

THE NIAGARA RESERVATION.

Steps are taken to Preserve the Falls and their Surroundings.

From the New York Sun.

Mrs. Dorothea, Robb, A. H. Green and President Anderson of Rochester University of the commissioners of the state reservation at Niagara met Saturday in New York. Maps of the property which it is proposed that New York state shall take were examined. On the eastern shore of Niagara it is proposed to take a narrow strip of 100 feet wide in some places, but broadening where the Cataract house and Prospect park are to be included. This strip of land contains thirty-seven acres and extends from Post Day, where the river falls, to beyond the brink of the American falls. Another map shows the lands to be taken on the western shore. These are the islands, the "Three Sisters" islands and others. At the islands it is proposed to take a strip of land which is about 100 feet wide. The islands are to be left as they are. The commissioners' legal advisers and surveyors will soon meet and the commissioners will draw up a resolution properly describing the tract.

"In three years after the improvements on Niagara river have been made," said Mr. Dorothea, "you will hardly know the place."

The "Royal New Brunswick Lottery."

The St. John, N. B., Globe directs attention to the continued existence of the "Royal New Brunswick Lottery," which appears to be in full blast at St. John, N. B., under the management of parties who sign "J. Goldsmith & Co., St. John, N. B., Canada," on the circulars distributed in the northern states and "W. D. Simpson & Co., St. John, N. B., Canada," on circulars distributed in the western states. The circulars promise cash prizes amounting to $125,000 at a single drawing. The Globe remarks:

These circulars are adorned with the British coat of arms, and in every way are got up to deceive the unwary and the mania to make money without working for it. That they deceive thousands is evident from the fact that the persons who, under various aliases are "conducting" the affair, are reported to be becoming rich. It is not necessary to warn persons here to take no "stock" in the concern, as the tickets are not floated at home. Set it is necessary that persons should be warned that there is no such thing as the "Royal New Brunswick Cash Distribution." The managers can honestly claim that the drawing is a "lottery" and never been doubted, because the drawings never take place. They are also safe in pledging that the names of the winners will never be made known without the parties' consent, for there are no winners to be made known. The truth of the matter is that there is no distribution of prizes. The "J. Goldsmith & Co." and "W. D. Simpson & Co." put into their pockets the dollars and half dollars and quarter dollars they receive from their numerous victims. They send out fresh circulars to catch more unsophisticated folks. This has been going on for years; how much longer will it be allowed to continue?

It Might Have Been the "Boston."

From the St. John Telegram.

John McArthur, formerly mate of the brig Peter and John, some 14 years ago now a respectable farmer in Antigonish, makes the following statement to the Antigonish Standard: "I was first mate of the brig Peter and John, belonging to Capt. Forrester, McLaughlin, master, from Wilmington, North Carolina, bound to Cork. One stormy night while we were in about 45 north latitude and 20 west longitude, the second mate, William Chambers, a dissipated man, had the middle watch. We were running under a lower mist to sail at the time. In the morning Chambers reported that a vessel about two points to the weather bow had been firing off great rockets. The captain was very much annoyed at this report, coming as it did six hours before the vessel in distress if a report had been given in time. The captain did not report, as he was afraid of being in trouble. On arriving in Boston we heard of the loss of the City of Boston, and it is supposed that she was lost about that time. It is possible that the vessel in distress was the City of Boston. It is now over 13 years since this event, and if any of the crew of the Peter and John are alive they can make the same statement."

Modjeska and Bernhard.

From the Pall Mall Gazette, Oct. 11.

Prince Bismarck has received the report of the German commission which went to Egypt to inquire into the outbreak of cholera there. Dr. Koch, the bacteriologist, who was the first to report on the outbreak of cholera, has sent home a comprehensive statement, according to which he has found that cholera is due to a thing called vibrios, resembling that which is seen in the learned professor and his researches in India, where the vibrios are the production of the bacillus, and its communication to other animals, and the diffusion of its forms are still more favorable than in Egypt. The chancellor has accepted this proposal.

A Sea Serpent Half a Mile in Length.

From the Liverpool Daily Post.

A man, m. m. v., apparently half a mile in length, has been seen going down the Bristol channel toward the Atlantic, at a rate of about twenty-five miles an hour. Accounts from various parts of the coast of Cornwall, corroborate the story. The monster's head was described as being like a grey rat, clearly seen, and it left a grey trail.

Alleged Memoirs of Heine.

From the London Daily News.

VIENNA, Oct. 17.—Many papers, both Austrian and foreign, announce that Heinrich Heine is now in a state of apoplexy in Paris. The brother of the distinguished poet, Baron Heine Gerdner, proprietor of Fremdenblatt, states that he has

THE ABSENT MIND.

From the New York Sun.

