THE PARENT AND THE PUPIL

Now that the schools have just reopened we earnestly request the attention of fathers and mothers to this editorial. We demand on behalf of the future generation, on behalf of the school children and the school teachers of today that mothers and fathers co-operate willingly and intelligently in the work that the school teachers have to do. There is far too much talk in homes, of the school teachers' shortcomings. There is far too much readiness to listen to the stories of children, excusing their own poor work with criticism of the teachers. The matter is most serious. The teacher cannot possibly do his best work and give the best results unless the parents co-operate with him intelligently. Let us consider what the duty of parents is, and what the teacher's have a right to expect. Fathers and mothers know what an atrocious thing a spoiled child is. You pity the father and mother that must control one spoiled child. Don't fail to pity the public school teacher who is expected to control, by kindness and intelligence exclusively, a dozen or more spoiled children. The first thing for you fathers and mothers is to see to it that you do not send spoiled children to the schools. Remember that the most intelligent, conscientious, devoted teacher can see all of his work made useless by overpitting of a child or foolish severity with a child. Fathers and mothers demand, properly, that a teacher shall not strike a child. They should send to the teacher children that do not require blows. Fathers and mothers demand that in school their children shall be controlled by moral persuasion, appeals to their better nature by intelligence. Let them send to the teachers children that are accustomed to being controlled in that manner. Realize that the father is a teacher's partner in education and that the mother is the teacher's ally. How impossible it is in a family to bring up the children properly if the father adopts one method and the mother another. How many children are ruined by contradictory orders from father and mother. Think what a task you put before the teachers when you expect them to control the many children who at home are too often directed in opposition to the teacher's wishes and even encouraged to disobey the teacher. We emphasize this point: control your children by kindness and intelligence. You have no right to send children otherwise to the public schools.

MOOSE HUNTING.

The Toronto Globe reaches the conclusion that the history of moose hunting in Ontario during the past score of years affords abundant proof alike of the desirability and of the feasibility of effectively protecting the moose. The reckless and wasteful destruction by unsportsmanlike and mercenary hunters this greatest of the big game had become almost exterminated. Rarely was a moose seen, and when one was discovered it was promptly and persistently hunted to the death. The Ontario Legislature, to preserve the species, prohibited for five years all killing of moose, and in order to make sure of the effectiveness of this policy the prohibition was occasionally renewed, as circumstances seemed to justify or require. During periods when absolute prohibition has not been decreed there has been a close season every year for moose as for all other game. The result of this method of dealing with the question has been not merely to protect the species from extermination, but to secure a supply of animals sufficiently abundant ant for all reasonable purposes. What Ontario has gone through is precisely what New Brunswick will have to go through in the near future. We hear from time to time of the large number of moose roaming through the highways and by-ways of this northern section of the province; but what sort of moose are they? Cows and young half developed bulls. The full grown males with spreading antlers have been so energetically slaughtered during the open seasons that there are few left. If the present idea of having an open season each year is followed the young ones will also in time become about extinct. It is too late now to prohibit the killing of moose this year but it seems to us that it would be decidedly advisable to prohibit the killing during the entire year of 1908 and perhaps also during 1909.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The stewards of the Jockey Club have revoked the decision forbidding Richard Croker to train his horses at Newmarket. Just what should have led the stewards to revoke their decision, we are at a loss to understand. It seemed to us, at the time, that they had good and sufficient reason for forbidding Mr Croker's horses on the Newmarket course and we think they should have clung to their decision.

A bank in New York city has built a steel vault said to be "strong enough to withstand a 12-inch gun." The burglars have not up to this time, assailed banking vaults with 12-inch guns, but if precedents count, the next thing will be something of that nature. Whenever the inventors show us a new armor-plate which cannot be pierced by any known projectile, we are then escorted to the next room, where they show us the new projectile which will pierce any known armor-plate.

