

SERIOUS PROBLEMS FOR THE AERONAUTS

A Great Opportunity for the Smugglers. Other Difficult Questions for Nations

New York, May 19.—Some of the problems which will arise from the development of aeroplanes were discussed tonight by Dr. Paul Ritter, minister of Switzerland to the United States, in an address on "The Future of Aeronautics from an International Point of View," before the Lake Michigan conference of international aviation.

Dr. Ritter expressed confidence that although for public use will soon be a possibility, and that with their general use will arise many international questions that may, if not met by suitable regulations, seriously menace the peace of the world. He declared that the ease with which air craft may be used for illegal purposes, such as smuggling, will create new problems of public law and that their convenience as a future medium of rapid communication and as a method of mails may mean an economic upheaval in some of the smaller nations, including Switzerland, which depend so largely on revenue from transportation and mail carrying industries.

"The Hague conference," the speaker says, "have made but a beginning by prohibiting the throwing of bombs from balloons and that the application of airships of rules governing contraband of war, blockade running, and the like, will be exceedingly difficult."

Dr. Ritter created some surprise by stating that Switzerland has already taken action looking to the maintenance of her perpetual neutrality in peace and war against the transgressions of aeronautical nations surrounding her, as now she does against aggressions on land, and that already an amendment to the Swiss constitution has been proposed. He also advocated the early establishment of an "International Aeronautical Bureau," similar to the International Postal Union.

NO LOUD RECEPTION FOR T. ROOSEVELT

Simple and Dignified is the Way That the Newspapers Describe the Home Coming.

New York, May 19.—"Simple and dignified," is to be Theodore Roosevelt's welcome in New York on June 15. At least that is the desire of the reception committee. Contrary to general expectation, there will be no great land parade. The Roosevelt's are the chosen few who will line up with Mr. Roosevelt's carriage. Aside from them, there will be only a squad of mounted police, a band, and the reception committee in carriages.

These changes were made necessary because of the enormous number of requests. The naval part of the program will be carried out as arranged. Mr. Roosevelt will go aboard a revenue cutter at Quantico and the cutter will lead a procession up North River on the west side to a point about opposite 23rd Street, then circle towards New York, thence down the east side of the river to the Battery, where Mr. Roosevelt will be received by the mayor. The committee hopes the ex-president will respond, but no assurance that he will speak has been received. From the Battery the parade will move up town.

SIR JOHN FRENCH—The celebrated general, who will visit Calgary during camp.

Stenographer Eclipses Kipling. (From the Bookkeeper) It was my good fortune to be at Medicine Hat and to meet Rudyard Kipling on his recent triumphal journey over the Canadian Pacific, and at this time I became acquainted with a settler from the Battledore country.

This man was not interested enough in the great novelist's work, though he knew of his fame. Yet three years before, this settler had hitched up his yoke of oxen, and with his wife and three children had driven 22 miles to Battledore expressly to see the first stenographer that had ever come into that part of the country. This young girl, Mabel Hardman, was for a long time a greater celebrity in the little prairie settlement than Rudyard Kipling was in the cities. She was a tremendous advertisement, and her employer, a wide-awake real estate man, had her work near a large window, through which she was gazed upon as a most wonderful being from morning until night.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN GADSBY DISTRICT

And Gadsby is Happy, For its Baseball Team Walloped the Halkirk Bunch.

Gadsby, May 14.—The men of Gadsby have asserted themselves, that is to say, the ball players of our lively little burg have at last got their eye in and now it is a case of "let 'em all come." One week ago the Halkirk boys had the bulge on us, but to those who knew anything of the game there were reasons annexed. At the same time it was discouraging to the Halkirk bunch and they began to imagine a vain thing, and to walk round on their heels. On Saturday the Gadsby team went to Halkirk and on that dim and dusty diamond they showed the home men some things, and sprouted around the sacks 13 times for the 4 negotiated by Halkirk. For the biggest half of the game, honors were even, but the pace was too fast for the Halkirk boys, and Gadsby getting better all the time, it just became a question of how many runs. To say the home men were surprised is to put it mildly; they thought they could not lose, and quite a number of the villagers backed their opinion with the "long green," and it was carried away by the unforgiving Gadsbyites. Oh, they were the sore bunch. Never mind, Halkirk, try again.

