Dick Tibbitts Left on Saturday to Start the 1906 Season.

The idol of Fredericton baseball fans, Dick Tibbitts, known to the fans of 10 years ago as old "Glass-arm," the leader of the Tartars, left on Saturday for Philadelphia, Pa., where he will complete his arrangements for the coming baseball season and attach his John Hancock to some kind of a contract.

When Tibbitts left here he told several friends who were at the C. P. R. depot to see him off that he did not know where he would land.

The first professional engagement that Tibbitts ever had in organized ball was in 1901 when he went to Lewiston along with Tommy Howe to take places on Fred Doe's Lewiston team that had been secured for them by the writer.

The trouble at Lewiston was that Howe didn't do the right thing and, when Doe fired him for improper conduct, Tibbitts left the team too just when he was making good. After some manoeuvring Tibbitts got Doe to give him a release one day at the Huntington Avenue grounds in Boston and then he returned to the provinces.

The next time Tibbitts appeared in organized ball was in the 1904 season when he joined Manager Tom McDermott's team at Fall River. There he became a team mate of "Happy" Iott, the former Houlton, Me., player.

DICK TIBBITTS.

Who may leave the Outlaws and return to organized ball.

Everything went along fine and dandy at Fall River and Dick was making good in apple pie order when "Happy" Iott jumped the team and went to the Northern Independent League to play with a Vermont team. At this time Tibbitts was getting $100 a month from Fall River and Iott soon sent him an offer of $150 a month and Dick foolishly accepted and jumped the team.

Once a member of the Outlaws he got an offer to go to the Lebanon, Pa., team of the Tri-State League and there he finished the season, batting well and fielding almost faultlessly.

Last season saw him with the Conestoga Club and there he stayed until the franchise was transferred to Hamokin, Pa., and then he had to go to the latter town. About mid-season there was trouble in the Hamokin team and with a couple of other players Tibbitts was transferred to the Altoona, Pa., Club.

Throughout the whole of last season Tibbitts' outfield work and batting attracted the attention of managers all over the country. He was being paid somewhere between $250 and $300 per month and it was not every club that could afford to make dickers at those figures.

At one time he got an offer of $300 per month from Manager Arthur Irvine of the Kansas City American Association to finish the season and resume the contract for this year.

The offer was a good one and Tibbitts got as far as the railway station when the Manager of the Altoona team got wise to the game and gave Tibbitts a bonus of $100 not to accept the offer and remain. Then when Dave Fultz, centre fielder of the New York Americans, got hurt Manager Griffith offered Dick a chance at $325 per month but, on account of being tied to the Fall River Club, Tibbitts could not accept.

This year Dick starts off still under reserve to the Fall River Club within the barrier of organized baseball while on the outside he is claimed by the Altoona Club. All winter long Tibbitts' friends home advised him to get back into organized ball and the boy is beginning to see where he made his mistake.

"While I may open with an Outlaw Club," said Tibbitts to the writer on Saturday, "it now looks as if I might soon be with the American Association."

tion. That is where "Tip" O'Neill played last year.

Every true fan in Fredericton wants to see Tibbitts have another successful season and there are scores of friends all over the Province who also like to see the local boy scintillate.

AT GLACE BAY.

Cape Breton Team Counts on Fredericton Players That May Not Be There.

The Glace Bay people are making great preparations to try to retain the Cruise Cup in the Cape Breton League. The Sydney Post of recent date says:

"Our friends out in the suburbs, both at Glace Bay and Dominion No. 1, have long ere this had their eyes out for available material to put into the field, particularly the former, who have even gone far enough abroad to bring back their old catcher of last season, Dunphy. This first class mask wearer will be here shortly, and no doubt on his appearance the Hubites will at once settle down to business. Every lover of the good old game at the Bay has registered a silent vow that the team which takes that mug away from them this or any other season, will have to produce an article of ball never before seen in Cape Breton. We have the men and we have the money to back them, is the boast, and when you put the two together they make a combination that is hard to beat."

As far as can be learned, with very slight changes, the winners will turn out practically the same nine as that of last year, the majority of the cup winners of last season still residing there; or if not, their services can be had at very short notice. Nothing will be left undone to give the men all the show in the world to turn out gilded ball if all the reports which lately have emanated from the mining sections are true. What with a four lap to the mile cinder path, with a diamond in the centre, and a building in which to finish up their training stunts, the horizon of the Bay athletes looks at present as if every cloud had a silver lining.

Then the Glace Bay Gazette comes along with this:—"As it looks now, there will be four teams in the county league, Glace Bay, Dominion, Reserve and Sydney. George Finnamore, the crack shortstop of last year's Glace Bay team, is back again, and there are reports that Dunphy, catcher of last year's team, will also be on hand when the season opens, while Boone, pitcher, and Hughes, second base, of the Fredericton Tartars are liable to get offers to move this way. Finnamore arrived in town last night. He has secured a position here and will likely play in Glace Bay during the coming season."

