THE WAR TODAY.

If the rumor is true that Germany's reply to President Wilson will deny the charge of German cruelties and insist that submarine warfare shall be carried on until an armistice is agreed upon, there need be no further correspondence. President Wilson has the proof of the cruelties, and will not stop to discuss the matter of the submarines.

Meanwhile the Belgian coast has been cleared of the enemy, the cities of Tourcoing and Roubaix have followed Lille into British hands, and all along the western front the Allied success continues. The Belgians are taking vengeance upon the retreating enemy, whose losses in the retreat through the gap between the Allied lines and the Dutch frontier are believed to be very heavy. One correspondent writes:

"The speed with which the German armies are retreating from Belgium and Northern France makes it appear that they are twice as anxious to get out now as they were to get in four years ago. The country, freed from the Hun, today is wild with joy."

A Vienna report says that Baron Burian, the Austrian premier, has resigned. One of last night's cables said that the Czechs were masters of Prague, in Bohemia, and other news tells of the fast rising whirlwind in the dual monarchy. The Allied forces in Serbia are slowly but surely moving nearer to the Austrian border.

We cannot read without emotion the story of the joy of the people in the French and Belgian cities and towns delivered from the iron heel of the Hun. They have suffered much and the time has been long, but the long night is over and past, and for them there will be no repetition of the horrors of German occupation.

There is much interest in the reply of Germany to President Wilson, which may be sent today. It is, however, of secondary importance, unless it amounts to unconditional surrender. Marshal Foch is the real peace-maker, and he is going strong.

IT HAD TO BE.

Civilization has been saved. Its evils have been cast out. The high priest of barbarism has been overthrown, and the world is a better world in which to live. This war had to be. The time had come in the history of human development when democracy must assert itself or perish from the earth. The struggle is not yet over, but there is no doubt about the result.

It was Mirabeau who said that war was the national industry of the Prussians. There came a time in Prussian history when war throttled the aspirations of a group of the Prussian people who were of democratic tendency, and from that hour until August, 1914, military autocracy moved steadily forward, enlarging its vision and its aims until nothing short of world domination would satisfy its ambitions.

There was in Prussia, in 1866, a radical party, but the war with Austria, which added more territory to the duchies of Schleswig-Holstein, already taken from Denmark, completely dashed its hopes. For four years Bismarck had been carrying on the government without legislative consent, but military success resulted in the election of a legislative chamber in every way subservient. The north German states entered into a confederation in which Prussia was the dominant force. The war with France brought in the south German states, the German empire was formed, and the King of Prussia became also Emperor of Germany. Bismarck ruled long as German Chancellor and Prussian premier, but the present Kaiser dismissed him and proceeded to rule in accordance with his own theories of divine right. From the first triumph by Prussia over Denmark she has been the ruling force among the German states. Her national industry, war, had succeeded beyond her wildest dreams. But under her tutelage the German empire also became great in industry and commerce, acquired colonies, and began to dream of world-domination. Her philosophers, teachers and preachers became subservient to the military autocracy. The whole people became persuaded that it was their mission to impose their Kultur upon the world.

The democracies of the world were late in learning what was in the mind of Germany—so late that she came near to the accomplishment of her purpose. More than four years of war, costing millions of lives, has burned the lesson into their very souls, and it is unbelievable that they will now stop short of such a victory and such a reconstruction of the map of Europe as will save posterity from any new outbreak of German barbarism. The Prussian eagle must be effectively caged. Democracy, triumphant in the field, must let no Prussian schemer rob the world of the smallest portion of the fruits of victory.

Since places of public assembly have been closed some people are learning that they have a home, and that it is not a half-bad place, after all.

GERMAN HYPOCRISY.

