

The Acadian

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF WOLFVILLE AND EASTERN KINGS

Vol. XLIII. No. 11.

WOLFVILLE, NOVA SCOTIA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1923

$2.00, payable in advance

CANADIAN YOUNG MEN SELLING BIRTHRIGHT

Roger W. Babson, Renowned Statistician, Sees Unrivaled Opportunity Here for Youths. Too Many Selling Birthright in the States for Mess of Pottage.

The "Star" saw Roger W. Babson of the Babson Statistical Service, and had an opportunity to see ourselves as others see us.

Seen from Boston, Mass., we are not seen through a haze and haze of statistics darkly, but in the bright mirror of optimism engendered with all the old-fashioned virtues which Mr. Babson holds to be the basic condition of prosperity.

He does not see here divorce courts, great white ways, movie picture studios, gunmen, dope rings, get-rich-quick Wallingfords and all the other trappings and fopperies of dollar plethors. He sees here, "the old-fashioned honesty industry, thrift and service."

"If I were a young man," said he, "I would come to Canada. It is a land of unrivaled opportunities. Your young men who are coming to the United States are selling their birthright for a mess of pottage. They get larger salaries but that is all they get. When they have exhausted their limit of salary increase, they stick. They are salaried men, and nothing more. If they remained in Canada and grew up with the country they would become rich in their own right."

Capital is the vitame of national growth. Canada needs capital. With capital she can manufacture her raw materials and build up industries that will attract immigration and stop the American exodus.

Sell Canada to Capital
"In your immigration policy," went on Mr. Babson, "you are trying to attract the farm laborer with no capital. You are, as it were, bidding for the down and outer. You should on the contrary, sell Canada to your own people."

He considered Canadians splendidly balanced, safe and sane. That was why American employers paid them high salaries. They were, in spite of our bootlegging activities, exceptionally sober. Evidently we do not use the stuff we sell.

We had a right attitude towards life. We were not only sober, but industrious and thrifty. Our fault was that we did not realize the marvelous economic advantages of our own country. But many of us were Esaus sighing for America's pottage.

Mr. Babson does not regard Canada as a purely agricultural country. He is particularly impressed by its industrial opportunities. We are predestined to factory greatness because of our water powers.

"You have in your water powers," said he, "an extraordinary factor in national wealth. Coal is our problem; waterfalls never go on strike."

He had been to Ottawa and studied the workings of a government intelligence bureau. It issued good literature, but it appealed almost solely to the man who wanted to buy a farm or go on the farm. It told of the unoccupied farms in Canada. It said nothing of the unutilized waterfalls or the unscratched mineral deposits. It gave us food for thought to foreign capital.

Must Create Work
"That type of advertising as far as it goes is excellent," remarked Mr. Babson. "You need population but to attract population you need work and industries. When you dig a well water pours in. When you create a demand for labor population pours in. At present you are in a way putting the cart before the horse. There is no use inviting workers, without first creating work."

He himself would send out a stream of circulars to the 200,000 people in the United States who have incomes of $50,000 and over; they were ground down by the income tax. He would ask them to lift up their eyes to the hills and mines and forests of Canada whence come showers of dividends to capital.

"At the same time," went on Mr. Babson, "I would have your universities draw the attention of their graduates to the opportunities at home. You must not export your educated classes."

Canada was in some respects the Scotland of North America. A lot of its best brains had gone to the Southern land. But Canada had not Scotland's excuse. It was not a small country with an excess of population and a dearth of opportunities. It was a large country, a rich and practically untilled field. There was no need for this Easu trek southward of Canada's B. A. penny wise but pounds foolish.

"Sell Canada to your young, vigorous, well-educated Canadians," reiterated Mr. Babson.

He remarked that the American provision for immigration quotas was a diplomatic way of keeping out southern Europeans. In the next few months the English and Swedish quotas were never exhausted. There was an open door to northern Europeans.

Greatest Fertilizer
The Star remarked that immigration had become a political question in Canada. Some favored an exclusively British immigration or an exclusively agricultural immigration. In this multitude of counsels, there might be wisdom, but there was certainly delay. Too many cooks were spoiling the influx of politics into our melting pot.

