J. Walsh, V. G. O.

Following your lordship with joyful solicitude on your journey to me, since we were well aware it was undertaken merely for pleasure, in order to fulfill an important duty of the sacred canon on you, the Catholic bishop, namely, to visit the crown pontiff in person at stated intervals to give the chief pastor of the diocese committed to your care, at the same time to venerate the memory of the blessed apostles Peter and Paul, the founders of that Roman see which God has established as the center of Catholic faith and unity. We feel it must have been a source of satisfaction to your lordship to be able to assure the holy father that his children of the diocese of Saint John are devotedly attached to the principles and practices of their religion, and that they are animated with sentiments of the most profound respect and veneration for himself personally and for the exalted office of Our Lord's vicar on earth, the supreme visible head of His church.

We congratulate your lordship especially because of the unique privilege which it was your good fortune to endure during your visit to the eternal city of being present in the basilica of St. Peter, at the impressive ceremonies of the consecration, with the pomp and majestic ritual of the holy religion, of the national hero of France, St. Joan of Arc. St. Joan of Arc, the gentle saint of the red heart, and of the beatification of venerable martyr prelate, Blessed Oliver Plunkett, the glory of the Irish church. We rejoice today to have your lordship once more in our midst. We know you have come back to us inspired with a generous resolve to continue your work in the Lord's vineyard with all your accustomed zeal and energy. We are God, therefore, to those your labors to render them fruitful for many years to come, and we assure you that whatever you undertake for the glory of God and the advancement of religion the diocese you may always rely on giving our hearty goodwill and co-operation. We ask your lordship to accept this as a token of our respect and esteem.

Signed: JOHN J. WALSH, V. G. O.,
J. H. COHOLAN, Secretary.

shop's Reply.
I greatly appreciate your kind words of welcome. They are the greetings of a people and are worthy of the best of the Irish race. Your lordship at all times has been very kind and it is exceeded only by the joy of heart which prompted you to me this demonstration of esteem to present to me this very substantial check. I accept it with a great heart and with your permission I use it for a purpose dear to us all, school building fund. We have known that all things shall flourish below; there is one thing, however, which shall not perish and that is the memory of your very kind deeds and your never failing loyalty and devotion towards me and this mark of grace and devotion will be to me an inspiration to work with greater zeal and

SCHOOL CLOSINGS

The closing exercises of the Mount Pleasant Academy held yesterday morning were carried out very prettily and effectively. The children took their parts with precision, reflecting credit on the sisters and on their own application. A large number of visitors were present, including the parents of the children. Rev. J. J. Walsh was one of the earliest to arrive and he took great interest watching the exercises. Judge H. O. McInerney and Mrs. McInerney were also among the guests and the judge addressed the children after the programme. There are about thirty pupils in the academy, where grades one and two are taught, and all of the children took part in the exercises. A very pretty floral dialogue was the opening number and the twenty little performers gave a dainty presentation. A duet came next and dolls and other musical numbers rounded out the pleasing programme.

Protestant Orphanage.
The closing exercises and the presentation of the prizes for the children at the Protestant Orphanage in Britain street, took place privately yesterday morning, as some of the children were quarantined for whooping-cough. The exhibition of the children's work was excellent and showed that they had taken great pains and interest in their studies under Miss Nellie Vanwert. The usual dinner was supplemented substantially with gifts from friends of the children. John Sealey gave a fourteen-pound salmon and Mrs. W. Edmond Raymond a five-quart freezer of ice-cream. Miss A. C. Frost, the matron, has some forty-four children in her care now and each one, even those who are quarantined, are given a good time yesterday. Mrs. Raymond presented the prizes to the children and they were awarded as follows: Mrs. and Mrs. Raymond's prizes, prayer book and hymnal, won by Ellen Morley; knife, won by Mulligan; Puddington; H. Edmond; watch, won by Clifford Rymington; gold pin, won by Alice Armstrong; Miss M. Sydney Smith's prize, gold pin, won by Helen Foster.

Brother at Canonization.
Then we had, three days afterwards, the canonization of St. Gabriel and St. Margaret Mary. Gabriel died while a novice and although there was nothing outstanding in his life so many miracles were performed afterwards that he was beatified. His own brother is still living and had the great honor of taking part in the canonization ceremony. St. Margaret Mary is the one who had the revelations concerning the Sacred Heart when the Lord appeared to her several times. It is to be hoped that the canonization will spread the devotion to the Sacred Heart.

Then we had the canonization of Joan of Arc, the little girl, seventeen years old, who placed herself at the head of the French army and delivered her country from the enemy. She probably died in France from becoming a Protestant country as it was likely that the country would have remained under the power of the English. Then followed the canonization of Anna Maria, who when her husband was still living, became a saint, and she should be a great example in the lives of all married women of the world. At the beginning of June we had the beatification of twenty-five African negroes, aged fourteen to twenty-five, who had become Catholics and were compelled to gather up the wood which they were later burned when they suffered martyrdom.

Then followed the beatification of Oliver Plunkett, who was murdered on account of his deeds for God. He was betrayed by a Franciscan friar, was condemned by an English judge and died on the scaffold. The one great consolation to assist in the midst of her trials was to assist in the beatification of Oliver Plunkett and it is hoped that by his intercession he will obtain for Ireland what human means cannot obtain.

Coming back from Europe I came home with a firm conviction that in no part of the world is our religion stronger and more practised than in our own Canadian country. I do not say that we have a greater faith, but I do make bold to say that in no place is Catholicity stronger or the faith purer than in Canada and in our own diocese. The devotion of the Sacred Heart was preached here forty years before the vision of Margaret Mary by the Ursuline Nuns and two centuries before the dogma of the Immaculate Conception was accepted. It was preached here in Canada by St. John. We can take a splendid example from those Catholic soldiers who, after being five years in the war, came out of it stronger in faith; they edified us by receiving Holy Communion every morning on board ship on the way home.

The Holy Father has been pleased to grant me the privilege of imparting to you the papal blessing. He wishes you who receive that blessing to go to confession and receive Holy Communion so I shall wait until another occasion to impart it; the date shall be announced later.

I am also pleased to announce that while I was in Rome he bestowed two great honors on our clergy of the diocese, making Monsignor Walsh and Father O'Flaherty domestic prelates, and take this occasion to congratulate them.
