The Berwick Register Says: Af You're Buying Rooting st possible value for his money.

If he's buying rooting, he wants the best rooting value offered,
But how to get it is the question that naturally arises.

Difficult? No, it it's easy. Just as easy as the proverbial rolling off a log.

FIRST—Beware of the so-called "cheap" roofings. A LOW PRICED withing always means a LOW GRADE roofing which will prove many times re costly to you in the end, than if you a paid reasonable price for your roofing terial.

The Berwick Register says:—
Dr. C C Ellis, returned last week to Berwick. In company with his brother, Mr. W W Ellis, he purposes to leave soon for Lunenburg Co., where acres of Tangsten and Gold taken up by the Canadian National Mining Company, are located. The development of these arears may be expected to begin at once.

SECOND—Don't buy a roofing WITH A REPUTATION TO BE MADE, one that has already made a reputation and proved by years of testthat it's Buy one that has arready made a trya good material.

THIRD—Weigh well what the roofing man tells you. Remember he's out to sell goods, and enthusiasm is apt to lead him into careiess statements.
Tell him you're "from Missouri, and he's got show you.

FOURTH—Find out, and make him show documents to prove, now long he's been making his roofing, and how it stands weather, water, fire, alkalies

FOURTH—Find out, and make him show documents to prove, now long he's been making his roofing, and how it stands weather, water, fire, alkalies and gases.

FIFTH—Don't accept his general statement that "his roofing will wear longer than this or that." Ask him for PROOF. Lethim show you WHERE it has worn for any stated number of years.

SIXTH—Don't forget that the cost of the material used is often only a small part of the total cost of your roof. The labor to apply the roofing has also to be paid for, unless you can do the work yourself.

SEVENTH—Don't forget the question of repairs either. The roof that needs repairing or painting every year or two will always prove an expensive root to the buyer.
