

the island of Cyprus. What is a vine? How does it cling to something? You can find vines easily now, and examine the tiny tendrils.

ART WORK. In Whitney's Handbook of Bible Geography is a picture of the temple on page 96. Show it to the children.

HAND WORK. The little children may draw a picture of a temple. They may talk of a harbor—what is it? They may make pictures of ships by folding paper, and connect this paper-folding exercise with the thought of Paul sailing away in a ship from the harbor at Ephesus.

The TRANSITION CLASS may recall the names of materials used in making the image and the temple; then write a list of these.

SCIENCE AT HOME WITH THE MOTHER.—Recall the connection between the last lesson on love and this lesson. Paul and those who loved God, and prayed to him and not to the image, had the love that "feareth all things." After they had talked with Paul they all kneeled down and prayed. Prayer in the family where all love each other is what will draw all closer together and be a help to each other in the work that is to be done inside the house and outside in the busy world also.