"But there can't be any politics in extending an invitation to capital to enter and to your own population to remain," rejoined Mr. Babson; capital was the great fertilizer we should spread on our own fields with our brains and brains.

"Some people think that British capital is our one salvation," remarked the Star. Mr. Babson thought that the States was our most natural source

F. N. FENNEL

General Manager of the Port of Montreal, who points out that the construction of the last link of a waterway at Lockport, designed to connect the present end of the canal at Lockport, Ill., with La Salle, the head of navigation on the Illinois River, will mean the illegal diversion of more water from the Great Lakes at Chicago, and will be used for the development of more power in Illinois, while reducing the levels in the lakes and St. Lawrence river to the detriment of all the Canadian ports along that route. Power is already being delivered in Illinois from the diverted water to the value of one million dollars a year.

A BRUTAL ATTACK

A very shocking affair occurred on the afternoon of Christmas day at Gaspereau Mountain. According to the report a young man named Rodney Davidson, while on the road with his team, was attacked by Harold Atwell who was on his way home from a horse race at Gaspereau. Davidson, it is said, made every effort to pacify his assailant, who finally grasped a sled-stake and struck a vicious blow causing a dangerous wound on Davidson's head, practically fracturing the skull. Dr. Grant, of Wolfville, was summoned and has since been in attendance, and it is hoped the injury may not prove fatal although the victim is still in a critical condition.

Officers Crowell and Jackson went out and arrested Atwell, who was lodged in jail here until next day when he was removed to Lunenburg. His examination will be held before Stipendiary Oakes as soon as Davidson recovers sufficiently to be able to give his testimony.

HEARD BY RADIO

THE ACADIAN'S radio outfit on a recent Sunday had the good fortune to pick up a sermon preached in the pulpit of the First Baptist Church at Schectady, N. Y., by the pastor, Rev. S. Gordon Baker.

The sermon was broadcasted by the General Electric Company's station and the entire service, including the sermon, was heard distinctly. The subject of the sermon was "The Ills of the World."

Rev. Mr. Baker is a Nova Scotian, a native of Tanook, Lunenburg County. A graduate of the class of 1904 of Acadia he is well known in Wolfville.

of supply. An immense amount of American capital had come in but the American purse was just beginning to get untied, the door of the American treasury was just turning on its hinge.

Mr. Babson himself has made a special study of Canadian opportunities and is doing much to turn the tide of American capital northward. He is a bull on Canada.

In his luncheon address, before the Canadian Club, he repeated the optimistic arguments with which he had cheered the cabinet ministers at the Board of Trade luncheon in Ottawa.

"The ultimate future of a country," said he, "depends upon its developed natural resources and its people. Canada has the greatest undeveloped natural resources of any country in the world; it lacks only people. They can readily be obtained if you get about it right, but remember, one thing—that a family of character, bringing up its children in the fundamentals of righteousness, is worth a dozen irresponsible families, such as you will get if you are not careful."

But his optimism was based on a careful reading of the business barometer. There were many clouds in the business sky, and much dispute as to their meaning. Business duties in the next few months should watch the storm signals closely. The storm might blow away, but there was no sense taking risks.

They should cut out the frills, collect their bills; keep down inventories; reduce costs; avoid getting into any more debt, and get out of debt as fast as possible.

"We must all," said he, "work for greater confidence, more efficiency, lower costs and other fundamentals, rather than superficial remedies. The need of the hour is to cut out fake optimism and false standards, getting back to old-fashioned honesty, industry, thrift and service. We must work for better business, but should not be misled by the present record breaking figures for oil production, auto output, building permits, car loadings, retail sales, high wages and bank deposits. A rapid price and a high temperature does not mean a healthy patient. Great care must be exercised to prevent a period of unemployment and loss of business."

