

PROPHECIES ABOUT THIS WAR AND OTHERS

By Rev. James Crisp, of Sunny Brae, N. B.

There are two classes of prophecies, the natural and the supernatural. Some prophecies, not of a supernatural character, have come to pass while others have been very wide of the mark.

If you would prefer to do so you may call them forecasts of sagacious minds that endeavor to discern the trend of natural events. For information on this subject I am indebted to clippings from the daily press, to pamphlets and papers now lying before me and to Justin McCarty's "History of our own Times."

The prediction of the rise of Napoleon Bonaparte by Burke may be considered a remarkable prophecy. "Some people general, who understands the art of consulting the soldiers, and who possesses the true spirit of command, shall draw the great of all men upon himself."

Another view is that the war will be very long. It is no ordinary war that has been brought to an end suddenly by the events in any one field. It will go on for a long time, a very long time. Instead of ending soon or suddenly, the war is more likely to go on and on and then gradually abate by slow process.

Another forecast is the improbability of peace within eight months or before the close of the year. The reason given for this is that the Allies are detaching the attention of Abraham Lincoln.

Over against fulfilled predictions and presentiments there are many that remain unfulfilled. Some of the most striking of these are the peace that has utterly unforseen, as the sinking of the Titanic.

In 1867 a Bombay journal congratulated the British Empire for its peace and there is no danger. The Indian Mutiny broke out which shook to its foundations the whole structure of British rule in Hindostan.

In 1884 a new convention for the Transvaal was signed, giving the South African republic all that it could reasonably ask for. It gave to the Boers what was in substance complete domestic independence.

In 1894 M. O'Reil discussed the future of the Boer republics in South Africa and predicted very confidently that the Boer republics would be independent in a couple of months completely.

ST. JOHN'S TRIBUTE TO KING ALBERT

St. John honored the natal day of the monarch whose integrity and sense of honor has made him a world figure, in eagerly and earnestly making use of the occasion to raise a substantial amount for the relief of the heroic citizens of the stalwart nation who are held under the iron heel of Prussian despotism.
