ONLY A SLIGHT DIFFERENCE

A motorist who was touring in Ireland one day met a native driving a donkey and cart. Thinking he would have a little fun at the Irishman's expense he began—"What is the difference, Pat, between your turn-out and mine?"

"Oh, not a great dale," promptly replied Pat. "Shure, the donkey's in the shafts in one and on the sate in the other."

HE MADE SOME PROFIT

A very deaf old man went into a drug store to have a prescription filled.

"Seventy five cents," said the druggist as he wrapped up the bottle.

The old gentleman took a well worn purse from his pocket, opened it, and laid a nickel on the counter.

"I said seventy five cents," yelled the druggist.

"Well said the old man, "didn't I give you five cents?"

"Dog gone you!" said the druggist as he swept the cash drawer.

"I made two cents on you anyway."

"Thank God more Canadians are coming," said War Secretary Lloyd George when discussing the brilliant work of the Dominion troops at Courcelette.

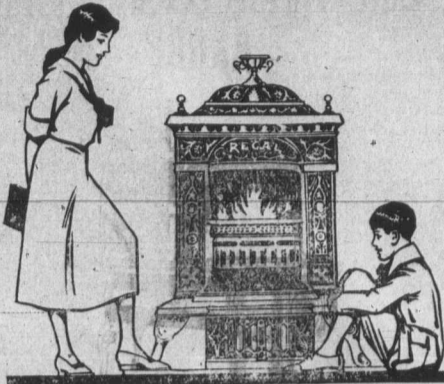

LIBERAL JOURNALIST PAYS STRIKING TRIBUTE TO SIR ROBERT BORDEN

It would be treachery to the allied cause not to support him at the next election, he declares in a letter to Henri Bourassa

Mr. E. W. Thomson, the well known journalist and Canadian correspondent of the Boston Transcript and a staunch liberal in politics in course of an interesting letter to Mr. Henri Bourassa which appeared in the columns of the latter's paper, Le Devoir, on September 16, pays a striking tribute to the foresight and genius of Sir Robert Borden in committing Canada unreservedly to participation in the war when the break came so suddenly in August, declaring it to be the paramount duty of French-Canadians to enlist in this war "for the future of mankind," quite frankly states that it would be nothing less than treachery not to support Sir Robert Borden at the next general election. Two paragraphs from Mr. Thomson's letter, particularly worthy of reproduction, follow.

"What is staked on the issue of this war is precisely the future of mankind. If we do not now utterly beat down the Hohenzollerns our children's children must be slaves to that dynasty; or else slaves to a militarist caste maintained to permit enslavement by the Hohenzollerns. The one path to a long or a permanent peace, and to quiet industrial existence is the way of our allied guns and men to Berlin."

"Inasmuch as Sir Robert Borden boldly put Canada on that way, and has steadily pursued that course, he appears to me to have been guided by well-informed sense and by such inspiration as may properly be termed genius. None but a great man would have dared what he dared in August, 1914—venturing to interpret the real mind of the Canadian people in such a time of confused opinion and quaking dismay. I humbly confess that he then knew, as by instinct, what men like myself, who at first objected to Canada's being committed to the war without a mandate from the electors, would be thinking when the time should have disclosed the power, preparedness, and devilry of Prussia. To do other than support him in the general election which seems to be impending would, it seems to me, be treacherous to the cause to which Canada stands engaged. To defeat him would be to testify that Canada had flunked and wished to crawl out. That would be a heavy loss to the Allied cause; a large encouragement to Berlin."

Getting Out of the Rut.

The merchant who conducts his business according to the method of the last century is not giving his customers the service they are entitled to. The spirit of the new century is to do more than to merely turn goods over at a profit. It is to really earn that profit by giving real service, accommodation and reliable advice. The modern merchant must know his goods thoroughly and what is best adapted to every household requirement.

That class of merchant invariably advertises. That is the one sure test of his being abreast of the times.

An Irishman was seated in a railway carriage next to a pompous looking man, with whom he commenced a conversation in a rather free and easy manner. At length the pompous one said: "My good man, reserve your conversation for one of your own equals. I would have you know that I am a K. C." The Irishman jumped up and held out his hand. "Begorry, shake!" he exclaimed. "O'm a Casey my self."