One German newspaper refers to Germany's wish "to end the war before all Europe is destroyed." The hypocrisy of the Hun is colossal. So long as Europe was being destroyed in the interests of Germany there was no complaint, but joyful jubilation. Now that it is Germany's turn to face destruction there is a sudden awakening of pity for unhappy Europe. This tardy conversion will do Germany no good. She must pay the price. The people of the Allied countries are able to look with perfect complacency upon the spectacle of disruption and torment which is today presented in Germany and Austria. Their minds are made up. They are not moved by what the Central Powers are now saying, but what has been done by them in the last four years. The day of reckoning has come. Belgium and France will soon see the last of German armies on their soil. Germany knows it, and with each day's news of further humiliation and disaster on the western front, and of growing disaffection in Austria and Turkey, the more eager she becomes to prevent invasion of her own soil. The appeal was made to President Wilson rather than to the other Allies because it was hoped the American president could be more easily hoodwinked. His stern reply dashed that hope. Europe is not to be destroyed, however, but saved; and if the war must be carried into next year to effect that purpose the Allies will not hesitate. Foch will finish his task, not of destroying Europe, but the Prussian militarism which has been so long its curse.

THE APPEAL TO CANADA.

The Dominion of Canada, in order to do her duty in the war, and also keep business conditions at home in a condition of prosperity, must raise $600,000,000. Loans cannot be placed in England or the United States, for those countries are under the same burden of necessity arising from the war. They, with Canada, are spending vast sums now to guarantee their future from spoliation by the Hun.

But Canada can borrow this money from her own people. They have it for they are very prosperous. It is only a question of making them see the need and the urgency of it, and their fidelity to the men who are offering or have given their lives for Canada will ensure the subscription of the whole amount. It is not as if the government were embarking upon an enterprise that might be deferred. The money must be raised. The war will not wait. The nearer we are to the end of the war the greater the need of the supreme final effort which will ensure complete victory.

The Victory Loan offers a good return to the investor, and the Dominion of Canada as security. It will not be enough, however, for people to invest merely the surplus they may have been thinking of investing here or there. They must pinch themselves a little, in order to be able to buy another Victory Bond. It will always be to them a source of the highest gratification that they did this for the war, for the men at the front, and for the cause of civilization. Nor is it self-denial. It is good business.

If there is a merchant in St. John who does not want a Liberty Loan poster in his window his customers should attend to his case without losing any time about it.

Hu Shi Chang, who is the army's candidate for the presidency of China.

COLDS

BEYOND THE TIDE

Out in the storm my boat rocks to and fro,
But I am safe from danger here, I know.
For God in love my skiff so frail shall guide
Beyond the tide.

What though the storms so fierce about me rage,
And all the world in war at last engage?
Secure in faith and love my boat shall ride
Beyond the tide!

A vision ever haunts me day by day
A sacred light is shining on my way.
For those I love, in blessed peace abide,
Beyond the tide.

The song of ransomed spirits now I hear,
Above the strife it rises sweet and clear,
And I at last shall join the glorified
Beyond the tide.
—Martha A. Kidder, in The Living Church.

LIGHTER VEIN

A Convenience.
Customer—You have placed all the large berries on top.
Fruit Peddler—Yes, lady. That saves you the trouble of hunting through the box for 'em.

Homesly Phil.
Mr. Muggs (relating his adventures)—And starvation stared me in the face. I was so hungry I ate anything I could get my hands on.
Miss Bright—Unpleasant for both of you, I should think.

Hereditary.
"What a cool and indifferent air Cora has! She acts as if she didn't know anybody was looking at her."
"Yes," she inherits that. Her father used to fry griddlecakes in the window of a restaurant."

Wants Too Much.
Adeline—When I marry I shall select a man who resembles an arc light.
May—Gracious! In what way?
Adeline—Not go out at night and never smoke.

It Was.
"Was it a high fever your husband had?"
"Well, we didn't think so until the doctor sent him in his bill."

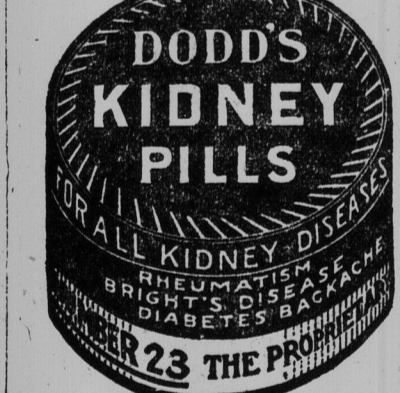

Dedging It.
"What do you do when a woman asks your advice?"
"Switch off to the subject of her good looks."—Kansas City Journal.

