..... A One-Idea Store

We have been told that we are cranks on quality; well, we acknowledge it, we are. Many stores make prices the first consideration. No matter: what the goods are like so long as prices are low. Things that we are going to eat we always like to know that they are. good. Don't you feel that way too?

We know that our vegetable stock will please you. It has been carefully selected, and we know that it is all good.

MORRIS ADAMS

On New Year's Day the home of Mr. George Adams, of Fletcher, was the scene of the happiest event of the New Year. The occasion was the celebration of the marriage of Miss Helen Gordon, daughter of Mr. Geo-Adams, to Mr. Cco. A. Morris, of Alberta. The parler was very prettily decorated with evergreens and wedding bells and the whole was lighted by Japanese lanterns taxtefully arranged among the evergreens. The wedding arch, which harmonized with the other decorations, was the crown-

At about 3.30 the guests began to assemble and were received at the door by Misses Olive Fletcher and door by Misses Olive Fletcher and Bella Holmes, cousins of the bride. Promptly at 4 o'clock the bridal party entered the parlor to the sweet strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, beautifully rendered by Mrs. R. P. Adams, a sister of the bride, and took their places beneath the arch. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of white silk organdie with Valencienne lace and white silk chiffon. Her only ornament was a delicate white rose entwined in her hair, and the bouquet she carried was