According to a despatch the other day, Raisuli, a prince of kidnappers, who is holding Caid Sir Harry McLean, a prisoner, has sent a communication to the British government in which he greatly modifies his previous demands for the release of the Caid. What a farce this is! Fancy a barbarian outlaw holding the whole British government at defiance. It is really time an end was put to the career of this man, Raisuli. We have heard quite enough about him and his ways.

For years Mrs S. Stahlschmidt of Humberstone, Ont., was a martyr to rheumatism. "It was so stiff and lame I could scarcely walk," she writes. "An attack striking my limbs made walking impossible. Friends and doctors gave prescriptions but I only got relief from Ferrozone. I took twelve boxes and gained from the first. To day I am well, feel strong, weigh heavier and look the picture of health." Whether muscular or inflammatory, chronic or otherwise Ferrozone does cure rheumatism and sciatica, 50c per box at all dealers.

THE following have paid their subscriptions since our last issue—

THAT NEW comet gag worked fine for a week or two in lieu of the sitting-up-with-a-sick-friend story. But it's played out now.

THE MOST notable thing about these R. L. Borden meetings down in this country is the large number of ex-M. P.'s and ex-M. P.'s present and the absence of M. P.'s.

WE FIND this glittering generality in the Fredericton Gleaner:—"Many hear the call to fame but few deliver the goods." Not all of us have a chance at such fine targets as the Hon. Henry R. Emmerson.

WE ARE now aware of the fact that St John is in N. B. Mr R. L. Borden has kindly done us this service. All the upper Canadian papers this week spread on "Mr Borden's address at St John, N. B."

ACCORDING to the Fredericton Gleaner a large delegation headed by O S Crockett, M. P., went to St John to hear Mr R. L. Borden. The delegation consisted of Mr O S Crockett, Mr James H Crockett of Emmerson fame and the Hon Mr Funder.

THE CHARLESTOWN News and Courier having observed that at this time the drop of a pin at Oyster Bay would be heard around the world, the Washington Post frantically retorts that "after a while a drop of gin in Georgia will be smelled around the State."

MOOSE will continue to be reported exceptionally plentiful along the I. C. R. between Moncton and Campbellton until Sept. 15. After that date ask the man who goes out for a couple of days with a rifle how plentiful they are, especially the kind with spreading antlers.

SQUASHVILLE SQUIBS

(Montreal Herald)
We're looking forward to the dominion elections at this place. Personally, I am an independent, but as every candidate for the last ten years has lost his deposit, we have kind of soured on independence. Our fokes here want to see a more vigorous policy in regard to lightning rod and book agents. We don't care whether Lawrie or Borden build the Panama canal.

Mrs Samantha Trollop came over from Menderville on Tuesday and had dinner with her brother, J. Brock, this place.
The Presbyterian quartet rendered a great piece at the concert last night called "Sailing over the high C's." It was by Mendel's son.

There was a agent passed thru here sellin' sum kind of stuff to keep the rust off urv the crops. Made some sales.
Railway Company has decided not to hev the train stop here any more as durin' the last 3 months only three passengers got off. These werv our postmaster and two fellows who thot thet this station wuz the one further down the line. We are in the grip uv the corporashuns these days and can't do much fer ourselves, kin we?

Village clerk hez about made up the assessment rolls fer the year of 1902. He is doin' some kickin' because his salary hez been cut down from $10 to eight dollars a year, while at the same time he hez to pay twenty dollars a year for his guarantee bond which the village council demands. He claims he's had to borrow money from his brother to keep up the position.

I can't think of much more fer the present. By the way, I drew on you fer ten dollars last week and the clerk at the bank said thet I'd better take a long sneak fur the river bank. Somehow I didn't catch his meanin'. Yours till the rumpt sounds.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

If a man is more subdued after marriage than ordinarily, it is an indication that he proposed to his wife more than once; the more subdued he is, the greater the number of times he asked her to marry him.
