WANTED—a girl typesetter. One with considerable experience preferred. Apply at once at Advertiser Office.

FIRST CALL COMES ON MONDAY FEB. 4TH.

Notices were being sent yesterday to all the men in Nova Scotia who are to serve under the first draft of the Military Service Act requesting them to report for service at the 1st Depot Battalion at the Armories on Monday, February 4th, and succeeding days.

Although the order calls for all the men in Nova Scotia, it is not known whether, those liable to be called in Halifax and Dartmouth will have to report. This matter has been referred to the authorities at Ottawa, whose decision will likely soon be received.

The 1st Depot Battalion here is under the command of Colonel Flowers, and the staff consists almost entirely of returned officers who have seen service at the front, and are not fit for further overseas service. They will instruct the men here. The Armories was being made ready previous to the explosion, which damaged the building considerably.

Because of the disaster which befell Halifax on December 6th, the calling of the men in this Province eligible for the first draft was postponed until an undecided date. Word has now been received that they will report on February 4th and succeeding days.

SEIZED GERMAN SHIPS CHARTERED BY FRANCE.

Washington, January 22—The thirty German ships seized by Brazil when that country entered the war, have been chartered by the French Government for war purposes. The vessels represented an aggregate of about 120,000 tons.

Threshing Machine For Sale—Engine wood saw and thresher will be sold here. Apply to Clyde MacDonald, Canada.

WASHINGTON, January 22—(United Press Despatch)—German business men have been blackmailed by Emperor William from the days immediately preceding the war until the present, according to an article written by August Thyssen, one of the wealthiest members of Germany's business community, and a leader of the Republican movement. The article was first published in pamphlet form but it was suppressed and the author fined.

"I am writing this pamphlet," the writer says, "because I want to open the eyes of Germans, especially of the business community to facts. When the Hohenzollerns wanted to get the support of the commercial class for their war plans, they put their ideas before us as a business proposition. A large number of business and commercial men were asked to support the Hohenzollern war policy on the ground that it would pay them to do so. Let me frankly confess that I am one of those men who was led to agree."

"In 1912 the Hohenzollerns say that the war had become a necessity to the preservation of the military system upon which their power depends in that year, the Hohenzollerns might have directed, if they desired, the foreign affairs of our country so that peace would have been insured in Europe for at least fifty years."

A Handsome Grant
"I was personally promised a free grant of 30,000 acres in Australia, and a loan from the Deutsche Bank of $750,000 at 3 per cent to enable me to develop my business in Australia. To several other firms were promised special trading, facilities in India, which was to be conquered by Germany—be it noted by the end of 1915. A syndicate was formed for the exploitation of Canada. This syndicate consisted of the heads of twelve great firms; the working capital was fixed at $100,000,000 half of which was to be found by the German Government."

"These promises were not vaguely given, they were made definitely by Bethmann-Hollweg on behalf of the Emperor to gatherings of business men and in many cases to individuals. I have mentioned the promise of a grant of 30,000 acres in Australia that was made to me. Promises of a similar kind were made at least to eighty other persons as special interviews with the Chancellor, and particulars of these promises were entered in a book at the Trades Department."

"But not only were these promises made by the Chancellor, they were confirmed by the Emperor, who on three occasions addressed large private gatherings of business men in Berlin, Munich and Cassel in 1912 and 1913. I was at one of these gatherings. The Emperor's speech was one of the most flowery orations I have heard."

"The Emperor was particularly enthusiastic over the coming German conquest of India. 'India,' he said 'is occupied by the British. It is, in a way governed by them. We shall not merely occupy India we shall conquer it, and the vast resources that the British allow to be taken by Indian Princes will after our conquest flow in a golden stream into the Fatherland. In all the richest lands of the earth the German flag will fly over every other flag.'"

At It Again
"But this is what has happened in reality. In December of 1916, the Chancellor, Bethmann Hollweg, began to have interviews once more with business men, I was personally asked to guarantee a subscription of $1,000,000. I declined to give this so did some others. I was then favored with a private interview with Bethmann Hollweg's private secretary, who told me that if I declined to give the guarantee I would lose a contract I had with the War Office."

BILLY SUNDAY LETS LOOSE ON THE GERMAN EMPEROR
When U. S. Gets Ready the Hot Dog Bunch Will Know It—Kaiser Has Devil Fanning The Air.

