

ST. GEORGE'S DAY PLANS COMPLETED

Quarterly Meeting of Society Last Evening—Church Service and Dinner.

Arrangements for the annual observance of St. George's Day were made at the quarterly meeting of St. George's Society, last night, in the Pythian Castle with R. G. Schofield, president, in the chair and a good attendance of members. It was decided to observe the day, April 23, with a dinner at the Royal Hotel. His Lordship, Bishop Richardson, of Fredericton, will deliver the oration on that occasion and there will be an excellent musical programme. The annual attendance at divine service will be at Trinity church on April 26, when the chaplain, Rev. J. V. Young, will be the preacher and Rev. C. Gordon Lawrence, rector of Trinity church, will assist. The society decided to join the League of Nations Society as a corporate member.

THE GREAT HAND CLEANER

There was considerable discussion regarding the predominance of American magazines and American literature over Canadian and English literature being read here. A committee was appointed to see what action the society might take in the matter. Eight new members were welcomed. The reports of standing committees were received and the charity committee referred to the unusually large number of calls for relief, especially during the winter and from among the floating population of Englishmen.

Symbols of health and happiness

Fairy grains that raise and keep them in the children's cheeks

RED, rosy cheeks are the symbols of healthy childhood. Sparkling eyes, the challenge of good health.

The wonderful fairy grains, puffed to eight times normal size, give rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes.

Changeable appetites of childhood demand variety. These fascinating grains meet every demand in the many ways they may be served.

At meal time or in the evening, serve them with milk or cream. After school, the children like to fill their pockets with these delicious nut-like grains.

Quaker Puffed Rice and Quaker Puffed Wheat are the whole grains, rich in minerals and carbohydrates. Milk or cream adds vitamins. They satisfy youthful hunger but do not tax youthful digestion. All cooked, ready to serve.

Your grocer has Quaker Puffed Wheat and Quaker Puffed Rice. For variety, keep a package of each in the house all the time.

For Lunch Time

Try puffed grains for lunch, either with or without meat. When you are fatigued, they bring sustenance without uncomfortable heaviness.
