FEELING REFERENCES MADE IN CHURCHES ON LOSS OF PRIEST

His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc and Other Clergymen Speak of Stirling Qualities of Late Rev. J. J. O'Donovan — Body Arrives Today — Funeral Tuesday Morning.

At the 9 o'clock mass in the Cathedral yesterday morning, His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc spoke feelingly regarding the death of Rev. J. J. O'Donovan, who died recently in Boston. He reminded the people of the great work Father O'Donovan had accomplished whilst a laborer in the vineyard of the Lord and spoke of his sterling qualities. Father O'Donovan was a man who had in the course of his life made numerous friends, and who knew how to keep them—even had made friends at the hospital where he died. He alluded to the great work Fr. O'Donovan had accomplished whilst pastor in West St. John, and his endeavors to clear away the debt of the St. John the Baptist church in the city, this he had near wiped out when he was called to West St. John. Fr. O'Donovan has gone to a great reward, this alone but awaited so great a man as he.

Funeral Arrangements.

The funeral is to be held on Tuesday morning. The body will arrive on the Boston train today and will be conveyed to his late residence, where it will remain until 7 p. m., when it will be taken to the church to remain until after the services next day. On Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc will celebrate Solemn Pontifical Mass of Requiem. The sermon will be preached by Rev. A. J. O'Neill and interment will be at Holy Cross cemetery.

Feeling References.

In all Catholic churches in the city yesterday feeling reference regarding the late death of Fr. O'Donovan was made. In St. Peter's church at 10 o'clock mass Rev. Fr. Costello spoke to the congregation regarding Fr. O'Donovan, and said: "A gap in the Catholic church had been made when we learned that Fr. O'Donovan had been called to his reward, a gap which will be hard to fill. We owe a debt of gratitude to the deceased father for his untiring zeal in our spiritual welfare."

Fr. Costello then alluded to the deceased's qualities as a friend, saying he was a friend indeed to all, wealth made no distinction. High and low, rich and poor, Catholic or non-Catholic mattered not to this generous son of Erin. He again alluded to his work in the Lord's vineyard, where he toiled without murmur for the edification of his people. Father O'Donovan's pieties were most popular and delightful annual fixtures, eagerly looked forward to by all, especially the children, with whom he was always a prime favorite. Fr. Costello exhorted the people to pray for the repose of his soul, to show their gratitude towards his reverence. Whilst the father was speaking many an eye was moist.

At Holy Trinity.

At Holy Trinity church Rev. J. J. Walsh, V. G., addressed his congregation regarding the great loss which had overcome the Catholic church when Fr. O'Donovan was called home by the Master. He referred to his works as a priest of God and asked his congregation to pray for the repose of his soul. "Fr. O'Donovan," he said, "has left a memorial behind him, this being the beautiful church and presbytery which by his undying zeal and labor stood as a token to his past labors."

He referred to him as a friend also, not only by his "own" was Fr. O'Donovan known, loved and respected, but by others not of his belief. May he rest in peace.

At St. Rose.

Fr. Collins of St. Rose's church, Fairville, spoke with feeling reference to the death of Fr. O'Donovan. He had known him for many years and had found him always a friend who with a gentle hand and pleasing manner had gained the respect and confidence of his people. Fr. O'Donovan's friends reached into the sphere of those outside his church as non-Catholic and Catholic alike were his friend. He alluded to the great work he had accomplished and to the beautiful church and presbytery which now stands a monument to his undying labors in the Lord's service. He exhorted the people to pray for him and added "Requiescat in pace."

St. John the Baptist.

In St. John the Baptist Church, Broad street, yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. F. J. McMurray made feeling reference on the death of the late Rev. J. J. O'Donovan, who was the pastor of the Church of the Assumption, Carleton, and who died in Boston, Mass., Friday evening from pneumonia which he contracted about ten days ago. Father McMurray said that the death of Father O'Donovan has taken from the people a true and devoted friend and from the church a true and devoted priest. He also said that when the corner-stone of the St. John's church was laid, of which he is now pastor, Father O'Donovan was given charge and while there he helped materially in clearing off the debt of the church and when he had left to take charge of the Parish of the Assumption on the West Side a large part of the debt had been cleared away. Father McMurray stated that the late priest will be much missed by the people of the city in whom he had made many friends and he paid a fine tribute to his late colleague both as a priest of God and as a man always laboring for the welfare of his people.

Superlative Tribute

Here in Toronto we have files filled with enthusiastic letters from users of Extra Power Belting.

There are hundreds of these letters, each conveying its separate and particular note of approval. Some of them are brisk, brief, factful; some fairly glow with admiration for the belting they praise.

We have chosen one of these—because no word of ours could be stronger—and because it yet represents consensus of opinion on Extra Power Belting.

This letter was written by Mr. W. B. Rea, of the Swan River Milling Co.

It is expert testimony, for Mr. Rea says, "I have been using different kinds of belting for the last twenty years."

It is testimony backed by knowledge—for over a year this flour mill has been "fully equipped with Extra Power Belting on all drives."

Mr. Rea continues, "To date have had no trouble of any kind. All my belts are in first-class shape and show very little sign of wear."

"Extra Power Belting grips the pulleys. I have had no trouble from slipping. I am getting the full value of my power plant. There has been so little stretch to these belts that it is not worth mentioning. I am entirely satisfied, and can highly recommend Extra Power for any work. When equipping my mill with Extra Power I wanted the best belting procurable. I am satisfied that I got it."

"I have been using different kinds of belting for the last twenty years, but Extra Power is the best I have had."

There can be no higher praise. There can be no surer guide for you in the selection of belting for your plant than this.