Billy Sunday (the Rev. William S.), packing a punch in each fist, landed on the Kaiser and the Patsdam gang at Chicago, and after smiting them hip and thigh as "partners of Beelzebub," removed the skins of trimmers and pacifists, saying they are "so many Judas Iscariots."

He called for a blank wall, and the firing squad for traitors and sedition, and he urged the need for every one of the 100,000,000 men, women and children in America to mobilize themselves to do something to help win the war.

The evangelist spoke with a naming tongue. Flaming—it was a torrent of scorching language that continually pulled the audience out of its chairs. It blazed like a fire in a paint factory.

In his characteristic way Mr. Sunday made it a gymnastic as well as an oratorical hour. He exercised on every inch of the platform from which he had asked that all chairs be removed to give him full swing when he got going.

And he came up to the scratch with a running start. Hardly had he seen and he came up to the scratch with a running start. Hardly had he been introduced when he spaced a high one on left field and slammed it over the plate with the following:

"When Uncle Sam gets ready to strike the Kaiser and Hinderenburg and the rest of the hot-dog bunch will know General Sherman was right."

He followed it with another that brought them out of their seats: "It's the Kaiser against the President; Hohenzollern against Uncle Sam; Germany against the United States; Kaiser Bill against Woodrow; Hell against Heaven—show your colors."

Here's another that made the roof ring:—"We've drawn the sword for liberty and freedom, and by the eternal God we'll not sheath it until the gang of cut-throats and murderers is on their knees with their tongues hanging out pleading with us to call it off."

Another that shook them one with applause:—"The Kaiser says God and he are partners. Not so! The Kaiser has the devil backed off the boards and fanning for air."

"The hell the Kaiser has raised on earth makes the hell below look like a side show."

"As for lying, the Kaiser has Annals outdistanced so far you can't see his dust."

"As I've said before, turn hell upside down and you'll find 'Made in Germany' stamped on the bottom."

"Let me give you a tip, old top. I don't propose to buy anything stamped 'Made in Germany,' not unless I'm nuts."

Epigrams came like plums in a Christmas pudding, and were shot out so fast it sounded like a Lewis gun in action. Meanwhile Mr. Sunday flew over the platform, up and down, gyrating, and shooting curves, volplaning to the desk and smashing it with his fist, slam, bang. It was an airplane shooting it into Zeppelin.

And he started by bewailing that the English language "hasn't a million words more that it has and that wouldn't be enough to paint them as they are." Here are some more of the high spots in his address: "You never catch God napping, God is always ready to slam the ball over the fence when he tees up to the plate.

"No man can be true to his God who is not true to his country. Patriotism and religion are twin brothers."

"I say down with I. W. W. calamity howles down with Socialists and pacifists who are making utterances traitors ought to face the firing squad. If you pour sunshine into a rat-hole you destroy it as a home for the rat. Let's uncover sedition where it may lurk. And anyone who doesn't like it can beat it across the seas to where they were kenned."

"They're carbuncles upon the political body who land here with no intention of becoming American citizens and who thrive here and yet are not pro-American, that come here with tags on—let's yank the tag's off and send them back and we'll climb on the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor and sing 'Praise God, From Whom all Blessings Flow.' Patriotism is above party. I've travelled from the Atlantic to the Pacific and I haven't seen a Republic or a Remocrat, but I've seen 100,000,000 Americans."

CAN SEE IT THROUGH.

"We can deliver the goods, express charges prepaid, when it comes to a showdown. The Saxon has seen everything through he got into ever since he saw the Black Prince through the Cressy, and it's that Saxon blood that pumps through the veins of our army and navy."

"No ship was ever wrecked on Plymouth Rock, and that's the kind of crowd that's going over against the Kaiser's bunch of international crooks and murderers."

"We got some croakers, but God has no use for a man who slanders his country, and no battle was ever won with the flag at half-mast. The Stars and Stripes has been in many a fix since 1776 but has never touched the ground, boys."

"America has got to win the war, and we've got to help America win. For one thing, let's put our dollars to fighting. You can no more win a war without money than win a ball game without a ball."

Mr. Sunday took the position of a pitcher winding up in a post season series, and cried:

"Hell has vomited forth a fountain of groans and blood; we are at death grips with the most rapacious, piratical, treacherous, villainous, mendacious, skulking, murderous, stinking, blackhearted gang of cutthroats that ever wriggled their carcasses across God's green earth. This monster devours women and children outrages sacred women hood, crucifies prisoners of war and makes slaves of men and women, and we've got to take the slimy skin off this scaly, mouldering, scabby, pestilential serpent."

