vespoiled Greece; :hile the aggressions of Germany, Russia and France are very pronounced in China, which, if not checked, must result in the dethronement of her commercial supremacy. South and liast $\lambda$ frica, and the north-west borders of India are also sources of anxious concem. British statesmen, including the Prince of Wales, are very pronounced in their desires not only for arbitration, but for an alliance with the United States, which shall sitand as a bulwark against all retrogressive influences, and this amion of the Anglo-Saxon race is bound to come-it seems to me a manifest destiny; a leadership that is fit beanuse it embraces the bighest ideals to which humanity has yet attained. The linited States has a problem at her very doors, and I am free to say that the time is fully ripe to say to Spain: Release your blondy grasp from the throat of the gueen of the dinilles, and let her go free; and when that shall have been aceomplished, and the last vestige of Spanish domination swept from this hemisphere, Americans can then feel that their heroes of the ill-fated d/aine have not died in vain.

England alone of all the powers has erien us her unstinted sympathy in our present complications with Spain, and indications are strong, that a British flect would be at our disposal if Spain should succeed in forming an alliance against us. (Checrs from the Canadians.) While we feel fully competent to acquit ourselves with honor as regards Spain, we are not unmindful of the pose sibility of serious complications and hostile alliances against us, ind it is comforting to feel the British heart throb in unison with our own. I would disparage no nation, but I would invest with responsibility the two great English-speaking nations by a formal alliance, which I believe would hasten the time that humanity is praying for, when war shall be no more forever, and every man should sit under his own vine and fig tree, with none to molest or make him afraid.

John Bull and Brother Jonathan, may they ever stand shoulder to shoulder for international justice and righteousness, and for the promotion of life, liberty, and for the pursuit of happiness for all mankind. (Applausc.)

In the warm days that are now before us, when a rubber glove cannot be worn with comfort while engaged in prosthetic work, an anointment of honcy for the hands will subserve the same purpose. It holds the dirt in suspension and dissolves very quickly when immersed in water, leaving the hands soft and clean. Take clarified honey and rose water, of each one pint, listerine two ounces. Mix and bottle. For winter use, add two or threc ounces of slycerine - Dental Hems in the Midical brief.