There were five reasons against... (Continued on page eight)

CHRISTMAS SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

BAPTIST CHURCH

The services at the Baptist Church Sunday had a distinctively Christmas flavor and expectancy. A full program of Christmas music was rendered at both services on Sunday the 16th inst., previous to the departure of the Acadian students, some of whom are members of the choir. At the morning service last Sunday Rev. H. Y. Corey, D. D., occupied the pulpit. Dr. Corey has made Wolfville his home since his return from India more than a year ago and has been heard many times and always with interest. He chose for his text, "Ye are the light of the world," Matt. 5:14, and delivered a very earnest and impassioned sermon.

For the past three years the evening of Christmas Sunday has been given in charge of the Sunday School, and parents and friends have come to look upon the programme which the children render as one of the events of the year. This year the programme was exceptionally good. The members of the Sunday School in recitation, exercise, pantomime and song performed the parts assigned them with a dignity and finish that showed the thoroughness of training which they receive from their teachers.

Miss Clara Chisholm had charge of the programme and was assisted by Mrs. R. W. Ford, Superintendent of the Kindergarten Department. The Sunday School Orchestra was an important factor in making the evening's program a success. The "White Gifts" were presented by individual classes and quite overflowed the table prepared to receive them in front of the pulpit. Following is the Programme: Welcome L. B. Shaw, Superintendent; Hymn Hark the Herald Angels Sing; Scripture Readings: Isa. 9:2-6; Luke 2, 8-14; 15-20; Matt. 2, 2-11.

Norman Pinney, Rex Porter, Harold Perry, Keith Warren, Helen Perry, Prayer Dr. MacDonald; If the Christ Child Came Marjorie Warren

The Christ Child Star Class; When Christmas Comes Homer McLeod; CHRISTMAS Exercise Busy Builders Class

Kindergarten Exercise Ruth Cook; Christmas Bells Little Town of Bethlehem; O Little Town of Bethlehem

A Christmas Story Marjorie Hally; Luther's Cradle Hymn; White Gifts; Hymn Joy to the World; Benediction

UNITED CHURCH

Congregations at the United Church of St. Andrews were large on Sunday last, and the spirit of Christmas joy was very evident.

In the morning the preacher was Mr. MacKinnon, who gave a very admirable sermon on Abraham. Mr. MacKinnon is a second year Theological student at Pine Hill and shows marked ability in thought and in speech.

In the Sunday School the attendance was very large and the classes made further progress in blending under the new management.

The Rev. Douglas Hemmison, minister of the church, was the preacher in the evening and spoke on "Peace and Unity" showing how necessary one is to the other.

At the close of evening worship the choir presented the Christmas Cantata "The Angelic Choir" under the efficient leadership of Mr. Gerald McElhinney. The congregation filled the church and school room and gave evidence of its enjoyment by a very liberal offering. Mr. McElhinney deserves much credit for his painstaking leadership and the singing of the choir is very much appreciated by the congregation, many words of kindly comment being heard in every quarter.

The usual services were held in St. John's Church on Christmas Day. At 8:30 a.m. when a large number received the Holy Communion and also at 11 a.m. when there was another celebration.

The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens and flowers. Appropriate music under the direction of Mr. Mr. D. Manely was rendered.

DISCONTINUANCE S. S. "PRINCE ALBERT" SEASON 1923

The S. S. "Prince Albert" will be withdrawn from service between Wolfville, Kingsport and Parrsboro, after Monday, December 31st, 1923.

Amer. ans who once were hotly in favor of the Russian system are beginning to be content with a little less brotherhood and a few more square meals.

WOLFVILLE IN 1923

Satisfactory Progress Made in Various Directions

The year 1923 while not an eventful one so far as Wolfville is concerned has not been without incidents of importance in the relation to the future welfare of the town. Chief among these was the decision of the Baptist Convention of the Maritime Provinces to continue their educational activities here and begin at once the construction of a new college building. This work is now in progress and during the coming year will give employment to a large number of workmen and will provide a pay-roll that will mean much to the business interests of Wolfville.

Another important operation of the year was the re-construction of the old Opera House building and theatre, the result of which has been to provide a handsome edifice that is an ornament to the town and a credit to the enterprising proprietor. The new "Orpheum" could be creditable to a much larger town than ours and is an object of pride to citizens generally.