There is every likelihood just now that Ken Dunphy will remain here this season as his chances of getting an engineering position on the installation of the Sewerage system are excellent in the face of being the only experienced man applying for the job. The only other applicant who is at all "strong" is the son of an alderman, but family connections will hardly go as far as experience in the work.

If Dunphy stays a team is assured as George Burden has decided to stay for the summer. There will be a fine infielder Frank Hughes also change their mind. Boone is almost too young to stock up against the Glace Bay proposition and another year will give him a chance to alternate with Malloy should put him into great shape.

In reprinting the above from the Glace Bay Gazette the St. John Globe asks:—"Why not take the whole Fredericton team?"

COAKLEY PITCHED.

With Former St. John Player Twirling Athletics Lost to Phillies.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 5.—The Phillies won their first game from the Athletics in the inter-league series today by the score of 4 to 1. Dugglesy and Coakley pitched good ball, but the latter received ragged support.

was hit opportunely, although he out-pitched his opponent in the matter of hits. Coakley made a wonderful jump, long one-handed catch of a long drive, on which he doubled up a runner at first. This was the fielding feat.

M'CARTHY PITCHED

Part of a Game for Boston and Did Well—Another Monoton Player Appears.

A dispatch from Norfolk, Va., has the following relating to McCarthy, who pitched at Moncton last year:—"The Norfolk team of the new Virginia State league was an easy victim for the Boston Nationals today, score 13 to 2. The visitors won by timely hitting, and clean all-round playing. From the Boston standpoint the exhibition was clever. Both pitchers were given faultless support. McCarthy and Pfeiffer delivered the goods nicely at critical stages, Pfeiffer turning loose his steam in the closing inning and fanning three batters in succession."

Last week Yale beat the Tufts University team by a score of 4 to 0. A Moncton boy, Gallagher, played centre field for Tufts. He handled his only fielding chance but did not do any better. The Tufts team only got one hit.

Diamond Dustings. Frank Roberts will turn out with the Tartars this year.

Wallace of the St. Louis Browns is hitting them hard.

THE Brouthers of Las Athletics is showing up fine as a fielder, but is weak with the stick.

In addition to the offer of a $3,000 wager with Detroit, the Cleveland players want to back themselves for $1,000 against any one club in the American league.

Buelow of the Indians may be released. Wakefield, the Des Moines recruit, is said to be sure of a place on the Cleveland club.

Chairman Hermann of the National commission has received an annual pass to all games in the "outlaw" Tri-State league this year. "I'll have to put on green whiskers if I use it anywhere," he said.

Up to last Friday the training trip of the New York Highlanders had cost the club owners over $1000, and the players had received a little less than $18 worth of benefit from it.

A glance at the roster of the St. Paul team suggests a big league organization. There are Manager Padden, Frisk, Drill, Sugden, Stoval, Diech and Van Zandt.

"When I went South," says Hugh Duff, "I was hopeful of finding one pitcher, one catcher and one infielder among our recruits. We have at least one working good young pitcher in McCloskey, while Kane also looks all right; three catchers who are O. K. and two excellent infielders in Ward and Sentell."

The Carlisle Indians will probably have the best ball-team that ever represented the Redskins this season.

Pitcher "Wish" Eagan of the Cardinals says that "Nig" Clarke, the Cleveland catcher, is a Wyandotte Indian. "I know his folks well," says Eagan, "and Clarke's father is a full blooded Indian."

Martin O'Gara of Dalton, a pitcher well known in western Massachusetts, has reported for duty with the Lancaster, Penn., team of the Tri-State league.

The Worst Kind

After Piles have existed for a long time and passed through different stages, the suffering is intensely aching, throbbing, tumors form, filled with black blood.

Symptoms indicating other troubles may appear to a thoroughly Pile-sick person.

This is when Dr. Leonard's Hem-Rid, the only absolute Pile cure, brings the results that has made its name.

It will cure the most stubborn case in existence and a bonded guarantee to that effect goes with each package. Hem-Rid is to be had for $1.00 at the drug store, or from The Wilson-Frie Company, Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Swiss Funeral Customs.

The funeral customs among some of the Swiss are most peculiar. At the death of a person the family inserts a formal black edged announcement in the papers asking for sympathy and stating that "the mourning urn" will be exhibited certain hours on a special day. In front of the house where the person died there is placed a little black table, covered with a black cloth, on which stands a black jar. Into this the friends and acquaintances of the family drop little black margined visiting cards, sometimes with a few words of sympathy on them. The urn is put out on the table on the day of the funeral. No one except men ever goes to the churchyard, and they generally follow the hearse on foot, though sometimes carriages are used. The horses that draw the hearse have long black cloaks on, with places cut out for them to see through.