The Absent Minded gives the following account of the assault on its editor, Mr. Breitwieser, manager of the bank of Montreal, met Mr. Davis on the street and asked what he meant by writing a letter to Montreal, in which he asked whether or not it was true that he was the proprietor of the bank of Montreal. The reply was that it was quite right. Without anything to put Mr. Davis on his guard, Mr. Breitwieser asked him a question, and then, shouting again and again as Mr. Benson kept both apart—"You are Mr. Benson!" Other imprecations and threats followed, and at last another man got Mr. Breitwieser's arm and he was taken away.

Ontario Cuts for the Northwest.

From the Winnipeg Times.

The first consignment consisting of seventy-five cars arrived Saturday night and will be shipped west today. The shipper expects to get from $1 to $1.50 apiece, according to the age and appearance of the cars. In the present consignment there is a motley collection, including white, black and gray animals, which form an interesting group. They are shipped in an ordinary box, fitted up for their comfort and do not show any signs of their long and wearisome journey. On the contrary they are even in good health, judging from the discordant noises which they continually indulge in.

All Pay for It.

From the New York Sun.

A man leaped against the Astor house yesterday with a party of four friends, and casually shuffled four cards with paid backs. "Take one," said he at length, holding the cards invitingly toward his friends, with the face down. When each had selected one, they turned them over and read in succession this:

"Shall we take a drink?"

"Most certainly."

"Who will pay for it?"

"I will."

The latest thing in cards," said the man. It's not a bad idea either. More rounds, and then slipping pennies, and not any more expensive.

READABLE PARAGRAPHS.

A Common Annuance.

Many people suffer from distressing attacks of sick headache, nausea, and other bilious troubles, which might easily be relieved by the use of Little's Oriental Balm, N.Y., of this complaint and she praises it highly.

Tried in Toronto.

Mrs. Mary Thompson of Toronto reports the removal of eight feet of tape-worm from the bowels of her child, after the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This medicine is reliable for all kinds of worms that afflict children or adults.

It is told that a rattlesnake lay coiled, with head up and rattles sounding notes of anger, while a log washed across it. The snake finally struck at the log and fixed his fangs in her jaw. She raised her head and the snake was fastened to her. The snake was caught by the head in her mouth, but her fore feet on his tail and tripped the skin up. Renewing her foothold on his neck. The snake, who took another pull and tore the snake in two, and then complacently set in to eating it.

What It Has Done.

Mrs. George Simpson, Toronto, says: I have suffered severely with corns and was unable to get relief from treatment of any kind until I was recommended to try Hall's Corn Cure. After applying it for a few days I was enabled to remove the corns, and my feet are now as comfortable as ever. It is possible that the corns were the result of my shoes, but I can heartily recommend it to all suffering from corns.

A boy ploughing on a farm in Bradford,

Mass., saw an enormous black snake, dropped the reins and ran. The Elmira Advertiser says further that, according to several members of the family, he went back, when one of the horses was found lying on the ground with the snake tightly coiled about his neck. The snake was then killed, and it was found that the horse was dead, his life having been choked out by the snake.

White silk gauze with large velvet figures is the newest fabric for bride's dresses.

A Great Source of Evil.

Every farmer will admit that one of the most destructive evils to good crops is that of worms or parasites that prey upon vegetable life; other injurious insects, and the human system and the production of much suffering and ill health. Professor's Worm Expeller will rid the system of this trouble, are pleasant to take and contain their own cathartic.

I don't want the bite of a snake, but the whiskey which Henry S. Squire was dosed afterward that killed him. He lived near Denver, Col., and had been bitten on the hand by a rattlesnake. As fast as the swelling increased in his arm whiskey was forced down him, until he was in a stupor. At each return of consciousness he got more liquor, until the poison of the snake was eaten up by one of evil virulence, and the man died.

A HOME DRUGGIST.

TESTIMONIES.

Popularity at home is not always the best test of merit, but we point proudly to the fact that no other medicine has won for itself such universal approval in its own city, state, and country, and among all people, as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The following letter from one of our best-known Massachusetts druggists should be of interest to every sufferer:

RHEUMATISM.

"Eight years ago I was afflicted with Rheumatism, so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. Have since had numerous cases of Rheumatism, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. This timely notice of it has been the best medicine ever offered to the public."

River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

SALT RHEUM.

GEORGE A. BROWN, Druggist, writes: "I have been afflicted with Salt Rheum in its worst form. My skin was entirely covered more than half the surface of my body and limbs. I was entirely cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. See certificate in Ayer's Almanac for 1883."

Do Not Be Deceived.

A recently published highly-puffed remedy for Rheumatism has already been exposed as an unmitigated fraud. Not so with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is a true and reliable medicine that it cures all kinds of diseases.

Henry F. Garr, a farmer living near

Louisville, Ky., surprised a large moccasin in the woods, heard the warning signal from a rattlesnake. He did not think, but on taking a club at the other end, he soon despatched the reptile, which measured five feet and had seven rattles.
