

IT'S TIME THAT TELLS.

NEW-FORGED IRONS DON'T COUNT FOR MUCH AFTER ALL.

People are going ahead to rapidly in life that they are likely to ride rough shod over health—Risky words of advice to all—stick to what you know is legitimate.

One good way to test the merit of a preparation advertised to benefit health is to look carefully into its record. In times like the present, when there are so many worthless preparations in the market and so many new schemes for making money, you must do so wisely if you buy only a preparation which has stood the test of time.

Another important thing is to look out for secret compounds. It is unfortunate that the laws of nature make it impossible many times to trace the origin of many vegetable concoctions, for the medical world might be able to expose their worthlessness, but it is not so well for Scott's Emulsion, however, that the laws are as they are, for Scott's Emulsion can say that it is one of the few preparations whose ingredients cannot be concealed and whose formula is endorsed by the highest medical authorities.

In these days of worthless mixtures Scott's Emulsion stands out conspicuously. It has been used by the endorsement of physicians all around it, remarkable curative qualities in it and permanent cures have been effected. For twenty years Scott's Emulsion has been growing in public favor until it is now a popular remedy in almost every country of the world. Its growth has been somewhat remarkable, when viewed from the surface, and it is only natural, for Scott's Emulsion is the natural outcome of many human complaints.

Scott's Emulsion presents the life and wonderful nourishing properties of Cod-liver Oil within the reach of everybody. It is unnecessary to take plain Cod-liver Oil, as it is in a form that takes the stomach, and yet for a person who is wanting to go without Cod-liver Oil is to refuse the very thing which is the best adapted to wasting conditions.

Scott's Emulsion has over fifty years back of it, for all the plain oil taken for thirty years before Scott's Emulsion made its appearance. It is exactly like Scott's Emulsion before it could be assimilated. So Scott's Emulsion saves the digestive system the work of preparing the oil for assimilation and it also aids the digestion of other food. Loss of appetite, loss of flesh, loss of strength and general physical vigor, are speedily overcome by Scott's Emulsion. These ailments usually mark the decline of health. Unless a nourishment especially adapted to overcome this condition of wasting is taken, the patient goes from bad to worse, and Consumption, Scrofula, Anemia and other forms of disease strike root.

Scott's Emulsion is not an ordinary specific. Besides soothing and curative properties which attend the curing of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat and Inflammation of Throat and Lungs, it also contains the vital principle of brain matter. A little Scott's Emulsion given to babies or children goes more to the making of solid bones and healthy flesh than all of their ordinary food. Babies who do not thrive soon grow chubby, and bright on Scott's Emulsion and children who are thin and have the appearance of growing too fast do not seem as though they could grow fast enough.

To Consumptive Scott's Emulsion is life itself. There are thousands of cases on record where Scott's Emulsion has actually cured quite advanced stages of this dreadful disease.

Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Weak Lungs and all the phases of emaciation and decline of health, are cured by Scott's Emulsion. When all other methods of treatment fail. For sale by all druggists. Price 50 cents a bottle. Pamphlet free on application to Scott & Bowne, Belleville.

The Yankee and the Scotchman. In Edinburgh three students were sitting in a hotel discussing the beauties of Highland scenery, when an American from the State of Vermont took exception to them with the remark: "That for real scenery one has to go to America; that when Christopher Columbus discovered America he discovered the finest scenery in the world."

One of the students asked the Yankee if he did not admit that Great Britain, considering her area, wielded a great influence in the world.

"Yes, but for all that," replied the man from Vermont, "you have got to come to America. The country discovered by Christopher Columbus has become the most enterprising in the world."

At least, Great Britain's navy stands ahead of the world," replied the student.

"She does, eh? Look here, we could send over a Mississippi gunboat that could take the whole British navy in tow and run it into New York harbor—and it would never be noticed among our big boats."

