THE LITTLE FEET THAT FOLLOW ME.

BY MARY B. SKEIGHT.

One morn, as through the drifted snow, In selfish haste I made my way, "Papa, I'm walking in your steps," I heard a voice behind me say.

THE HOME.

Ida Lewis at Home.

Running from the mainland of the city of Newport, Rhode Island, into the west side of its harbor, is a lag, staunchly built wharf, says Ellen Le Gault, in the Ladies' Home Journal.

When signs of wear appear, it is much better to darn back and forth with threads of the linen from the trimming which should have been saved when the cloth was made up, than to put on a patch.

Berthing Cattle.

When the horn can be felt to be movable in the calf will be the best time to dehorn. The shells of the horns, like human nails, are secreted by the skin, but the bony horn by the periosteum that covers the bone of the skull.

Value of Hard Wood Ashes.

Good hard wood ashes at twelve and a half cents per bushel are cheap as a fertilizer, but three barrels is scarcely enough per acre for potatoes, even with one barrel of raw bone and ninety pounds of plaster.

Care of Table Linen.

In buying tablecloths and napkins it is always best to get good quality. Not only will it wear much longer, but it gives the table a richer appearance than an inferior quality of linen.

The Laying Hen.

There's lots of folks that love a horse about as well as they know how. We ain't all built alike, of course.

Practical Sayings.

—Cann shells are good to scrape kettles and frying-pans. —Old matting may still be serviceable by putting it under carpets.

TEMPERANCE.

—Of 40,788 commitments in Ireland during the past year 19,175 were for drunkenness. —The money paid in one year for three glasses of beer a day would pay the rent for a small suite of rooms for one year.

THE FARM.

—It is always safe to hitch your horse. —Milk and bran for growth; milk and corn-meal for fat.

That Tired Feeling.

Is often the forerunner of serious illness, which may be broken up if good tonic like Hood's Sarsaparilla is taken in season. This medicine invigorates the kidneys and liver to remove the waste from the system, purifies the blood and builds up the strength.

Women as Money-Savers.

The fact that women are economical and money-savers is difficult to impress upon the minds of men as a class. The methods adopted by women are sensible and practical, sometimes ludicrous, and often pathetic, according to the position in which they are placed in regard to the amounts which fall to their lots to dispose of.

Corns in Horses.

A corn is an easy thing to get, but a hard thing to get rid of. Corns are caused by bruises and undue pressure of a badly fitting shoe. Like a blood blister in man, they are quickly relieved by removing the cause and letting out the blood.