"I think the Kaiser would like us to go on indulging ourselves in pleasures with no restraint, buying what you can afford but don't need."

"We didn't win the war when we declared it—that's only the kick-off. That camouflaging bunch in Germany can't put it over. But we've all got to help. Too many people are invincible in peace and invisible in war. Patriotism means more than getting to your feet when 'The Star-Spangled Banner' is played: more than sticking a flag on your automobile; more than wearing a Liberty bond button. It means get into the game or shut up your mouth, and shut it darned soon."

"Ten million men have lost their lives in this war, 12,000,000 have been crippled, 4,500,000 are prisoners, $120,000,000 has been spent and $25,000,000,000 of property has been destroyed. God has had to draw his sword in the past. A noble cause hacked by noble men is invincible, and we'll give the gang a run."

"The Kaiser thought we were a lot of pikers and bush leagues and that he could cram his damnable kultur down our throats—kultur, filled with every damnable, treasonable heresy that wriggled its ugly nut out of the beer mugs of Heidelberg."

"Kultur! What of a kultur that will stand by and see Turkish soldiers outrage American women and hoist unborn infants on the sword's point?"

"A priest returned from the firing line told me that the thing that made the most haunting impression upon his mind was the shrieks of women being outraged in German trenches by German soldiers."

"When Germany turned from Jesus Christ to Krupp she lost out."

"The Kaiser was going to eat his Thanksgiving dinner in Paris in 1914. He'll be lucky if he eats it in Berlin next year."

Mr. Sunday put in a word for universal military training, and went on: "If you enjoy the nation's blessings you've got to share her sorrows. Pacifism and indifference now are evidence of treason. A pacifist is a Judas Iscariot."

"And this cursed Hohenzollern gang—we'll dig its cursed grave so deep they won't hear the toot of Gabriel's horn."

"Man is like chicken—he's no good with no sand in his craw."
"Come up, men and women; line up for God and Country."

GOVERNMENT WILL GIVE FULL SUPPORT.

Conference Yesterday of Highways Commission and the Provincial Government.
Morning Chronicle—The most cordial support of the Local Government for any measures providing for the betterment of the roads in the Province, was promised Chairman Clarke and the members of the Nova Scotia Highways Commission yesterday morning by Premier Murray at a meeting held in the Province Building. Members of the Government met the Commission and held an informal discussion on the work which is to be taken up immediately. Premier Murray asked the Commission the same request as they would in turn of their employees—"Produce Results."

Chairman W. G. Clarke referred to the nature and scope of the work which had been entrusted to the Commission, endeavoring to clarify as far as possible its position so far as responsibility was concerned. He brought attention to the fact that several changes in the Act would have to be made to make the working of the scheme of the Commission successful.

Mr. Clarke discussed the question of maintenance, asking what would be done for the maintenance of the highways. After the present conditions were improved satisfactory results would be yielded from the expenditure. The question of patrol was also discussed. Mr. Clarke referring to it as not having been satisfactory in the past. The road administration must be remedied. The Commission regarded patrol as of infinite importance. The Commission wished to know the attitude of the Government and what relation they had to the Government. In Full Sympathy.

Premier Murray said that both he and the members of the Government were in full sympathy with the Commission and their aims and objects. He amplified suggestions which had been given on securing improved machinery, this being necessary on account of the shortage of team labor in various parts of the Province. The Premier dwelt on the magnitude of the problem which confronted the Commission.

It was settled that the Highways Commission would take over full control of all highways and bridges thereon and be held responsible for their upkeep and repair. This was no small job, but the Commission is going into the work energetically and expects satisfactory results. Colonel Cantley, J. K. Kelleher, P. G. Black and W. Crowe, K. C., also spoke.

In the afternoon the Commission held an organization meeting at which W. C. Yorston was appointed Chief Engineer. A working plan for the office staff was agreed upon and this will go into effect on February 1st. In the meantime there are several other matters to be taken up in connection with the field staff to be appointed and as soon as the necessary information is secured the Board will be called together for further organization.

The same staff as that employed by Mr. Yorston at present will be employed in the work of the Commission, with the intention of reorganizing the same and making it more effective.

At present there are twenty-nine district superintendents under the direction of the Commission. It has been felt that these can be reduced to eighteen, one for each district. The Province may be further subdivided into three or four sub-divisions, which may be placed under the control of a divisional engineer to report to the Chief Engineer.
