Mr. Colhurst, will be present and will meet the members of the congregation. An attractive programme has been arranged, refreshments will be served and an enjoyable evening is planned.

New Deacons Chosen.
Following the Wednesday evening service in Waterloo street Baptist church last evening a business meeting was held when the following were added to the present deaconate of the church: E. Duval, N. Galley, and B. Danfield. Words of welcome were spoken by the pastor, Rev. F. H. Westworth, Deacon J. Patterson, Thomas Robinson and Clerk Jacob Smith.

The North End Revival.
The service in the Victoria street Baptist church last evening was well attended. Rev. A. D. Paul took his text from the first Psalm, "Restore unto me the salvation of Thy Thy," and delivered a very able sermon. The Rev. A. D. Paul will preach in the Victoria street Baptist church every night this week except Saturday, when on Sunday, and every evening next week.

Meeting in Y. M. C. A.
The meeting in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. held last evening in connection with the week of prayer was addressed by W. H. MacParlane. The lecture consisted of two topics, home and foreign. The foreign topic "Asia" was well handled and an interesting history of the work of the boys' department in Rangoon was given. The home topic, "Extension," touched on the obligation of the local churches to modify and enlarge their methods so as to more adequately reach the unevangelized men for the increase of Bibles for the meetings in abandoned factories and other unconventional places.

MAY BE LABOR TROUBLE ON THE WATER FRONT

Unless All Ship Laborers Join International Union, Railway Freight Handlers will Not Work with them.

There may be trouble on the water front when winter navigation opens, because of the decision of the railway freight handlers' union not to handle freight unloaded from the steamers by members of the new Ship Laborers' Society or the longshoremen of the Allan Line. The railway freight handlers' union is affiliated with the international organization, and now that the old longshoremen's union has become affiliated with their international, the freight handlers have determined to only handle cargo discharged by members of the international longshoremen's union.

A joint meeting of the new ship laborers' society and the longshoremen who work for the Allan Line was held last evening for the purpose of considering the situation. A committee was appointed to interview the executive of the railway freight handlers with a view to finding out whether some working arrangement might be arrived at, and failing that to see on what conditions they might join the international longshoremen's union.

THE CLAIMS OF KING'S COLLEGE WERE ELOQUENTLY ADVOCATED

Meeting of Local Congregations of Church of England, Last Evening, Heard Excellent Addresses From B.ishop Richardson and Others, in Support of King's.

In the schoolroom of Trinity church last evening a large gathering, representative of the local congregations of the Church of England, heard the aims and work of King's College explained in an able manner by Rev. Canon Powell, president of the institution.

The meeting which was presided over by Bishop Richardson, was called for the purpose of placing before the people of the diocese the work which King's is doing to accomplish for the young men of the diocese, so that by realizing the magnitude of the work and the need of the diocese, the people will co-operate by prayer and material aid in carrying out the work of King's and help extend the confines of the institution's usefulness in sending forth men educated, in the true acceptance of the word, spiritually, morally, socially and physically.

In introducing Canon Powell, His Lordship said that his object in being present was to show that he recognizes the claims of King's, and that he is in sympathy with the forward campaign movement now being organized to advance the university. Rev. Canon Powell said that the story of King's College is an interesting one, and must be understood to be appreciated. The institution is controlled by a board of thirty-seven governors, the Bishops of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia being ex officio members of the board, and fifty per cent. of the clergy of the Maritime Provinces are alumni of the institution.

In explaining the work of the institution, Canon Powell emphasized the intellectual development not taking precedence over the spiritual, but putting the spiritual training to the forefront. The moral training occupies second place in the work of development. The world today, he said, needs good clean moral men, and not clever men, whose greatness is measured by their material wealth. As a statement made by him on a former occasion here, in which he had said that King's College courses is surpassed by no university in Canada, had been criticised, he said that after examining the calendars of all the universities in the Dominion, he would reiterate the statement. While King's does not offer as extensive a

WATCH MAN INJURED IN LAST NIGHT'S FIRE

Blaze in Vulcan Iron Works Did Considerable Damage - Watchman Badly Burned While Fighting the Flames.

About 8.30 o'clock last night the upper front section of the Vulcan Iron Works on the corner of Charlotte and Broad streets, was discovered on fire by the watchman from the Penderall works and when he broke into the burning building he found the iron works watchman, Joseph Shaw, fighting the flames and badly burned. Watchman Shaw was assisted out of the building and an alarm was sent in from box 45. The flames had gained such headway that a second alarm was sent in. The injured watchman was placed on the salvage corps wagon and driven to Dr. Case's office on Princess street, where his wounds were dressed. The firemen worked quickly on the flames and were not long before they had the fire out. The sheathing about the front of the building was badly burned while the castings and belting were damaged as was also a section of the roof. It is estimated that about $500 damage was done and this is fully covered by insurance. The Vulcan Iron Works is owned by T. McAvilly and Sons, Ltd. It is not known how the fire started as there was no stove near the place at the time.

YESTERDAY'S STORM WAS VERY SEVERE

High Wind Accompanied with Snow and Rain—Small Vessels in Harbor had Hard Time.

Early yesterday morning a heavy southeast wind, snow and rain storm set in and considerable damage was done. The sea in the Bay and harbor was very heavy and the work along the harbor front delayed. About one o'clock yesterday afternoon the large three masted schooner Cora dragged her anchor and went ashore on the eastern point of Navy Island. She floated as the tide rose and was not damaged. The schooner Flora M. dragged her anchors and got in the way of the ferry steamer, and was only moved out of the road after some difficulty. The wind blew high and was accompanied by rain until about 4 o'clock, when the storm cleared off and the sun came out. During the height of the gales in the afternoon a large bill board, the property of the St. John Sign Company, was blown down on Pitt street. Policeman Gosline was called down to Duke street during the afternoon to assist in fastening a tree threatened by the winds.

Tea at Seaman's Mission.
The ladies' committee of the Seaman's Mission will give a tea at the institution this afternoon. The function is expected to be largely attended and the committee hopes their lady friends will send in their donations early.

THE LOBSTER SEASON HAS BEEN EXTENDED

It will Open in St. John and Charlotte Counties This Year on November 20th.

The open season for lobster fishermen in St. John and Charlotte counties will commence on Nov. 20 this year. Yesterday, J. P. Calder, the fishery inspector for the two counties, received a telegram from the department of fisheries notifying him that the department had decided to grant the request of the lobster fishermen for a longer season. Last year fishing operations were started on Dec. 1st.

The fact that the season will begin earlier this year is due to the agitation started by the fishermen who in view of the increase of the size limit to 10 1/2 inches some years ago, have been of the opinion that they were entitled to a longer season. In many parts of Canada the size limit for lobsters which fishermen are permitted to take is only 3 inches.

Successful Hat Sale.
In the face of yesterday's pouring rain, phenomenal success attended the sale of untrimmed hats at Marr's the selling having been of that rapid, gratifying character resulting from good values under ordinary conditions, but only the extraordinary bargains presented by the Marr people, yesterday could have succeeded in effecting the many sales in such inclement weather. Another exceptional bargain offer well worth reading appears in Marr's advertisement on page two.

The half yearly issue of the Telephone Directory is now being prepared and will be forwarded to the printers December 1st. No entries or corrections can be made after that date.
