has to upset a whole shelf before the right cover is found. A very efficient way to keep them is to have a small rack on the inside of the cupboard door. The best arrangement is to have three laths, one apart, screwed to the inside of the door in a horizontal position. Under each end of the laths a small block, about one inch square and one half thick, should be put so as to allow for a one inch space between the lath and the door. The covers when slipped into the racks will take up very little space, and any special one can be selected at a glance. With the price of paper steadily advancing, I began saving all the circular letters which came into the house, most of which are blank on one side. By cutting the envelopes open the children could use the clean side of them and the letters for arithmetic and their compositions, as they usually want to write them once or twice before they are satisfied. When ready or the teacher's approval they could copy on their good notebooks. This has saved a great deal of good notebook paper in my large family.

Origin of Curfew.

The curfew bell was first rung in Europe about the time of William I. It was not a warning to keep off the streets, but to remind citizens to bank or cover up their fires. The houses of that day were of wood and thatch, except the stone castles and palaces, and the fires were in open fireplaces. Popping coals would often leap over the earth, and once a blaze began the whole community was threatened, as fire departments were unknown, and only water by the pail was handy as fire-fighting material. When the bell rang citizens were opposed to cover their fires with ashes, and so bank the hearth that flying sparks would not reach the open places. When William I. conquered England and began to impose his strict laws, he added to the curfew or "souvre-feu" the rule that citizens could retire for the night as well as bank their fires. Henry I. restored the use of lamps and candles at court and the curfew bell.

MAKE YOUR OWN RUGS WITH OLD RAGS

Making hooked, or drawn-in, rugs is fascinating work, easy to learn, simply slipping loops of rag or yarn through a flap pattern with a rug hook, which you can actually learn to do in a few minutes, and with a little practice you can make your cast-off clothing, underwear, and blankets into beautiful rugs. This work is not a fad, as we have been making patterns for these rugs continuously since 1892.

A rug hook, 25c, and one of our small pre-mat patterns, 18 x 32 inches, stamped in colors on strong burlap, 35c, totaling 60c, will start you. We pay postage on both. Easy directions for hooking will be sent with your pattern. If you ask for them.

We also make Garrett's Rug Hooker, a little machine weighing six ounces, making rugs faster. Our design sheet showing six sizes of patterns, and booklet about Garrett's Rug Hooker sent free on request.

The Tally.

It isn't the job we intended to do
 Or the labor we've just begun
 That puts us right on the ledger sheet;
 It's the work we have really done.
 Our credit is built upon things we do,
 Our debit on things we shirk,
 The man who totals the biggest plus
 Is the man who completes his work.
 Good intentions do not pay bills:
 It's easy enough to plan,
 To wish is the play of an office boy:
 To do is the job of a man.