An old Scotchman, who had been writing letters at a table near by, arose at this juncture, and as he licked the stamps, remarked: "My friend, I will say nothing about your scenery, but I ken naething about it; nor would I say anything about your enterprise, for I ken naething about that; but as for the Mississippi gunboat, I will say, just try that on, and in six months it'll take a com' sicut smarter man than Columbus to discover America."

Jackey Griffin. A small boy, with no particular education, who can increase his income by $12,000 in a single year may claim to be an exception to the general run of small boys. This is what Jackey Griffin has done this year, and apparently, he has not placed his services above their market value. He was something in the nature of a "find" last year, when Mr. Gideon engaged him at a salary of $4,000 for a year's riding. During the season Griffin proved that Mr. Gideon's judgment was correct, for he gained remarkable prominence among the jockeys. When it came time to talk about the season's work it was found that Griffin had been approached by a number of owners, and that Mr. Lockhart had offered him $15,000 to ride for his stable next year. He was re-engaged by Gideon & Daly for $12,000 for the coming season, an increase of exactly $12,000 over his salary for the past season. It is not to be understood that this figure represents the entire income of the jockey, for under the rules he is permitted to ride for other owners, when his services are not wanted by the man to whom he is under contract. The perquisites of a good jockey are more than the salary of a capable cashier or bookkeeper. Griffin, for instance, received $2,500 by way of a present, outside of his salary, for winning the Futurity. He is a sober, well-mannered lad, and still very young, but he takes a great pride in his family, and is educating his sisters and brothers out of his earnings.—New York Sun.

In a Corner. Clumber—What's the matter with Clerkley? He looks worried. Homer—He is. He's proposed to 10 girls so far this season and been accepted by them all. Clumber—That's nothing. Homer—Nothing, eh? Well, just got news that his rich uncle has died and left him a cool million.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN.

How They Would Run a City—Practical Ideas About Purifying the Government.

The Woman's Club of Denver is at present agitating the subject of municipal reform, with practical ideas of purifying the city government. At their last regular meeting, held under the auspices of the reform department, the city charter was analyzed, discussed and compared with those of other cities. Mrs. Routt, who made the first address, recommended the charter as an interesting book for the members to read to get an insight into municipal affairs. In answer to the fact that there is great expense connected with the present charter, she said the expensiveness is not a fault, and advised increasing it if necessary to induce honorable capable business men to accept office. She commended sharply on the bare majority of votes required by the charter to permit the introduction of saloons in the suburban districts, and suggested that the number of years as taxpayer be increased from one to five before a man can be elected as a member of the City Council, and that no person who is directly or indirectly interested in any contract with the city, or who is indebted to the state, city or county for taxes, or who has been convicted for corrupt practices, shall be eligible for office.

"The amusing feature of our charter," said Mrs. Routt, "is that all officers except the Park Commissioners receive handsome salaries, while he receives no salary whatever, though the charter expressly states that these Park Commissioners must be men who shall be known for their business ability, probity, and public spirit. Just why this distinction should be made and for the first and only time the charter should call for men of business ability is difficult to understand."

Mrs. Routt brought her remarks to a close by saying: "Ladies, the whole matter lies in a nutshell. Christian men and women, moral men and women, and all decent right-minded men and women must attend the primaries, nominate and elect candidates for their offices, not because of their patriotism, and good municipal government will be the result. If the human race is to endure and civilization is to advance, men and women must work together and mutually aid one another to gain those higher ideals."

Another woman who participated in the discussion approved of the plan requiring that two-thirds of the owners of real estate within the frontage of the block in which the business of liquor selling is to be carried on shall sign a petition for a saloon, before it can be granted, and she further said:

"Without undervaluing in the least the position of our Public School teachers, it seems to me that the officials who administer our city government hold places quite as important, and that we are therefore entitled to equal guarantees of their ability; hence I would propose an amendment to our city charter which would provide that all candidates for municipal offices should pass a rigid examination on all the articles contained in the said charter, and receive at least a third-grade certificate, before they be eligible to office, the possession and presentation of such certificate being necessary before any salary could be drawn."

