

A HUGE MONOPOLY IN OIL.

The London Prototype says:—In our last, we briefly referred to a scheme recently inaugurated in this neighborhood, to raise the price of illuminating oil. Some further facts have since come to our knowledge, which are worthy of being laid before the public. The combination is not directly among the refiners, but is altogether a huge one-man "monopoly." A certain wealthy Yankee, a resident of Chicago, named Judge Higgins, who possesses, it is said, a capital of between five and six millions of dollars, recently decided to speculate in Canadian oil, and that on a very large scale. He visited this neighborhood, and the oil regions of Bothwell and Petrolia, ascertained the quantity of oil in stock in the refineries, visited other refineries throughout the Dominion for the same purpose, and after satisfying himself as to the quantity on hand, made a bid for the whole. After assuring refiners that his object was simply to raise the price from its present low figure to one more remunerative to them, and this being the only possible way to bring about such a desideratum, he succeeded in his purpose, and we believe has purchased or leased some fifty-two oil refineries throughout the Province, for a term of four months, until the 1st of December next, as well as the entire stock of oil at each. In the meantime, the refiners are bound not to manufacture, unless for export; and the whole available stock of oil in Canada has thus become the property of one man. The price, in consequence, will be raised, probably from 9c to 15c to 25c to 30c per gallon, wholesale, and from 20c to 25c to 50c to 75c, or perhaps even higher, retail. Who but a Yankee would have ever thought of such a speculation; how Mr. Higgins must laugh at the gullibility of Canadians. Further, while Mr. Higgins holds all the refined oil, and prevents the refiners from manufacturing until December, he in the meantime is about to purchase up all the crude stuff at the wells, and elsewhere, which, during the next four months, he will store away, and consumers will be left entirely at his mercy for their supplies. Dealers should be cautious not to invest too largely in oil: this unique monopoly cannot remain permanent, and by the end of December, unless a similar arrangement is entered into by Mr. Higgins and the proprietors of the refineries, the article will speedily again come down to reasonable rates. We await with interest the next Yankee-Canadian speculation. This monopoly of Mr. Higgins takes effect from the 1st of August.

THE COAL TRADES.

We find in a statement made by W. S. Jevons, based on the latest returns, the following interesting statement in relation to the annual product of coal in various countries. Great Britain produces 101,630,000 tons; the United States, 25,870,000; Prussia and the Zollverein, 20,610,000; France, 10,710,000; Belgium, 9,935,000; Austria, 4,500,000; British North America, 1,500,000; Russia, 1,500,000; Spain, 30,000; New South Wales, 250,000; Ireland, 123,000—making an aggregate of 176,585,000 tons. It appears that of the total known product of coal in the world, Great Britain raises over 75 per cent., although the population of that island is not one-fortieth of the population of the whole world. Taking the people of the United States and British North America engaged in coal mining to be of Teutonic origin, that branch of the human race produces 73 per cent. of all the coal taken from the bowels of the earth. When we consider the effect which the use of coal has upon the manufactures, commerce and civilization of the world, we can form some idea of the tremendous force extended by the scattered descendants of the old Teutonic inhabitants of Northern Europe.
