Registry Office

We have had only two registrars in our registry office, the late Mr. Andrew Barberie and his son who succeeded him.
The first deed to be put on record was that of the old Chaudiere property on Oct. 10th 1835, at present belonging to Mr. John Barberie.

Hotels

The first two best hotels built here were owned by Mr. Delaney and Mr.
Phillips. Besides these there were some rural ones called taverns in those days. There are at present three hotels in the town, besides a large summer hotel called the Inch Arran, about a mile from the town, built in 1884, which after running for several years, closed down and was not opened until two years ago, 1907.

Steamship Communication, Public Wharf, Harbor Masters and Light Houses

Steamship communication outside places began with the "S. S. Ladybird" in 1819, running from Quebec to Dalhousie and Miramichi. The following two vessels, the "S. S. Miramichi" and "S. S. Gaspe" running the same route, and when the "Gaspe" was wrecked and the "Miramichi" ceased running, the "S. S. Beaver" took their place, running or two seasons. Then followed the "City of St. John" the "Resolute" the "Montreal" and the "City of St. John" running from Gaspe at first only to Dalhousie, then Campbellton. The "Admiral" was the first to run to Cam-pellton but only for a short time when it made its headquarters at Dalhousie.
The "Lady Ellen" and "Lady Scott" also had their headquarters at Cam-pellton.

The public wharf was built in 1860 by John Jardine, before that the passengers had to embark and disembark in boats. The wharf was greatly advanced in 1867 and 1868. The freight-shed was built on the wharf the first year in which the "Admiral" ran.

The harbor masters are as follows:
Wm. Jamieson, Andrew McIntyre, Wm. Cullen, Jas. Moffat and W. S.
Smith, the present one.

During the time of Hon. Peter Mitchell, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and one of the Fathers of Confederation, a system of light and more recently the channels have been well lighted by buoys.

Intercolonial Railway

The main line of the Intercolonial Railway was opened up in 1875, passing by Dalhousie. This was a big blow for the town and Campbellton became headquarters for a large number of business, which would have belonged to Dalhousie had the L. C. R. passed through here. But the injury was somewhat alleviated by the building of the branch train from Dalhousie Junction, which opened up in 1885.

Mean thing, exclaimed Mrs. New-this stuff. You said you'd be glad if I baked my own bread.

Yes, dear, replied the brute, but I didn't say you should bake mine.

NEARLY 20,000 SOLDIERS CALLED OUT FOR WAR IN SPECTACULAR WAY

British Army Corps Mobilized With Remarkable Quickness--Prove Readiness for Invasion--Fully Armed And Equipped.

AN OBJECT LESSON.

LONDON, July 7.—An army corps was called out for war recently.

Never before in the history of the British army has so unexpected, and yet so complete, a mobilization been carried out. Nearly twenty thousand men of all arms were lined up ready to march, and it was only by the absence of a call to the reservists that the feat differed from what the authorities hoped to effect in case of an actual or threatened invasion.

No warning of what was coming was given. At six o'clock in the morning Lieut.-Gen. Smith-Dorrien rode down to the headquarters office, and gave the order for every unit in his command to turn out as rapidly as possible, fully mobilized, and ready for active service.

The military telegraph linking up the barracks were soon busy with the orders, and mounted cavaliers carried the summons to those officers who live out of barracks.

Some of the battalions were already in the field, the cloisters, for instance, having left barracks at four o'clock for a long day's operations.
There were summoned back by mounted men and cyclist messengers, and within the hour every barracks was the centre of activity.

Wagons were dragged out and loaded with stores, water carts filled, ammunition drawn from the magazines and distributed, and field dressings and emergency ration issued to the men with their metal identity discs and lockers.

For some time past the chiefs of staff have been working at this perfected scheme to render it perfect for a sudden call, and the test that was being applied could only be equalled by the actual call of war. Indeed, among many of the troops the belief was accepted that an invasion was an accomplished fact.

The telegraph wires, had carried the news to those officers and men away on weekend leave, and the early trains to Aldershot were filled with anxious soldiers, who on reaching the stations raised up to their barracks, to appear in a short space of time fully equipped and armed for service.

Six hours was the time given for the units to get on parade, ready to move on, but so perfect was the machine that in the great majority of cases little more than half that time was needed to report all ready.

From the Army Service Corps barracks, parties of butchers and bakers, clerks, saddlers and artificers marched off to join the brigade and divisional headquarters, every man having his allotted place and his special duties.
No confusion marked the preparations, and long before the allotted time was up nearly 20,000 men, artillery, infantry and cavalry, with engineers and supply transport services, were marching out of barracks to go wherever needed.

The brigades and divisions assembled on Lifford's Plain, the Long Valley, Bordon and Blackdown, and were in turn inspected in a thorough manner by Lieut.-Gen. Smith-Dorrien, who seemed greatly pleased with the smartness in which the order was carried out, and the way in which the order was carried out, for age, water and even kindling wood for the fires were carried, so complete was the turn-out.

It is computed that the first battalion of infantry could have been got away in little more than one hour from the time of receiving the order and from that moment a constant stream of troops would have proceeded to their places for entraining.

Salmon have jumped into boats before the pool, but never have the occupants of the boats been quick enough to get to them before they were out again. Mr. Peavey is not the owner of a record of the pool, which will not be equalled for a time to come.

Among the lucky fishermen at the pool Saturday and Sunday were Fred R. Ayer and John Deane, the latter captured a salmon weighing 10 pounds.

Saturday and Sunday were big days at Green Lake, and there was hardly a boat out that did not bring back a good string of fish. John P. Webster, a member of the summer camp at the lake, and H. J. Coville, hold highest for the week end, having taken six salmon and two trout. Mark Craw got two nice ones, and many other boats on the lake got one and two each. Besides the salmon some good sized trout were captured.

TERRIFIC STRUGGLE WITH HUGE SALMON

Ten Pound Fish Jumps Into

FISH LANDED.

J. H. Peavey of St. John, one of the best known of the anglers who frequent the Bangor salmon pool, had an experience at the pool Saturday afternoon that were it not for the fact that Mr. Peavey has a reputation for veracity, and that his feat was witnessed by a number of the other fishermen there, might cause a suspicion of a fish story says the Bangor Commercial. A salmon, weighing about 10 pounds, jumped into his boat and Mr.
Peavey succeeded in capturing it.

Mr. Peavey was fishing from his boat and had but little luck when he felt a strike. The salmon did not take the fly securely and Mr. Peavey eased his boat down with the current to give the salmon a chance for another bite.
He was intent on watching his line when he felt a shock as though a log had struck the boat. He turned about quickly to see what was the trouble and saw flopping about in the bottom of his boat a good-sized salmon.

Mr. Peavey dropped everything and pounced on the fish. Then the battle began. The salmon was fresh and strong right from his native element.
Mr. Peavey is possessed of considerable strength, but with nothing at hand with which to kill the fish he had his hands full. He stuck to the fish and after two struggles succeeded in killing it. The fish weighed 10 pounds and was a beauty.

Amatite ROOFING

Most roofings are made of only one layer, but Amatite is made in five layers. The bottom layer is wool felt, the next is real Coal Tar Pitch, the third is wool felt, the fourth is pitch again, into which is embedded the fifth layer, namely, the mineral surface.

substance on earth), it would still have to penetrate a layer of felt and another layer of composition and another layer of felt before the roof would leak.

It is easy to see why Ama-tite lasts as long when you realize how it is made.

That mineral surface requires no painting or coating whatever, and will take the brunt of the weather without renewal or attention or care.

tite. It's free.