How Free! How Free!
How tender home grown lettuce looks in the catalogue pictures!—Detroit Free Press.

Where He Saw It.
"I see the girls are wearing very short bathing suits this season."
"Where did you see that?" demanded his wife.
"In a magazine," he explained hastily.

The Considerate Man.
The boss called the typist to his room. "Miss Keytap, you are a very pretty young woman."
"Oh!" said Miss Keytap, blushing.
"You dress neatly and you have a well modulated voice. I might add that your deportment is in the highest degree commendable."
"You shouldn't pay me so many compliments."
"I only want to put you in a cheerful frame of mind," said the boss, "before taking up the matter of your spelling and punctuation."

SPANISH INFLUENZA RAGES IN CANADA

Thousands of Cases Reported With Many Deaths

THOSE WHO ARE MOST SUSCEPTIBLE TO IT

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" — The Wonderful Fruit Medicine — Gives the Power To Resist This Disease.

The epidemic of Spanish Influenza which played such havoc in Europe, has reached this continent. Thousands of cases of the strange malady have appeared and many deaths are already reported. Surgeon-General Blue of the United States Public Health Service has stated that "Spanish Influenza will probably spread all over the country in six weeks."

Practically every ship which touches our shores from abroad, brings those infected with the disease. Surgeon-General Blue urges that "the individual take all the precautions he can against contracting the disease by care and personal hygiene." Plenty of exercise should be taken; the diet should be regulated, etc.

Spanish Influenza affects most severely elderly persons and others whose powers of resistance are weakened by illness, work or worry, especially those who are "run-down" or "not feeling up to the mark."

The really great danger from the disease is not so much in the disease itself, as that it often develops into pneumonia.

What everyone needs now is a general tonic like "Fruit-a-lives." This wonderful fruit medicine is not a germ-killer. It is a body-builder; a strength-maker; a blood-purifier; a power in protecting against the ravages of disease.

"Fruit-a-lives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended. "Fruit-a-lives" keeps the skin active, and purifies and enriches the blood. "Fruit-a-lives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, insuring food being properly digested and assimilated.

Everyone can take ordinary precautions, avoid crowded places, and use "Fruit-a-lives" regularly to insure sound digestion, to keep the bowels and kidneys regular and the whole system in the best possible condition. Then we are safe from disease.

"Fruit-a-lives" is sold by dealers everywhere at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, total size 25c or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Since the Germans like Wagnerian titles, why not change the name of the Hindenburg line to "The Flying Dutchman Line?"—New York World.

SENDING CARRIER PIGEONS BY BALLOON.
To increase the usefulness of pigeons in warfare, wire cages, each just large enough for one bird, are now in use, says the November Popular Mechanics Magazine. The cages carry grain for the birds, and pencils and paper for marooned dispatch writers. They are attached to small balloons that are used when wind conditions are favorable, and also to parachutes designed to be dropped from low-flying aeroplanes. On the other hand, several of them may be strapped to a trained dog and conveyed by him to the desired point. All of which is for the purpose of establishing communication with detachments that become cut off from the main body of troops and, while resisting capture, are no means of immediate escape without outside assistance. The wire cages are arranged so that the birds may be fed without being removed from them, and, furthermore, messages may be inserted in the pellets the pigeons carry without the latter being handled, or even touched.

WHOLESALE DEATH OF BEES DUE TO POISONED FLOWERS.
Thousands of bees are reported to have been killed by poisoned flowers in the mountains of southern California, according to the November Popular Mechanics Magazine. The work is believed to be that of German agents and sympathizers. Armed guards have been stationed in many of the bee districts, and a reward of $5,000 has been offered by the California Association of Bee Raisers for the capture of the miscreants.