While building operations have not been so extensive as in some past years considerable progress has been made. A number of handsome residences have been erected which all add considerably to the property valuation of the place. Of these Mr. C. H. Porter's handsome home on Main street and the fine residence of Mr. W. B. Eaton on Summer street, and that of Mr. Earl Davidson on Highland Avenue are worthy of special mention. Mr. E. W. Woodworth has just completed a neat and modernly equipped dwelling on Pleasant Street, and several other cottages have been completed during the year.

In addition to these there have been a number of other good buildings erected and places have been laid for further work next summer.

Wolfville has made an innovation during the year in the adoption of the town manager plan of conducting its affairs. Regarding the wisdom of this there appears to be considerable difference of opinion among citizens and probably a number of important changes will require to be made before a satisfactory conclusion is arrived at.

The inauguration of Dr. Patterson, the new president of Acadia, which took place during the early part of the year, was an event of interest not only affecting the life of the University but of the town as well. Dr. Patterson has already manifested a large interest in community affairs and we have no hesitation in predicting that his coming to Wolfville will have a very beneficial bearing upon the community.

SECRET DESPATCHES
The Girl Guide Troop spent a very enjoyable afternoon Saturday Dec. 8th, while playing despatches. The Court of Honor which consists of eight girls, carried the despatches while the others of the troop trailed them.

The girls with the despatches started from a point on main street at 12:45 p. m. and scattered in all directions while the rest started from Westwood Avenue at one o'clock.

About half past a suspicious looking widow was seen by some of the girls, but fearing that it might not be one of the troop they did not intrude and it was found out later that it was Captain Haley, who arrived successfully without detection. At three the girls in the woods grew tired hunting there and came down into town just in time to see the girls with the real despatch hurrying to Miss Parry's where they were supposed to have arrived before four.

They were captured after some hard running and the despatch was found underneath a bandage tied around one of the girls' hands. She had worn it for several days pretending that she burnt her hand.

The girls being tired after their tramp separated quite satisfied with the game and vowing they would play it again.

DISASTEROUS FIRE ON SCOTT'S BAY ROAD

The house of George Thorpe on the Scott's Bay Road was totally destroyed by fire on Thursday morning at seven-thirty o'clock. The exact cause of the fire is unknown, but it is surmised that it was caused by a defective flue as the kitchen fire had been started shortly before. The blaze spread so quickly that very little was saved, bedding, clothing and most of the furniture going up in smoke.

Mr. Thorpe has the sympathy of the community and will require substantial assistance.

Broken promises make rough places in the road to failure.

A CURE FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Dr. Spahlinger, a young Swiss scientist, who has practically achieved a cure for tuberculosis. Through lack of funds he has never yet acquired a complete serum, but eighty per cent. of the cases treated with his incomplete serum have recovered, though they had failed to respond to any other treatment. The serum requires contributions from vaccines from twenty-two horses. Ontario is negotiating for the use of the serum.

CANNING

Mr. Gerald R. Huston, who has on several occasions assisted the Girl Guides of Canning instructing them in Military Drill, was met by a delegation from the Guides who presented him with a beautiful scarf in appreciation of his services. Mr. Huston expressed his gratefulness and his willingness at all times to be of assistance to the Guides.

A large congregation gathered in the vestry of the United Baptist Church, Canning, on Wednesday evening when the annual Christmas concert of the Sunday School was held. L. M. Ward, superintendent, presided. The program was very interesting and well carried out from the youngest to the oldest child. Gifts were distributed from a well filled Christmas tree to all the pupils except the girls of Mrs. Rupert Eaton's class who had previously decided to have the money which might be spent for them, used to send a gift to a sick girl in the community.

A pleasant surprise was the presentation being made by Mrs. Rear on behalf of the Sabbath School. The church organist, Mr. Gordon Prosser, was also presented with a gift in appreciation of his services, both of whom feelingly replied thanking the pupils.

Miss Ruth Bigelow is the guest of Rev. H. T. Wright and Mrs. Wright, Halifax.

Miss Clara Meek is visiting Miss Bower, Halifax.

