McGregor's Opinions.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—May I refer to your editorial of last evening? The meeting in question was organized and arranged by myself as a meeting of the A. P. C. held in public, and to which the public were invited.

I discussed the matter at some length first with Sir Wm. MacGregor, who was a regular subscribing member of the A. P. C., as well as its Patron, and as such he took the chair and gave us one of his invaluable papers.

At this meeting the report of the A. P. C. for the previous year was submitted, and the Committee of Management was re-elected. His Lordship the Bishop of Newfoundland was not in the chair, though he was on the platform, and proposed the re-election of the Committee of Management.

The report of the meeting issued immediately afterwards from which you quote, opens as follows: "The second annual meeting of the Association for the revention of Consumption," etc.

His Excellency speaking as a member of the A. P. C. to this public meeting of the Society made the following reference to Sanatoria: "In the first place I warn you against the idea of Sanatoria; they are beyond our means." (He then quotes some figures.) "A single Sanatorium would cost more than all the funds at the disposal of this Association could meet, and it would benefit so very few sufferers that it could exert no perceptible influence on the Colony as a whole. . . . The Sanatoria sound well and are tempting. I warn you against them till you find a philanthropist prepared to build and endow them." (The black type is mine.)

I daresay the public are beginning to feel that precisely what was said or meant on that occasion, when the situation was so entirely different, is of less importance than the bickerings to which it has given rise should warrant. But, sir, as an authority has been cited it seems a duty to see that his meaning ought to be defined as correctly as possible.

Yours truly,
JOHN HARVEY.

March 7th, 1912.

Devoid of Information.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day.

Official statements issued concerning conferences held in connection with the coal strike are devoid of information as to the results, if any, achieved. Negotiations with hopes that a speedy settlement be reached but nothing was disclosed indicating progress in that direction. The miners representatives conferred with the Premier and his colleagues for three hours, official report says that at Asquith's request they promised to attend further conferences if desired. The miners adhered steadfastly to their previous declaration that they would not consent to any settlement which did not assure adoption of their own schedule and minimum rates. In Commons the Prime Minister characterized as imaginary the newspaper report that he would introduce a minimum wage bill. The Archbishop of Canterbury appealed for special prayer for the termination of the strike; meanwhile the miners continue the masters at the situation. Industrial paralysis is fast spreading over the country. Pressure from trades union and many industries, and especially railway and cotton trade whose funds are threatened with serious depletion through loss of employment through the coal strike seems likely to play an influential part towards settlement of the strike. Yesterday, for the first time, Ramsay MacDonald and other Parliamentary labor leaders came into negotiations supposedly on behalf of the affected unions, announced on good authority that the Miners Federation had yielded as far as to permit a long discussion with members of the Government on a minimum wage schedule with a view to finding a basis for compromise.

A Woman Leads Arab Troops.

London, Feb. 21.—Alan Ostler, the special correspondent of the London Daily Express with the Turkish Army in Tripoli, sends a graphic account of the war goddess of the Sultan's African forces—an Arab Joan of Arc, leading a recent dash against the Italians. He says: "When the Arabs attacked the Italian infantry in the trenches of Gargareth, two days ago, at their head was a figure cloaked and hooded, who carried no weapon but a staff of olive branch, whose face beneath a hood was deep brown, almost black; with glittering eyes, square jaw and heavy nose, with widely distended nostrils. A collar of panther's teeth glistened against the broad, brown bosom.

"With a voice like a scream this figure alternately menaced and exhorted the Arabs or shrieked out terrible curses against the Italians. The desert men swept up to the earth works and the leader, leaping into the trenches, stopped, plunged an arm elbow deep in blood and then stood with dripping right hand flung upwards, the statue of a goddess of African battle, for it was a woman, a Soudanese she-warrior, who fought in the ranks with the men.

"Her voice maddened the Arabs as only the voices of their women folk

If you have not yet started to use Sanident Tooth Paste you do not yet realize how well elegance can be combined with efficiency in a dentifrice. Our experience with tooth pastes is that good cleaners are apt to be harsh and crude to the taste, while the "pleasant" tasting ones are decidedly low in cleaning and antiseptic powers. Sanident just hits the golden mean; it is just right to the taste and it does the work to perfection. In ribbon mouth tubes. Price, 25c. each.

Dictagraph in Evidence.

Government Had Machine in Ironworkers' Headquarters to Record Conversations.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 18.—Ortle E. McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, will not be arraigned here with the other defendants on March 12, but will be brought here during the trials probably in May. It is not stated when McManigal will be arraigned.

The arrest of J. W. Irwin, in Chicago, to-day, puts the government into possession of all but two of the 24 men indicted. The defendants who had not been apprehended are John J. McCarty, formerly an iron worker in Wheeling, W. Va., and Patrick Ryan, formerly a business agent in Chicago.

Irwin is named in his indictment as having been recording secretary and treasurer of a local union at Peoria, Ill., in 1908 and 1909. McManigal confessed he blew up several places in and near Peoria after that time. One of these was an explosion in September, 1910, when six buildings were damaged and a night watchman was injured.

The fact that for days the government has had a dictagraph in the office of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers here and has taken reports of conversations of President Frank Ryan and others in connection with the dynamite conspiracy, because known yesterday.

Government agents yesterday afternoon after hearing that the ironworkers officials were aware of the dictagraph, entered Ryan's office and took out the instrument which had been attached to the end of a drawer at his desk. Ryan declared he was not aware that his conversations were being overheard.

Assistant District Attorney Clarence Nicholas admitted that the instrument had been in Ryan's office for weeks and that it had been placed there by government agents at night.