Hereafter it is to be the duty of the women of Colorado to scrutinize closely the character of the candidate who presents himself for membership of the City Council.

METHODS OF EARNING A LIVING.

Entertainer of Young Persons—Shopping and Marketing For Society Women.

Women exhibit most admirable inventive powers when they are obliged to find a new way to earn a living and wish it to be one of refinement and pleasure as well as profit. The latest profession originated with a Miss Shippen of Philadelphia, who is an "entertainer of young persons and children" and a sort of conductor, as it were, of their parties. Her aim is to direct the amusements of the little ones according to their ages and tastes, and to instruct in the details of menu, decorations and games. She arrives at the house a few hours before the time to see that everything is in readiness, and when they are all assembled she entertains them, interests them in games, both old and new, some of which she has invented, and through these teaches them a bit of German and French. While they are enjoying a game to the fullest she sits down to the piano and plays a waltz, and they all begin to dance so they are sure not to tire of any one thing. The key to her method is to make each child as happy as possible.

Another unique method for women of refinement, good taste, and judgment to earn a livelihood is to do shopping and marketing for society women who have not time or inclination to do it themselves and do not wish to keep a competent housekeeper. One woman has made a fairly good income from this source, and in addition to the other things she sees the small children safely in school every morning and takes them home again, goes with them to the dressmaker's, shoemaker's, and milliner's, and in short superintends their entire wardrobe. After the marketing is done she returns again to the home to see that her order is properly filled. Three or four families can be served in this way by one woman, and when she goes home at night her time is her own.

Chicago's Pretty Women All Employed. The wonderful advantage of beauty of face and form in women is again exemplified by the experience of the manager of a publishing house in Chicago who advertised for a little beauty to work in a store window and display paper dress patterns. Eight women without a vestige of good looks or a trace of any thing might have lost through age of illness—except in their own estimation—appeared on the scene. They were too old or too young, or lacked the air of refinement and grace required to fill the window with charm and to the minds of the observers with desire for the patterns. So the homely ones had no chance. Not one pretty one has been found since, and the manager declares that all the pretty woman of Chicago who want employment are provided for. It is said that Chicago heads all other cities in the number of women employed in business.

Messrs. Stott & Jury, Chemists, Bow-trading writes: "We would direct attention to Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, which is giving perfect satisfaction to our numerous customers. All the preparations manufactured by this well-known house are among the most reliable in the market."

America Plating Stock Sold. The coal estate, stock and plant of the Americ Plating Company, amounting to $60,000, was put up for sale at Suckling's auction rooms yesterday. A reserve price of $17,000 was placed on the estate, but a bid of $16,000 by the Manhattan Silver Plating Company of New York was submitted and the property sold.

THE PAPER ON THE WALLS.

Clergymen and Others Testify As to Their Injurious Effect on Public Morals.

Public School Inspector Chapman thought the pictures were suggestive of lewdness. He would rather not see pictures of women in tight-fitting dresses in the streets.

Rev. Canon Cayley believed that the posters were disgusting and a frightful education for children. They were indecently suggestive, and tended to corrupt public morals.

Rev. J. M. Scott and Mrs. McDonnell also thought the pictures would have a demoralizing effect on the public. A similar charge against Joe Price, bill poster, was remanded for a week.

END OF A ROMANTIC STORY.