To Ascertain Your Brain Power. Do you possess well formed and evenly balanced features? This is the rule; judge for yourself: The height of your forehead, from your hair to the line of your brow, should be the same as the length of your nose, and both should be commensurate with the depth from the base of your nose to the extremity of your chin, so making three equal divisions. Have you an excess or deficiency of brain power? This question you may answer to your own satisfaction by contrasting the bulk of your head visible above or below a line drawn horizontally through the center of each eye and which normally divides the head into two equal parts.

A Right Way and A Wrong Way. Many people have many ways to bring about the same result. Most of them are the result of time passing to the error. Practically there are two ways to accomplish anything: a right way and a wrong way. Take, for instance, a man with a bad back, there are lots of things of various kinds, some with sticks and twitches, others with cracks and tangles; then there's the dull, heavy contortions that have all diddly doesn't sleep at night. They're all bad enough, they're all hard enough to get rid of. Some people rub the back with liniment, others cover it with plasters, either or both means often bring relief, but the pain comes back—it's the wrong way to cure the trouble.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS have a way to cure backache, a way that's all their own—the right way. They're made for the kidneys only. When the kidneys are in their work of filtering the blood the back aches because they are situated in the small of the back; backache is the kidney's warning of trouble, and every day you live the warning goes to bring you to a grimmer disorder, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, etc.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure every form of kidney ills and that's why they bring a quick relief from backache. Mr. Fred Gray, Good Corner, N.B., writes: "I was greatly troubled with pain across my back. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and received so much benefit from them that I consider them the best remedy for kidney trouble there is. I would not be without them in any house."

Entertaining Lions.

Concerning lions, we all like to entertain them. Most of them like to be entertained. Birds of a feather may flock together, but lions rarely enjoy the company of their kind (two of a kind never can agree). The solitary thrush sings alone. A lion is like that sort of bird. I have seen more than one dinner party spoiled by the multiplicity of lions at the table. The lion likes to have the floor to himself. He is always in better humor when there is no other to dispute it with him. When you have the luck to snare a lion remember that he is a kindly creature and select your guests with a view to his comfort and pleasure. It is better to invite lambs to meet a lion than to ask another lion. Every circle has its lambs.—Maud Howe in Harper's Bazar.

A Ghastly Ceremony. Mohammedans of the Caucasus have a religious ceremony called "Chuksee Wucksee." It is a ceremony in which the fanatic cut and wound themselves in the following ghastly fashion, according to a traveler: "Each man, grasping a knife in his hand, brought it up in front and down on the crown of his head. Almost at every stroke the blood gushed forth, and soon one man after another became a staggering, blood soaked figure."

Making It Easy For Him. "I must warn you, Bridget," said Mrs. Nuritch, "to see that the peas are thoroughly mashed."

"Mashed, is it?" remarked the new cook in surprise.

"Yes, Mr. Nuritch is so high strung, you know, they make him nervous when they roll off his knife."—Exchange.

A Skeptic. "Did you tell your father the story I read to you of Jonah and the whale?" asked a teacher of one of his scholars.

"Yes, sir," replied the lad, "but he didn't believe it. Dad never believes any fish stories unless he tell them himself."

The Ottoman Turks.

The Ottoman Turks lived originally in central Asia, where they were members of a race related to the Mongols, a branch of the Ural-Altaic family. Under their first sultan, Othman, who ruled from 1288 to 1326, they founded a realm in Asia Minor, but soon extended it into Europe, entering Armenia. With the capture of Constantinople in 1453 they succeeded to the Byzantine empire, and their rule at its zenith during the sixteenth century extended over the greater part of southeastern Europe and much of western Asia and northern Africa, but they lost Hungary, Roumania, Servia, Greece and practically Bulgaria and Egypt, etc. The Ottoman Turks are Sunnite Mohammedans and regard the sultan, who is the supreme head of the church and recognized as such by all Mohammedans, as representative of former caliphs.

Advertising a Novel. In a New York literary club 200 novelists were discussing a novel of the eighties and of which 60,000 copies had been sold.

"It was," said the older man, "the best piece of advertising I ever heard of, for it was advertising, not merit, that made the book popular."

"The author has a millionaire bachelor friend—call him Millions—and he persuaded Millions to let him write for a newspaper a paragraph to the effect that the novel's heroine had made a hit with him, and if he could find anywhere a girl resembling her he would marry her."

"This paragraph duly appeared. It was copied all over the country. The young women of America, on fire with curiosity and hope, bought and read the book in order to see if they stood any chance with Millions."

The younger novelist took out his notebook! "By Jove," he muttered, "it wouldn't hurt to resurrect that scheme."