Our friend Van Every is doing great work with his new well drill. It is a thoroughly up-to-date machine the Van and his helper, Tom Jackson, can about make it talk. Their luck is good, they are getting three wells average only seventy feet, and in every case the supply is abundant, and quality good. He sunk a town well for Halkirk at that depth. Tom has been on the sick list with some kind of international measles that brings a map all out in stars and stripes and other fearful and wonderful devices, but Tom always was a whole, long revivifier, and no common brand was the enough for him.

Besides holding the belt as our latest farmer (in crop area), Mr. G. E. Hoover is continually distinguishing himself with something new. This time it is not in the line of hogs, winged wheat or any of those ordinary lines, but is in pursuance of his avowed intention of seeing Gadsby grow. To Mr. and Mrs. Hoover a fine big son was born on Saturday night and now G. E. has trouble getting his hat on with a shoe horn. We don't wonder, and all join in congratulating our friends on their good fortune.

As loyal British subjects we all regret the loss of good King Edward, who is likely to go down in history as the Peacemaker. A kindly, affable gentleman, full of tact and good sound common sense, he always seemed to do the right thing just at the right moment, and we never had to blush for his blindness or feel ashamed of his public utterances, as the people of some other countries have had to do. On Friday we have a funeral service in Gadsby, conducted by Mr. Bourgoine, at 3 p.m., and it is expected that a large crowd will turn out to pay their last respects to our dead king.

J. D. Skimmer had a bunch of carpenters down on his homestead last week and a house and barn were completed in record time. J. D. sure is a rasher and by reason of work done on that place in the two weeks he has had it ought to get his payment before the month is out. Already he has five acres ready to crop, but just what the product is to be I do not know. History will be made on that farm or something will burst.

It is reported that the old Krugerville team of ball players are organizing again with the McCrackens as their head pushers. There is a lot of slush running loose around there and it is the man to get it rounded up. Good luck to you boys! The more the merrier.

HIGHER STANDARD FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

Important Subjects Brought Up For Discussion in the National Association of Manufacturers

New York, May 19.—John Kirby, Jr. of Dayton, Ohio, was re-elected president of the National Association of Manufacturers today, and after three days of business, the association finally adjourned. Tonight the annual banquet was held at the Waldorf Astoria. The association will meet in New York again next year.

A bit of equipment was infused into the closing hours of the convention with the adoption of the report of the committee on education. After dwelling on the necessity of adequate trade schools for boys, the report says of girls: "Since most women who engage in wage earning industries (as well as others) are at least potentially wives and mothers, training for housekeeping and home management is believed to be an essential part of all their education, whether it be industrial or general, and this is a part that has been woefully neglected in our school system. It is therefore our duty to make special effort to bring domestic education to the front and do everything possible to place it on a higher plane." "A high standard of skill and knowledge of housekeeping in all its branches and details is of such far-reaching effect upon the industrial future of any community that every effort should be made to shape public opinion toward a true appreciation of its importance and dignity. "Women and girls are employed in mechanical occupations connected with nearly every industry in the land and these occupations of women are not only affecting industry, but the standard of womanhood and the home. It is there of the utmost importance that young girls who must work in shops and factories for a while shall be trained for occupations which do not prevent development or incapacitate them for future mothers and homemakers."

BRINGING COWS FROM THE OLD LAND

People on C. P. R. Ready-Made Farms Are Making a Big Success of It.

Montreal, May 18.—"We will have one hundred similar farms ready in the West again next spring." In this instance it was A.S. Walter of the C.P.R. Land Department, characterizes his success of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's ready-made farm scheme. For Walter has just returned to Montreal from accompanying the second party of "ready-made" farm settlers from England. All the farms prepared for these highest type of immigrants have been taken up and the newcomers are said to be greatly delighted with the country and pleased with their lot.

Those of the first party have already accomplished a good deal of work supplementing the crops that had already been sown by the C.P.R. previous to the slightly of the settlers. They are very practical characters, showing that the officials had made no mistake in the selections they made from the numerous applications. They laid out gardens, planted potatoes, and sowed vegetables. Before their arrival the company had sown fifty out of the eighty acres of wheat, so all was relieved of much responsibility.