Married His Sweetheart at the Doors of the Penitentiary.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 9.—The end of a romantic story was the marriage in the jail of this county to-day of James N. Bray and Grace E. Price. Young E. Price is a prisoner charged with embezzlement. He is 24 years old and the son of an English army officer of high rank. About three years ago he left England and located in Canada. He had intended to become a shipman, but he fell in with evil companions and began to gamble. He was obliged to leave Canada, and Miss Hugo, who had fallen in love with him, accompanied him. They arrived in this city last summer and began living in an apartment house in a fashionable part of the city. Bray was smooth and polished, and among other things he secured, without money or price, a valuable piano. The collector called for the promised payment, but it was found that Bray sold the piano and disappeared with his supposed wife. Some weeks later he was captured in Houston, Texas, and brought to Cleveland, where he was indicted by the grand jury. His father was notified and sent $500 to settle the case, but it could not be settled. Meanwhile Miss Hugo was as devoted to the young man as ever, and succeeded in earning enough with her needle to bring her to Cleveland. When Bray learned that he must go to the penitentiary, he concluded, as far as possible, right the wrong he had done the girl and the marriage which was solemnized to-day, was arranged. The bride is a beautiful and accomplished girl.

Independent Order of Foresters. The European branch of the I.O.F. for September, during which month Dr. Orin Strickland, the Supreme Chief, was visiting the Old Land, show the largest number of applications that were ever received in any one month since the introduction of Forestry into Europe, thus demonstrating the great energy and zeal of the Supreme Chief. The Supreme Chief has been invited to deliver an address before the National Fraternal Congress, which is to be held in London on the 20th inst. The Supreme Secretary, Mr. John A. McGillivray, who for the past month has been attending the High Court of California and addressing public gatherings and meeting Courts in the principal centres of Forestry in the West, along the Coast and in Manitoba, is expected to return on Monday.

The Benefits of Protection. Baltimore, Md., Nov. 9.—Four hundred men employed at the Custom House were notified to-day that on next pay-day their wages would be increased 10 per cent. The proprietors of the new schedule has been struck owing to the Republican victory and the consequent prospective increase in the profits of the concern. A reduction had been made in the wages of the employees in November, 1893, immediately after the general election.

Weavers' Strike. Six or eight weavers employed in the Toronto Carpet Company's works went out on strike yesterday, owing to an alleged reduction in their wages. Their strike has been filled by men imported from Amsterdam, New York.

FOR YEARS A GREAT SUFFERER.

And Yet Two Bottles of South American Nervine Cured Him—This is the Simple Story of Frank A. Gadbais, Cornwall, Ont.

This Great Discovery is an Infallible Remedy for Indigestion, Nervousness and a Shattered Constitution From Whatever Cause—Thousands of Canadian Citizens Testify.

FRANK A. GADBAIS OF CORNWALL, ONT.

It was with little hope of securing relief that, after years of suffering from indigestion and nervousness, Mr. Frank A. Gadbais of Cornwall, Ont., was finally prevailed upon to give South American Nervine a trial. Hoping against hope as each new remedy had been given, a trial, Mr. Gadbais was prepared to say with Milton, "Thus repulsed, our final hope is flat despair." One may fool with hope for a time, but with the most persistent discouragement is almost sure to eventually settle upon the mind. A good friend, however, had confidence in South American Nervine. He had known its history in cases now less desperate than that of Mr. Gadbais, and it was this experience, doubtless, that finally induced Mr. Gadbais to make the trial. The record was completely changed. "I have owned Mrs.," "I can truly say Nervine is the very best medicine I have ever used; it cured me, and I strongly recommend it to anyone suffering from indigestion and nervousness." Yet,

When the scientific principle that stands at the back of Nervine is understood, there is nothing remarkable in the cure. The point of congratulation is that the discoverer of this medicine had the courage, fortitude and consideration for his fellow-men to place it within the power of each and all to secure its use. Disease will take hold of the human body and locate itself at particular centres. Sometimes it is the stomach, again the liver, another time the nervous system or the brain. In every case and with every form of disease, be it known as indigestion, loss of appetite, constipation, faintness, impoverished or impure blood, general debility, or broken constitution, the seat of the trouble is in the nerve centres, which are located at the base of the brain. Nervine does not give something that produces temporary relief at the seat of disease, but it immediately operates on the nerve centres, and a speedy, sure and certain cure is the result.