Miss Jennie MacCleave, of Halifax, is the guest of Mrs. C. H. Meek.

Mr. Philip Meek is visiting Rev. H. T. Wright and Mrs. Wright.

By error it was stated in these columns that the Xmas Supper and tree for the S. S. teachers and scholars of Christ Church was held in the church. This should read "was held at the home of Mrs. W. D. F. Smith."

Mr. Hillechey has returned from the states and will spend the winter with his family.

Minnie, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kinman, who has been ill, is improving.

Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sarfield, has recovered from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis held a delightful family gathering on Xmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Eaton and family have returned from Wolfville, where Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Eaton entertained at a delightful family dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Harris were amongst those who entertained at dinner on Xmas day.

Miss Margaret Chase, a former teacher of Canning School, who is teaching in Windsor, is spending the holidays at her home in Lakeville.

Mr. Paul, a former teacher, now of the teaching staff of Canso, is spending the vacation in Springhill.

Mr. William Mullett, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mullett.

Miss Vivienne Melvin, of Truro Normal College, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Melvin.

Miss Harrison, who has spent several months in town, guest of her sister, Mrs. Reid Pelton, returned on Wednesday.

Mr. Joseph McDonald, is visiting at his home in Inverness.

Miss Erna Goldsmith, who is teaching in Perrotte, is spending the vacation with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Newcombe are visiting their daughter, Mrs. John Ross.

The annual Xmas concerts were held in the various departments of our schools and reflected credit on teachers and pupils alike. The rooms were attractively decorated and the splendid Xmas program greatly enjoyed. Santa distributed gifts from well filled trees.

The management and staff of the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Co. in our town, received many tangible Xmas gifts in appreciation of their services. These were greatly appreciated by all.

Miss Bessie Brisal, is visiting her parents.

Mr. A. C. Sheridan, exchange Manager of the M. F. & T. Co., who is confined to his home by illness, is improving.

Some men are docile by nature—but the large majority are married.

SPLENDID ENTERTAINMENT

Grade XI wins High School Competition

The holiday event of the most general and intense interest to the citizens of Wolfville was the second Competition of the Wolfville High School students, held in the Orpheum, Friday evening, December 21st. The method of conducting the Competition, is admirably suited to the development of various kinds of artistic ability in the students. Each class presents five different numbers—a class song, a tableau, readings, a comedy, and a scene. There is one judge for each kind of presentation.

The Class Songs—"Bonnie Dundee" by Grade IX, "A Life on the Ocean Wave" by Grade X, and "Nancy Lee" by Grade XI were rendered with spirit and animation, and showed the careful training of Mr. Silver in vocalization and interpretation.

The tableaux evinced the sense of the students for the beautiful in light and color. In "Patriotism" soldiers standing on guard for Canada, by Grade IX, there was more of meaning than of picture, and so the tableau was more impressive for the thoughts and feelings suggested by it than for its beauty.

In "The Arctic Zone" by Grade X, beauty was so much its own excuse for being that "The Butterflies of India," by Grade XI, could not surpass it.

The readings were Grade IX, "Bernardo del Carpio," by Jean Stewart, and "The Charge of the Light Brigade" by Horace Vaughan; Grade X, "The Banner of St. George," by Harold Pinney, and "The Island of the Seals" by Virginia McLean; Grade XI, "Highland Hospitality" by Vera Graham, and "Curfew Shall not Ring To-night" by Constance Barteaux.

All of the readers spoke clearly and distinctly, Vera Graham and Constance Barteaux were considerably above the average in their interpretation, and Virginia McLean was beyond criticism.

The comedies were "The Children's Daily Mirror" by Grade IX, "A Yankee's Stratagem by Grade X, and "The Village Choir's Annual Rehearsal," by Grade XI. Each gave plenty of fun of a wholesome quality, and in each there was amateur acting of a high order of merit.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.

The scenes were "Molly of Ireland" by Grade IX, "When it's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," by Grade X, and "Evening in San Sebastian," by Grade XI. These scenes gave opportunity for the combined effects of costume, stage setting, individual and group acting, and acting and acting.